TEHACHAPI MOUNTAINS SWEPT BY FLOOD

These pictures, taken from an airplane, show some of the widespread damage caused by a severe cloud-burst in the Tehachapi mountains of southern California. When the wall of water swept over Caliente, Mrs. Nell Cooper, Southern Pacific telegrapher, and her 2-year-old nicce were carried away. Tracks, railroad cars and buildings were demolished. The inset shows all that was left of Woodford, where a freight train was torn apart, a trestle washed away and the service station owned by Peter Kaad smaxhed to bits. Kaad, his wife and child were killed, and it was feared that 20 itinerants who were in the station making challer from the alorm also were saveled to their deaths.

SILVERTON, Oct. 12. - Mempers of the utility commission, the county court, a representative of the Southern Pacific company and George Hubbs, representing two road districts meet at the city hall Tuesday afternoon for a hearing. SILVERTON, Oct. 12. - The mith-Hughes stock judging team for the Pacific International Livestock Exposition has been selected from the Silverton group. Those announced for the team are Bernie Oas, Fred Schmidt, Carl Loron and Harlan Loe as an alternate. The boys and their in-structor will go up Friday and attend the state meeting of Future Farmers of America Friday night, the judging contest Saturday morning and the annual banquet Saturday night.

Besides the judging team four other boys will go Saturday. They are Harry Way, Tom Miller, Herbert Jones and Elmer Thompson. Still others may join the group Saturday morning.

Tuesday the rural engineering class of the Smith-Hughes department at Silverton motored out to the James Underwood farm in the Silverton Hills district and inspected the char pitting of stumps. This is Mr. Underwood's method of burning clearing stumps from land. He explained to the boys that, in his opinion, it has many advantages, perhaps chief among these that it saves the surface soil as dynamite does not.
