TRINDLE DELAYING ON BONDS REPEAL

With City Attorney Trindle still "busy" with other matters and the legal limit of five days not expired, the proposed repeal of the legal limit on the $2,500,000 water bond issue to the people was yet in his hands late yesterday. Trindle was handed the petitions for repeal Wednesday by City Recorder Mark Poulsen and asked to prepare a bill.

Trindle is expected to finish the title some time today in order that Poulsen may file the petitions with County Clerk Boyer and ask him to put the repeal measure on the general election ballot. Boyer has indicated he will ask legal advice before acting. It is probable the matter will go before the attorney-general inasmuch as authorities are divided on whether the state law requirements of a 45-day time limit before filing a petition shall govern or whether the city ordinance 30-day limit shall prevail.

Despite current criticism of the colleges they are doing worthwhile work, he averred.

VALLEY HI-Y MEET IS SLATED SUNDAY

High school boys from all over the valley will convene at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday for the Willamette valley Hi-Y institute, starting at 9 a. m. and lasting until 5 in the afternoon. It is not necessary for representatives at the meeting to be members of the Hi Y. Program leaders here for the institute will be Henry Richter of Portland, Fred Crosby of Portland, Charles Crumley of Oregon State college and Matthew Thompson, Ashland Y. secretary.

The Hi-Y was originated as a moral uplift for the high school boy, and as an aid to his school work. Its purpose is four-fold—it stresses the four sides of a man's life—the social, intellectual, physical and devotional.

Salem high school started this branch of the Y. M. C. A. program about 14 years ago, being the first school in the northwest to organize such a group. It was continued up until last year, when mainly through lack of interest in the work, it was dropped. A move is being made to bring back the organization this year and Principal Fred Wolf of the high school; Bob Read, student body president, and C. A. Kells, Y. secretary, met Thursday to talk over plans. Its formation this year will depend entirely upon the interest shown by the boys.

The report showed that $122,377,641 was advanced to financial institutions, including insurance companies and railroads, in August for relief purposes, governors of states were authorized to borrow $13,931,669. The American cotton cooperative association was authorized to borrow $35,000,000 and the cotton stabilization corporation $15,000,000. # PARALYSIS VICTIMS SOUGHT FOR SERUM

Wanted persons who have suffered from infantile paralysis to give their blood for immunizing serum. Dr. Vernon A. Douglas, county health officer, yesterday issued this plea. As no animal serum for preventing this disease has yet been found, human serum is the only alternative.

This serum would be used chiefly to inoculate persons who became exposed to infantile paralysis. Its value is as a preventive rather than as a treatment after the disease is contracted. Dr. Douglas is desirous of obtaining a supply of the serum for emergencies.

Four cases of infantile paralysis have recently appeared, three near Silverton, in young children, and one between Salem and Silverton, in a 16-year old boy.

OREGON STATE IS FEARED BY TROY

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7.—(AP)—A general feeling that Oregon State's grid eleven enters the strong hopes of handing the University of Southern California football team its first defeat tomorrow swept into the Trojan stronghold as Coach Paul Schissler brought his 36 players here today.

The Beavers declined the privilege of a preliminary workout, but instead were entertained at a chank talk in the afternoon, and there was none of the talk of other years that Oregon State was primed for the Trojans. All hands admitted the outlook was bad for the Beavers. Schissler took his annual drabbing at golf from Coach Howard Jones, Southern California mentor and smiled, for he snared two birds while shooting a 93 against 85 for the head man.

There was no change in the hospital list at Troy, with Bob Erskine, Ernie Smith, Aaron Rosenberg, Dirk Barber, and Larry Stevens not expected to see action. Coach Schissler announced that Arnold Heikens, who was to have started at right end, did not make the trip south, being detained by his brother's death.
