

Albany High Defeats Salem 6-0, First Time in Years

GAME BITTERLY FOUGHT AFFAIR

Three Players Chased for Using Fists; Pass is Scoring Method

ALBANY, Ore., Oct. 21.—(Special)—For the first time since the war, Albany high school's football team defeated Salem high in a hard fought game in which the fighting was not all confined to the recognized gridiron variety, here this afternoon. The score was 6 to 0.

Albany high registered the only score when Moulie, veteran end, snatched a pass for a 15-yard gain and a touchdown late in the first period. Though unable to do any more tallying, Albany held the edge throughout the contest and with two minutes left to play in the final period, had the ball on Salem's one-field line.

However, at that point the Salem defense stiffened and pounded through to force Albany to fumble twice, Salem recovering on the second fumble to stop that threat. Salem did not penetrate Albany's territory to any great extent.

Leo Weisser, Salem captain, who played great football and was largely responsible for keeping the Albany score so low, was put off the field in the third period, together with the Albany captain, after they had engaged in a brief fist encounter. Weisser was considered to have had some justification, the argument having arisen because Albany players were continually knocking him down after he had punted, a violation which the officials ignored.

In the final period Engle, Salem end, was benched for a similar reason. In spite of the evident bitter feeling between the teams, injuries were few. Barnes, Albany quarterback, was an outstanding performer, especially in the kicking department.

The lineups:

Salem Albany
Doerflinger.....LE..... Kelblock
Frank.....LT..... Ehrlich
Cannon.....LG..... Budnich
Halvorsen.....C..... Anderson
Fisher.....RG..... White
Earle.....RE..... Van Nys
Engle.....RE..... Moulie
Weisser.....Q..... Barnes
Wintermute.....RH..... Bates
Knight.....RH..... Davis
Martin.....P..... Bayne

MONMOUTH, Oct. 21.—Coach Larry Wolfe is putting his squad through some final practice in preparation for their night game Saturday, at Portland, with Cheney Normal. They will dine early in Monmouth and leave at 4 p. m. Saturday on a special bus for Portland, where the game opens at 8 o'clock.

Serogins, fullback, who has incapacitated this week, is reported better and able to be out today. It is believed he will be in uniform Saturday night, and perhaps able to see some action.

Last Saturday the "Tricky Teachers" defeated Chico State college, 8 to 0, making the fourth straight victory for Oregon Normal over the California team. Chico is a four year school with a registration greater than U. of O. or Oregon State.

Chico is also champion of the Far West conference which includes such schools as the University of Nevada, California Aggie and San Jose State.

During the first half of the game the battle broke even, with the Normals taking the worst of the deal from Old Sol. As the thermometer registered about 90 the Oregon boys' speed was slowed. Starting the second half the Normals were standing the heat better and began some real fighting. They bucked the ball down into Chico territory and were held for downs. When Chico tried to punt out of danger, Gordon charged and blocked the punt for a safety, two points were chalked up for the Wolves. The fourth quarter showed the toughest fighting with consistent line bucking by Red Hiett to feature the closing canto. The fighting Normal eleven smashed the ball down to the Chico 20 yard line where Gordon, on a reversed end-around scored six more points for Monmouth, making it Oregon Normal 8, Chico 0.

Conversion failed and the game ended with the Teachers on Chico's six-inch line.

Hiett's playing was outstanding the backfield, while the whole Normal line showed the most fight it has displayed all season. Wolfe used 22 men during the game.

Lifesavers Give Black Cat Party

The Black Dragon lifesaving corps will hold a Halloween party at the Y. M. C. A. next Friday night to which all senior lifesavers in the city are invited. The program will begin with swimming in the Y tank between 6:30 and 7:30 o'clock, followed by the party proper in the den.

Corvallis Loses To Klamath Falls

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Klamath high school defeated Corvallis high school, 9 to 0, in their football game here today. Norman Taber, fullback, scored the first touchdown for Klamath Falls on a 55-yard run.

