"No Favor Sways Us; No Fear Shall Awe" From First Statesman, March 28, 1851 THE STATESMAN PUBLISHING CO. CHARLES A. SPRAGUE, SHELDON F. SACRETT, Publishers

CHARLES A. SPRAGUE - - - Editor-Manager SHELDON F. SACKETT - - - Managing Editor Member of the Associated Press stated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for publica-news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in

Pacific Coast Advertising Representatives: Arthur W. Stypes, Inc., Portland, Security Bldg. San Francisco, Sharon Bldg.; Los Angeles, W. Pac. Bldg.

Eastern Advertising Representatives: Ford-Parsons-Stecher, Inc., New York, 271 Madison Ave.; Chicago, 369 N. Michigan Ave.;

Entered at the Postoffice at Salem, Oregon, as Second-Class Matter. Published every morning except Monday. Business office, 215 S. Commercial Street.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:

Mail Subscription Rates, in Advance. Within Oregon: Dally and Sunday, 1 Mo. 50 cents; 3 Mo. $1.25; 6 Mo. $2.25; 1 year $4.00. Elsewhere 50 cents per Mo., or $5.00 for 1 year in advance. By City Carrier: 45 cents a month; $6.00 a year in advance. Per Copy 2 cents. On trains and News Stands 5 cents.

Trucks and Busses

DICTURES of a big oil truck astride a crushed auto bus project into public attention the problem of motor trucks and busses operating on the highways. They bring to the foreground also the Os West bill for regulation of motor trucks and busses. We need to break up the problem of these vehicles into its various parts. As we see it there are three important factors: 1st, the effect of these new machines on transportation; 2nd the effect of these large units upon highway costs; 3rd the effect on public safety and convenience in the use of highways.

Respecting the first factor, effect upon transportation. the plight of the railroads comes instantly to mind. Not all their troubles are due to motor truck competition, but they do have legitimate complaint against public subsidy of competing lanes both the highways and the waterways. The injury to railroads penetrates both to the financial structure of the country because the securities of the roads are widely held, and to the government which has used the railroads as the tax-gatherers as well as transportation agencies. The railroad taxes it should be remembered go into the general treasuries for general support of units of govern-

Another factor in the effect upon transportation by bus and truck is the opening up of back areas formerly not reached by railroads, and the possibility of "cutting across lots". for example traffic across the McKenzie highway between Eugene and Bend. This represents the real economic good which these new agencies have brought, and which must be preserved.

As to the second element in the equation, effect upon highway costs, the consequence of the operation of these large mobile units is now seen in the cost of remaking our highways. We are forced to widen roads, to strengthen paving, to widen and strengthen bridges. Our first roads must be virtually rebuilt; and one of the great reasons is the presence on the roads of these huge tracks and busses. Roads

The findings proclaimed the new with shoes on their feet and built for private motor car use would be far less expensive a laying hen in the face. Why? rate. than the ones now contemplated.

Now the third factor, the matter of public safety and convenience. When we get our new widened highways and get the curves straightened out or the banks obscuring vision cut away, then this will be of reduced importance. Truckmen on the whole are careful operators, they are instructed to give right-of-way to the speedier small car.

Summing up, there needs to be some limitation of field so the railroad will be preserved for its essential purposes in the longer haul transportation. We may have to take off | meaning his policy and that of his a large share of the load of taxation on the railroads. Shall it then go onto their competitors the trucks and busses which have absorbed so large a proportion of the traffic? We refer to the general tax going into general funds of taxing units for the support of schools, city, county and state gov-

Motor trucks and busses should pay a heavier portion highway costs for the reason that their demands make the present highways inadequate, and force the costly rebuilding.

It must be realized that the problem is intricate. Take the classifications of motor trucks alone. There is the small truck used by farmer or by store for delivery purposes. Trucks steadily grow in size to the large units hauling many tons, veritable freight cars rambling along the highways. The trucks are classified among privately owned units hauling freight for the owners exclusively; the motor carriers operating on fixed routes between fixed termini-with fixed schedules of rates; and contract haulers, the free lance trucks doing hauling either by the job or by the hour or day. The difficulty of legislating with fairness among these several groups is apparent.

The West bill represents the work of a single individual, no matter what support West may be obtaining from the railroads. It does not impress us as a product of thorough study of the complicated situation. It has numerous very good features. We are somewhat baffled as to whether to take this bill because it is the only one offered, or to reject it in hopes the legislature may do a better job.

The West bill would put all the revenues from commercial motor vehicles in the highway fund. As railroad taxes enormous stones were crowded recede taxing units are going to be hungry for replacement and naturally will look to the new bearers of traffic as carriers also of tax loads.

