Under the Dome

LANE GOODHILL, Portland insurance expert, came to Salem on business yesterday and expected to call upon his friend General George A. White here today. Goodhill is a familiar figure here during legislative sessions and plans to be present considerable of the time during the 1933 session. Goodhill says Fred E. Kiddie, who is slated to be president of the senate, will make a good presiding officer.

Now we understand how young women gain weight. A dispatch from Illinois yesterday said the pretty young private secretary who has been asleep for 267 days has been awakened. It looks good. Probably the best method to reduce would be to lose sleep—and that sometimes seems so easy.

Today the university women have their inning. The ninth annual conference of the Oregon state division of the American Association of University Women will open its sessions here this afternoon. Many of the stationery employees who are college graduates plan to attend the big dinner to be held tonight. The session will last two days.

The house of representatives chamber today likewise will be busy. The annual session of high school principals will convene here to give those educators a chance to speak from the floor of the house or from the speaker's stand. Charles A. Howard, state superintendent of schools, who has been ill, has recovered sufficiently to preside at the meetings.

And speaking of educators we feel it imperative to comment upon the present situation in the state board of higher education. It appears at times that when criticism is directed at an organization and some changes seem essential, someone employed in an executive capacity, who in the final analysis is not responsible for the alleged mistakes, is sacrificed on the altar of politics.

We are referring in this instance to Dr. E. E. Lindsay, who information states, will be retired by July 1 or earlier. An attack upon the state board of higher education has resulted in seeking the scalp of the secretary, it looks like he must go, but in reality the fault or mistakes are not his.

Dr. Lindsay came here under adverse conditions more than two years ago. His position, as well as the news board, was on the spot. Was it anything but natural, then, that he should make more enemies than friends? His job was a hard one and he has done a good piece of work—his job was a precarious one and he has, in our opinion, carried himself well under these circumstances.

It is true that at first acquaintance many did not like him, including ourselves—but here is one case where a long acquaintance wears well. The more you know him the better you like him. It is indeed unfortunate that he must bear the brunt of the state board of higher education's blunders. We hate to see a fine man as Dr. Lindsay have to resign in order that politics may carry on.

WHEN A FELLER NEEDS A FRIEND

Roosevelt Has 3 to 2 Lead in Magazine Poll

Roosevelt is leading Hoover by slightly over 3 to 2, and in Oregon nearly 2 to 1, according to the fifth week's tabulation of the Literary Digest's national wide straw vote. With 2,817,188 ballots tabulated, Governor Roosevelt received 1,473,466 or 52.3 per cent and President Hoover 973,387 or 37.19 per cent.

Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey and Rhode Island were the only states in which Hoover was ahead on this poll, details of which will appear in tomorrow's issue of the magazine.

In Oregon, Hoover had 6,457 to Roosevelt's 12,000. Thomas collected 771 and other candidates a total of 403.

Scott Addresses Masonic Masters, Wardens Here

Leslie M. Scott, chairman of the state highway commission, addressed the Masters' and Wardens' association, sixth district Masonic lodge, in the Masonic temple here Wednesday night. He also is deputy grand master of the Grand Lodge of Oregon. The sixth district, comprising Marion and Polk counties, was represented by members from Woodburn, Gervais, Donald, Amity, Rickreall, Falls City, Independence, Silverton, Turner, and the two Salem lodges.

At this meeting Roy D. Bohannon of Pacific Lodge No. 50 was elected president; Leif Fieneth of Dallas, vice-president; and H. W. Swarford of Salem lodge No. 4, secretary-treasurer. The next meeting will be held on January 13.

State Senator Joe E. Damske was here yesterday and says he has enough votes pledged in the legislature to pass the $5 a year license fee for passenger automobiles. Joe says he has pledged 32 in the house and as many as 25 in the senate. If they are all elected, Joe is also going to fight the Wolf Creek route of the Portland-to-the-sea highway even if he has to go to court, so he says.

A record-breaking bill-introducing session is anticipated by this Multnomah county senator. He says he looks for as many as 1000 measures to be introduced. More than 40 on insurance phases alone have already come to his attention, he says.

Good, Don Wiggins, here it is time to quit this column and still we haven't had a chance to relieve your mind so to what that letter about you the other day contained. And we understand you are a little worried, too. Well, don't lose too much sleep, Don, as it may not be as bad as all that.

Mickey Mouse NOTES

How do! M. M. G. Roy Mack—that guy with the piano personality is sitting next to me and writing music, and I've been telling him something for the last hour while he was writing the music, and when I got through he wanted to know if I was talking to him—oh, call a doctor.

M. M. G. But just wait until you see Roy display his talent on another instrument he tackles—the skeleton. And another specialty on the personnel program this Saturday will be dear old Alva Raffety, and just wait until you hear him sing.

And then again will be the unknown rooster—pardon me a crowner—now I wonder who it'll be? What did you think of the musician last Saturday? I'm still looking for those eggs and things he made disappear. And—Alva Raffety—wotta hand you got. M. M. G.

And the birthday party will be one big event. M. M. G. Mr. Carey has a special show for the Mickey Mouse matinee tomorrow—and it's some show—guaranteed to make you laugh tears—Wheeler and Woolsey in "Cracked Nuts". M. M. G. Wilfred Hagedorn—the editor of the Junior Gazette is putting out a special Mickey Mouse edition tomorrow, and you will all be given one as you come in. M. M. G. Well, I'm at the bottom now, so until tomorrow, So Long