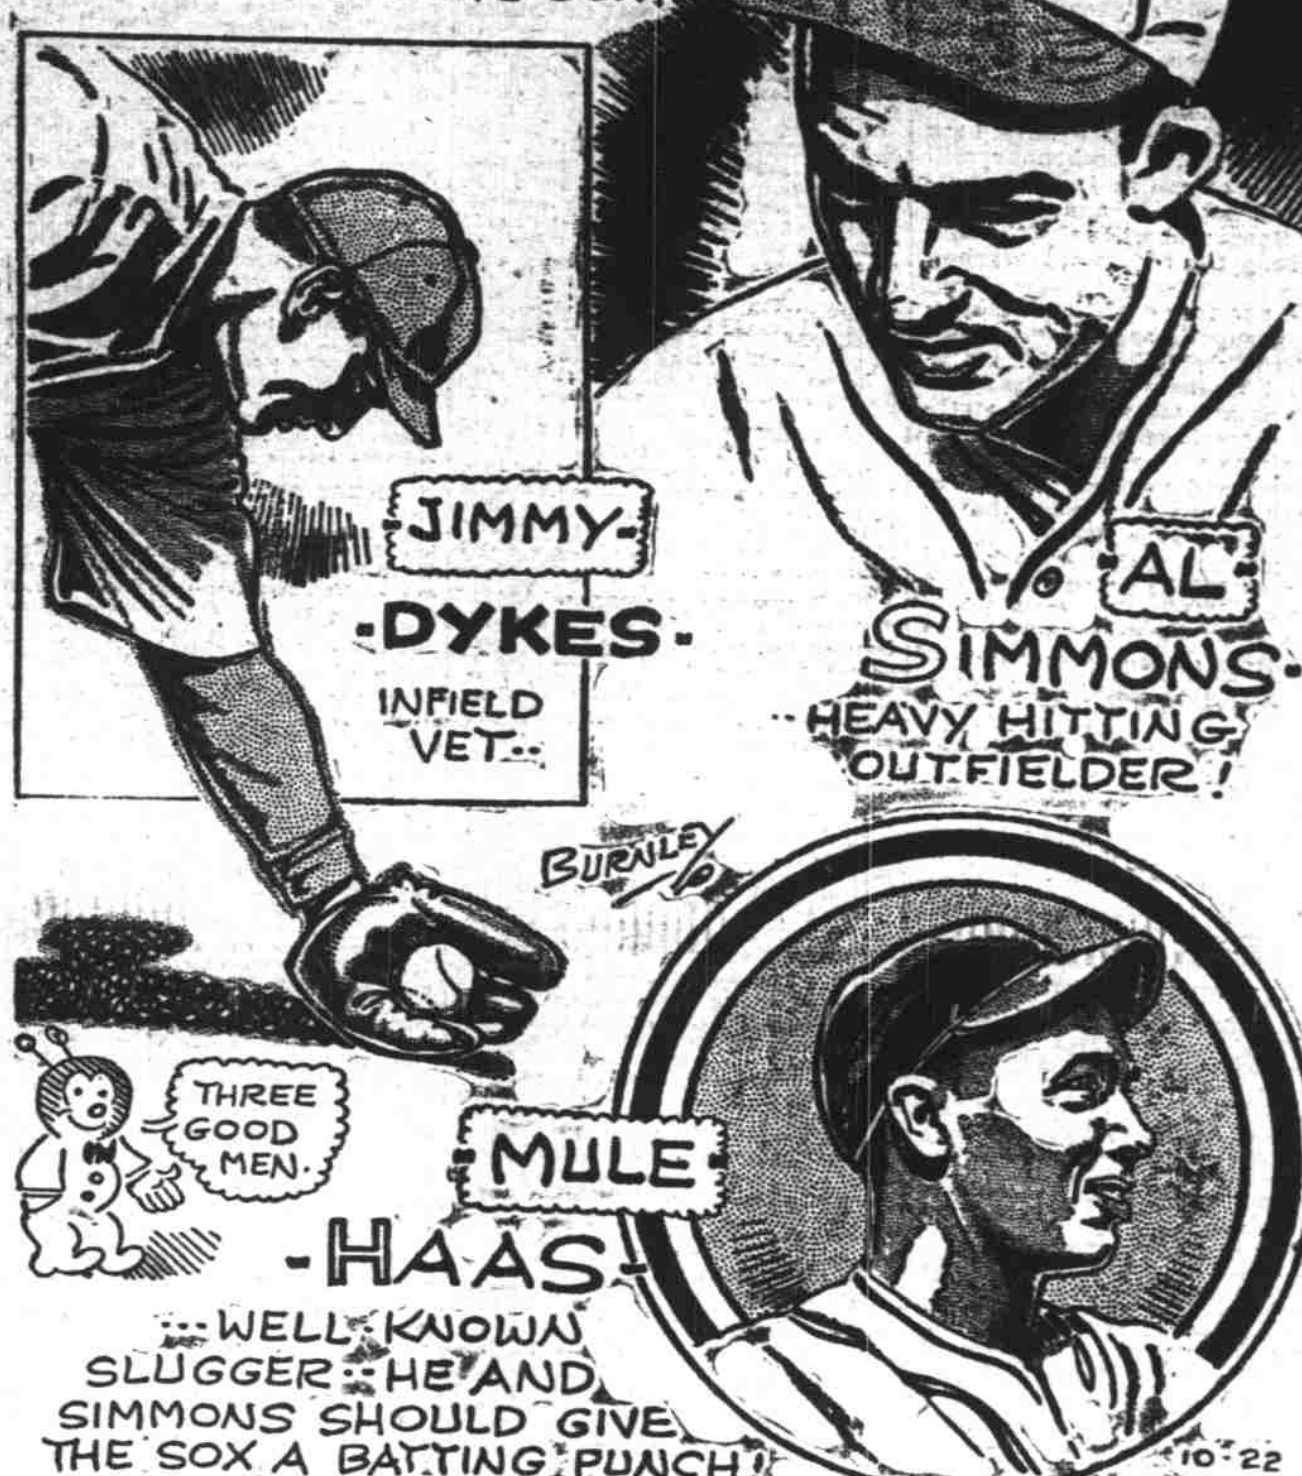

Ross Decisions 'Bat' Battalino

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Barney Ross, Chicago lightweight, contender, won a ten round decision over Bat Battalino, Hartford, Conn., in a 10 round featherweight championship in the Chicago stadium tonight.

Breakup of the A's?

By HARDIN BURNLEY

THREE FAMOUS STARS WHO WERE PURCHASED FROM THE ATHLETICS BY THE CHICAGO WHITE SOX!

THREE GOOD MEN
-HAAS!
-WELL KNOWN SLUGGER HE AND SIMMONS SHOULD GIVE THE SOX A BATTING PUNCH!

WHEN the baseball season opens next April for the season of 1933, followers of the national game will find it a little difficult, at first, to accustom themselves to seeing the names of Simmons, Haas and Dykes in the batting order of the Chicago White Sox.

Philadelphia fans had soured no little on Al Simmons, the Milwaukee Pole, who still has a year to go on a contract calling for $33,333 annually. Yet in letting him go Connie Mack said Simmons was and still is the greatest right-handed hitter in the game.

Mule Haas, the speedy center fielder included in the deal, has the distinction of being the first man ever to pinch-hit for Ty Cobb.

When the deal was announced dramatically on the second day of the world series, baseball writers everywhere were of the opinion that the disposal of three of the outstanding stars of his pennant winning team of 1929 and '31 presaged the breaking up of the championship roster. It was forecast that an early announcement would be made of the sale of Walberg, Cramer and Coleman had their baptism of fire in the 1932 season, both of them impressing by their fine fielding and powerful hitting before being forced out of competition for the year by injuries. Finney was since that time has been an outstanding star in the Coast League, with Portland.