To do the necessary job of legislating properly it seems to us a thorough study should be made by a body similar to the Carkin tax commission of several years ago which laid the framework for our reorganized tax system. Such a group may well be named by Governor Meier, including representatives from the public utilities commission, the highway department, the motor transport division of the secretary of state's office and representatives from the railroads, the truck and bus lines, the users of transportation, and from the general public. If this group could formulate legislation and submit it to the legislature or to the people it would have better appeal than the West bill with its individual sponsor-

Tusko Now at Home

MAYOR DORE of Seattle appears as the new savior of Tusko, the elephant. Last Christmas day Mayor Baker of Portland telephoned that the Portland police Buck officiating. Miss Elma Sutwho stood with rifles aimed at the jungle beast, should not ter and Lee N. Childs of Salem ull the trigger. Now Tusko is domiciled in Seattle; his board were married at the First Congreill is overdue. The owner was going to march him to Kirkand for a public execution. But Mayor Dore intervened and sent Tusko to Woodland park where he will take his place in the zoo till his board bill is paid up.

Come to think of it Seattle is just the place for Tusko. Seattle now his mate in the elephant of a municipally own Seattle now his mate in the elephant of a municipally own Seattle now advanced to Hildebrand. d street railway system which doesn't pay for its board and keep. We are positive Seattle politicians will be able to figure out that by breeding Tusko to the street railway the product will be profits. They can work it this way, Woodland may be all right unless Tusko becomes a "forgotten man".

Buck Fever

Of course this was against the Roosevelt, who has been spouting ty" and "ghastly jest"—and more especially against the part of the law placing in the hands of the president the power to give the final decision upon recommendations of the bipartisan tariff commission. Had Roosevelt been in the White House, and been consistent, he would manifestly have

* * *

And he would have asked that congres change the provision, giving to that body the deciding voice, which would, of course, have been against the conclusions of the bipartisan commission, if the two houses of that body were democratic, and followed the announced ideas of Mr. Roosevelt, according to his fulmination on

To be entirely consistent, Roose reit would demand that the former rates, the ones before the "in-made law, be restored-that is, if nese cheap eggs, and absolutely wipe out any chance of profitable poultry breeding in the United States! Absolutely. That would,

the flexible clauses of that law, the egg producers of the United States

Not counting his own wages, nor interest on his investment, feed the year through, etc., etc.

New Views

question obtained yesterday by Hilds R. Morro, rural teache

"I believe the radio has influenced ne most. Either that or what I

Statesman reporters:

those figures.

now have chances for living prices.

verily, be a "ghastly jest."

the recommendation.

for lower tariffs."

refused to confirm and carry out against the Hawley-Smoot "iniqui-

BITS for BREAKFAST

Hen men, attention; 4 4 4

is there a farmer, suburbanite iff law, for better protection, and or city dweller who keeps poultry that body, after making the invesand sells eggs who intends to vote | tigation called for, recommended for Roosevelt?

profit to the producer. This is the first or almost the first of our industries on the land that has reached normal, or nearly normal.

Why, again? Because of the Hawley-Smoot tariff law—the law that Roosevelt denounces as "wicked and exorbitant," and says is "a ghastly gesture," and promises: "Our policy declares for lowered tariffs,"

The Hawley-Smoot tariff raised the rate on eggs from 3 cents to 10 cents a dozen and put a charge of 18 cents a pound on dried egg products. These rates were imposed with the aim of protecting American producers of eggs against the unfair competition of foreign poultry breeders; and more especially, in the case of the fried products, from the output of oriental countries, and, still more particularly, from that coming

Having found that the rate on the dried product was not sufficiently high for the purpose, American breeders appealed to the bipartisan tariff commission, un-

Yesterdays . Of Old Salem

Town Talks from The Statesman of Earlier Days

October 9, 1907 was going south through Cow And on this coast, and especially Creek canyon yesterday during in the Willamette valley, profitthe heavy rainstorm, the rumbling able prices. of the train caused a landslide and through the windows of the tourist, diner and standard sleeper cars. No one was hurt.

T. M. Jones, proprietor of the Farmers' feed barn, was the recip-Klondike dog sent here by his cousin, W. H. Jones, former Marion county resident, who has been living for seven years in the Coldfoot region, 1000 miles north of Nome, Alaska.

CHICAGO. - The Chicago Naionals defeated the Detroit Americans, 3 to 1, in the second game of the world series here yesterday.

October 9, 1922 Emergency landing fields for airplanes are to be established every 25 miles in Oregon and Washington, following the main rail-

The marriage of Miss Gladys Dimeler and Cyril Suing will be solemnized this morning at St. Joseph's church with Rev. J. R.

PORTLAND. - Work on the bave read."

itable line here, at present marder the provisions of the flexible clauses of the Hawley-Smoot tarket prices.

Our poultry breeders thus have a reasonable hope for decent livto President Hoover that the ing conditions. A man engaged in clothing for their bodies, and a of them-if Roosevelt stays out principles of recent mouthings of of the White House.

House? Is there one of them whe will thus cast his vote, in order that he may have the power, as his mouthings indicate he would exercise it, to utterly ruin his bus-

No matter what has been the politics of such a breeder-democrat, republican, socialist, communist, or any other name or color, from red to pink. Can he vote for Roosevelt and not be ashamed to look his laying hens in the face? Can he thus invite ruin and feel comfortable in the presence of wife and children?

of his case. Is it? If it is, he does the hustings: "Our policy declares not believe Roosevelt is telling what he believes, or promising power, will perform. If it is, he playing for the votes of the mor iquitous" Hawley-Smoot bill was The case of eggs is only one of he were president. This would many. The list runs through all open American markets to Chithe products of the industries on to carry out his campaign prothe land in the Salem district, present and possible. Wheat and other grains and seeds. Walnuts take away any chance of getting and filberts, all the fruits and all back to normal while he remained Under the Hawley-Smoot tariff the vegetables, and every form in power and his party principles of livestock. Roosevelt in the prevailed. law, including the provisions of Hven with normal costs of -poultry breeding will be a prof-

* * *

Is there one of them who will vote to put him into the White

Perhaps some Recevelt rooter vill say this is a strong statement what he and his party, if given must think Roosevelt is merely feed, which for the good of all our people ought to prevail, and will again prevail-if Roosevelt remains at Albany, as he should light-glinting-in-hair; each with its message: "To Jimmy from Clara Bow." "I send you my loff-Gar-bo." All were grouped under the general head: Over his textbooks, too neatly arranged in regular rows, was the

> READ 'EM AND SLEEP He had rugs; a radio; floor lamps whose fringes were festooned with dance programs that dated back through the years; easy chairsand a miscellaneous collection of burlesque show posters, auto license | defense. plates, traffic signs, etc. Over the door he hung a sign: YOUNG MEN'S STUDY

ASSOCIATION Mr. Edward Wynne, Esq., Pres. Mr. James Pidgin, Esq., Sec. We have no treasury—this means

Pidge proudly surveyed his art. it's hot. Now I've done my part trying two plays on offense, punted towards making this the best allround room on the campus; all you prevent the willowy Husker safety have to do is to make foot ball man from getting a chance to bring captain, all-American, senior class president and valedictory." "How about chairman of the Student Activity Committee?" "I'll take care of that. All right, sow where are your entrants for the Rouge Gallery?"

gram, would put our whole valley clear over the poverty line; would

Old Dominion college. He shows promise in football and Barney Mack, the coach, takes an interest is him. Tom Stone, star player and Ted's rival for Barb's affections, is antagonistic towards him. Ted, however, is admired by the other students. During vacation he toils in the mill to earn his tuition and prepare for the fall football season. Barb breaks an appointment with Ted and goes with Tom to a dance. Ted takes Rosalis Downs, whom Barb dislikes. Ted ignores Barb and plans to show Rarb he too can and plans to show Barb he, too, can and plans to show Barb he, too, can be independent, and at a week-end party ignores her. Late at night, the boys, at Tom's suggestion, rush into the girls' rooms and take them, pajama-clad, down to the water. Ted does not join in the fun, but when Tom comes along with Barb in his arms apparently enjoying it in his arms, apparently enjoying it and calling to Ted to save her, he takes her from Tom and drops her

"About time you gave the home town girl a tumble," she said.

Pidge."
"Hell—you ask for them; or steal. "The first thing we do is decorate," Pidge said when Ted had moved in. "And we got plenty of me a picture was Penseur."

A Football "HUD

Romance

SYNUPSIS

Barb Roth to marry a mill hand, a he leaves his position in the Bellport steel mill and works his way through in the water. Furious, she slaps him. Tom tries to start an argument, but

Ted calls him a snob and leaves, with Barb watching from a window

In the fall, New Dominion plays its first game against the Navy. Mack is pleased with Ted. Wealthy Jimmy Pidgin offers to share his room with Ted, he to pay expenses in re-turn for Ted's help in his studies.