Some sharpies say that with the Yankees admittedly invincible for 1933, Connie Mack has made a good move. Certainly he has strengthened the hapless White Sox, who may be able to build a contender around Simmons, Haas and Dykes and regain some of the lost prestige of the American League in the West. Simmons and Haas are both 29. Dykes is 34. Coleman, Cramer and Finney are all in their early twenties, and Higgins, who will replace Dykes at third for the A's, is a mere youngster.

Mack may figure that as long as he can strengthen second division clubs without weakening his own team he will be gaining an advantage over the all-powerful Yankees. Last season the Yanks took nearly all of their games with the White Sox. If the White Sox had split even with the Yanks, the latter team would have led the A's at the end of the season by no more than a game or two. Undoubtedly this was in Connie Mack's mind when he sold his three slug down the river.

1933, Connie Mack has made a good move. Certainly he has strengthened the hapless White Sox, who may be able to build a contender around Simmons, Haas and Dykes and regain some of the lost prestige of the American League in the West. Simmons and Haas are both 29. Dykes is 34. Coleman, Cramer and Finney are all in their early twenties, and Higgins, who will replace Dykes at third for the A's, is a mere youngster.

Mack may figure that as long as he can strengthen second division clubs without weakening his own team he will be gaining an advantage over the all-powerful Yankees. Last season the Yanks took nearly all of their games with the White Sox. If the White Sox had split even with the Yanks, the latter team would have led the A's at the end of the season by no more than a game or two. Undoubtedly this was in Connie Mack's mind when he sold his three slug down the river.

Some sharpies say that with the Yankees admittedly invincible for 1933, Connie Mack has made a good move. Certainly he has strengthened the hapless White Sox, who may be able to build a contender around Simmons, Haas and Dykes and regain some of the lost prestige of the American League in the West. Simmons and Haas are both 29. Dykes is 34. Coleman, Cramer and Finney are all in their early twenties, and Higgins, who will replace Dykes at third for the A's, is a mere youngster.

Mack may figure that as long as he can strengthen second division clubs without weakening his own team he will be gaining an advantage over the all-powerful Yankees. Last season the Yanks took nearly all of their games with the White Sox. If the White Sox had split even with the Yanks, the latter team would have led the A's at the end of the season by no more than a game or two. Undoubtedly this was in Connie Mack's mind when he sold his three slug down the river.

Some sharpies say that with the Yankees admittedly invincible for 1933, Connie Mack has made a good move. Certainly he has strengthened the hapless White Sox, who may be able to build a contender around Simmons, Haas and Dykes and regain some of the lost prestige of the American League in the West. Simmons and Haas are both 29. Dykes is 34. Coleman, Cramer and Finney are all in their early twenties, and Higgins, who will replace Dykes at third for the A's, is a mere youngster.

Mack may figure that as long as he can strengthen second division clubs without weakening his own team he will be gaining an advantage over the all-powerful Yankees. Last season the Yanks took nearly all of their games with the White Sox. If the White Sox had split even with the Yanks, the latter team would have led the A's at the end of the season by no more than a game or two. Undoubtedly this was in Connie Mack's mind when he sold his three slug down the river.

Some sharpies say that with the Yankees admittedly invincible for 1933, Connie Mack has made a good move. Certainly he has strengthened the hapless White Sox, who may be able to build a contender around Simmons, Haas and Dykes and regain some of the lost prestige of the American League in the West. Simmons and Haas are both 29. Dykes is 34. Coleman, Cramer and Finney are all in their early twenties, and Higgins, who will replace Dykes at third for the A's, is a mere youngster.

Mack may figure that as long as he can strengthen second division clubs without weakening his own team he will be gaining an advantage over the all-powerful Yankees. Last season the Yanks took nearly all of their games with the White Sox. If the White Sox had split even with the Yanks, the latter team would have led the A's at the end of the season by no more than a game or two. Undoubtedly this was in Connie Mack's mind when he sold his three slug down the river.