CHAPTER XI

During his four years as fresh-the prevailing collegiate design.

On the right wall he hung a

ROUGE GALLERY

Below it he placed numerous photographs of girls: snapshots;

newspaper pictures; formal cabinets elaborately mounted-each with an inscription such as: "To Jeems from Resalind with her love."

On the opposite wall he placed his collection of Moviana-soulful eyes and smiles-showing-teeth and

MURDERER'S ROW

Young and ambitious Ted Wynne realizes he cannot ask the wealthy

"Which one is she?" man at Ohio State, Vanderbilt, Il-linois and New Dominion, Pidge had collected many pennants; these he strung around the top walls in from me. Want to see her?" Thinker from among his skates, bathing suit and sweaters.

"Pretty," Ted said. "Looks like Janet Gaynor.' "How she'd love that. Somebody told her that and that's why she wears her hair that way."

"Let's put her up."
"All right—only it's your suggestion. Here's Father—get the frown-that's the way old pap usually looks at me so he had the picture taken that way. Mother can smile, though-see?" The season zoomed along in typical New Dominion style. Georgia Tech, Pitt, Nebraska, Kentucky and Iowa were defeated in ordersome by fair margins, others after severe struggles; but Barney Mack always found a way to finish first.

Ted's team acquitted itself creditably, starting every contest except that with Nebraska. The Cornhuskers were powerful and undeleated when they came to New Dominion for the Homecoming Game and Barney took no chances. He started his regulars and kept them in, with a few exceptions, until the game was almost over. Then, to protect a three-point lead, he made a few substitutions to bolster his

Ted was one of these. Paden had played a magnificent game practically clinching an all-American selection; but he was tiring fast and Barney said to Ted:

"In there now, play it safe. Kick them back into coffin corner every time you get the ball and can't move with it."

Ted had developed into an accurate kicker. He relieved Paden for "A regular mardi gras. I claim the last eight minutes and, after for the corners or out of bounds to man from getting a chance to bring back a punt into scoring territory. Homecoming at New Dominion was a hectic time. Hotels were crowded and tickets for the modest seating capacity of the makeshift wooden stadium were always at a premium. Old grads who return-

"Nobody ever gave me a picture, | ed, usually anticipated victory and came fully prepared to celebrate. "The town is full of alumni," them. The only one who ever gave Barney told the squad after the game. "A little relaxation won't hurt you; go down and dance and "I haven't got her up; she's my forget football for the night; you've dister-The Thinker. Different done a great job so far-a great job; but we've got three tough ones He dug into the lowest drawer yet. Be careful tonight; these old of his trunk and rescued The grads will want to fill you with burn liquor and have you making speeches; lay off them." Ted had asked Rosalie to the game. At dinner she was flushed and happy.

"About time you gave the home town girl a tumble," she said. Long time no see, Mister." "I've been seeing America."

"Like it?" "Great." "Lots of pretty girls?" "None as pretty as you."

"Not even the wonder girl?" "Lay off. She likes you. "Oh, you've been discussing me?" "She said something nice about

"And you believed her?" "Why not?" "I don't."

"Why don't you like her?" "It would take too long to explain." "Let's talk about you. Have a time at the Lake: "Yep. He was a band leader." "So you go for those guys." "Yep."

"Probably plays a saxophone?" "Plays everything-but on a vio-

Ted was annoyed.

"Curly hair and soulful eyes and velvet jacket-"And a megaphone and the most beautiful hands I've ever seen on a man.

"And I suppose all the girls were mad about the sap." Storm signals flew in her eyes.

"Why not? You think a man can't be artistic and still be a man? He must play football and work in a steel mill and be rude, I suppose?" "He probably agrees with every-

"He gives a woman credit for being able to think and doesn't feel that he must treat her like a child to satisfy his damned conceit."

"Ouit swearing." "I'll swear. I'll smoke. I'll drink -and I do; what do you think of that, you damned prude?"

"Swing Around the Circle" Often Death Knell to Candidate's Hope

By D. H. Talmadge, Sage of Salem

Few who heard the Des Meines the poultry breeder of the Salem peech of Mr. Hoover, or who district can produce eggs right now at around 8 to 10 cents a have read it-although the printdozen. And the market prices for ed word is lacking in certain quali-him are now more than double ties which might have a definite influence on opinion, will doubt the sincerity of his desire to serve His present low prices of prothe best interests of the country. Nor will there be doubt of the duction are due to several things, among them the abnormally small quality of his patriotism. costs of feeds, and the always low

In another section of the counoverhead in this district, due to ry, at another time when disconthe fact that the breeder is favorent rolled over the land in waves, ed by climatic and other natural chanced to be associated to some conditions-with no intense heat extent with a patriarchal old genof summer or cold of winter, and tlemen. This association was large the possibility of growing green ly due to chance, because with the intolerance of youth I considered the old gentleman somewhat of a bore, and I sidestepped him when possible. But he was accredited wise in his generation, and I think with good reason, for I have in more than one instance seen the fulfillment of his prophecies. "What determines your views and decisions on the presidential race: Habit, newspapers, radio, discussion, speeches, or what? Following are the answers to this

"Providence does not always provide a man to meet a crisis," said he on one occasion, "although many instances are recorded in the history of the world when a man has appeared unexpectedly at a time of stress and discouragement and has averted calamity.
No, it is not always a man. Provifence works in many and mysteri-so, call it Providence or what you will. Mr. Cleveland in 1884, condence works in many and mysterious ways. It may be nothing more than what is called a 'awing around the circle' that accomplishes defeat for the party descried undesirable by the higher wisdom.

See that the same time Mr. Hoose wer's presidential qualities appeal to make speeches. The opposition said he was afraid. But it was not fear. It was comething else perhaps a light that made clear to more than half believed when he had a light that made clear to more than half believed when he I a number of words. Or it may be only the utterance in the better way. At any rate, he was elected president of the the presidency would prove a ben-been critically ill with typhoid fed, villified and hectored in every sipated by his utterances on his ver for sometime are slowly improved that his election to the presidency would prove a ben-been critically ill with typhoid fed, villified and hectored in every sipated by his utterances on his ver for sometime are slowly improved that his election to the presidency would prove a ben-been critically ill with typhoid fed, villified and hectored in every sipated by his utterances on his ver for sometime are slowly improved that his election to the presidency would prove a ben-been critically ill with typhoid fed.

White House, consistent and able most adroit political minds, and Nothing more than the old politiin 1888 was defeated by Benjamin | cal blah-blah. Promises, Glittering Tyler too" enthusiasm, resurrected paign of his grandfather in 1840.

> In 1892 Mr. Cleveland came back. Too honest to make promises which he knew were impossible of fulfillment, too earnest in his purpose to serve the best interests of the whole people, he vetoed bills that were sponsored by well qualified to judge between selfish interests. Then he put his head down and awaited the shock. It came-plenty. He was accused of wrecking his party. He was aca business depression that came along at that time. Most of the so-called jokes which have been perpetrated during the past two or three years with the purpose of discrediting the Hoover administration are the same in form and

Mr. Cleveland has, I think it will be generally conceded, one of the fairest pages in American history, which could not be even remotely possible had no more than a fraction of the charges made against him been true.

It is the way we play the game of politics, and it is not entirely fair. I joined the hue and cry Busicks and other talent cooperatagainst Cleveland. My little hue ing, the affair to be directed by and cry was of no moment, of course. I did not stop to think in culating that those who attend those days. But I have been this school will learn how to make ashamed of myself because of it pie crust that will melt in the in these afteryears, I am not what | mouth. Believe it? could be truly termed an enthusisatic admirer of President Hoover. He does not appeal to me as the Impressario Zollie Volchok, but he ideal leader for an intelligent nation of 120,000,000 people.

But at the same time Mr. Hoo- Grand have been refinished dur-

Harrison, who was carried into of- generalities without much glitter, fice on a wave of "Tippcance and An ingratiating smile that does not ingratiate. Flies for the trout for the occasion from the cam- vote, worms for the chubs. Rather a striking contrast, if you ask me, to the Honorable Theodore of the same name, who under similar conditions drove a definite nail with a definite hammer.

suit yourselves. You are quite as President Hoover and Mr. Roosevelt as I. Possibly you are better qualified. Also you are as well, or better, qualified than I to judge cused of everything, inclusive of of their political affiliations, compared each with the other. But, for the love of Pete-by the way, who is this Pete person whose name we use so freely when taking a gentle oath?-do not assert your superiority by refusing spirit as those of the Cleveland to vote at all. You may think it is your superiority you are asserting when you refuse to vote. But it is not superiority. It is something > Pardon a change of subject from one form of amusement to another. Notes pertaining to Sa> lem showhouses: Coming up at the Capitol-The Statesman cooking school, with the Portland Gas company, the Blizabeth Reger, A report is cir-

School duties have ganged up with the Mickey Mouse club on shows no indications of weaken-The lobby and foyer of the

ing the week. A real metropolitan effect has resulted. RECOVER FROM FEVER

PER SHEEDCOOK