Some sharpies say that with the Yankees admittedly invincible for 1933, Connie Mack has made a good move. Certainly he has strengthened the hapless White Sox, who may be able to build a contender around Simmons, Haas and Dykes and regain some of the lost prestige of the American League in the West. Simmons and Haas are both 29. Dykes is 34. Coleman, Cramer and Finney are all in their early twenties, and Higgins, who will replace Dykes at third for the A's, is a mere youngster.

Mack may figure that as long as he can strengthen second division clubs without weakening his own team he will be gaining an advantage over the all-powerful Yankees. Last season the Yanks took nearly all of their games with the White Sox. If the White Sox had split even with the Yanks, the latter team would have led the A's at the end of the season by no more than a game or two. Undoubtedly this was in Connie Mack's mind when he sold his three slug down the river.

Some sharpies say that with the Yankees admittedly invincible for 1933, Connie Mack has made a good move. Certainly he has strengthened the hapless White Sox, who may be able to build a contender around Simmons, Haas and Dykes and regain some of the lost prestige of the American League in the West. Simmons and Haas are both 29. Dykes is 34. Coleman, Cramer and Finney are all in their early twenties, and Higgins, who will replace Dykes at third for the A's, is a mere youngster.

Mack may figure that as long as he can strengthen second division clubs without weakening his own team he will be gaining an advantage over the all-powerful Yankees. Last season the Yanks took nearly all of their games with the White Sox. If the White Sox had split even with the Yanks, the latter team would have led the A's at the end of the season by no more than a game or two. Undoubtedly this was in Connie Mack's mind when he sold his three slug down the river.

Some sharpies say that with the Yankees admittedly invincible for 1933, Connie Mack has made a good move. Certainly he has strengthened the hapless White Sox, who may be able to build a contender around Simmons, Haas and Dykes and regain some of the lost prestige of the American League in the West. Simmons and Haas are both 29. Dykes is 34. Coleman, Cramer and Finney are all in their early twenties, and Higgins, who will replace Dykes at third for the A's, is a mere youngster.

Mack may figure that as long as he can strengthen second division clubs without weakening his own team he will be gaining an advantage over the all-powerful Yankees. Last season the Yanks took nearly all of their games with the White Sox. If the White Sox had split even with the Yanks, the latter team would have led the A's at the end of the season by no more than a game or two. Undoubtedly this was in Connie Mack's mind when he sold his three slug down the river.

Some sharpies say that with the Yankees admittedly invincible for 1933, Connie Mack has made a good move. Certainly he has strengthened the hapless White Sox, who may be able to build a contender around Simmons, Haas and Dykes and regain some of the lost prestige of the American League in the West. Simmons and Haas are both 29. Dykes is 34. Coleman, Cramer and Finney are all in their early twenties, and Higgins, who will replace Dykes at third for the A's, is a mere youngster.

Mack may figure that as long as he can strengthen second division clubs without weakening his own team he will be gaining an advantage over the all-powerful Yankees. Last season the Yanks took nearly all of their games with the White Sox. If the White Sox had split even with the Yanks, the latter team would have led the A's at the end of the season by no more than a game or two. Undoubtedly this was in Connie Mack's mind when he sold his three slug down the river.

1933, Connie Mack has made a good move. Certainly he has strengthened the hapless White Sox, who may be able to build a contender around Simmons, Haas and Dykes and regain some of the lost prestige of the American League in the West. Simmons and Haas are both 29. Dykes is 34. Coleman, Cramer and Finney are all in their early twenties, and Higgins, who will replace Dykes at third for the A's, is a mere youngster.

Mack may figure that as long as he can strengthen second division clubs without weakening his own team he will be gaining an advantage over the all-powerful Yankees. Last season the Yanks took nearly all of their games with the White Sox. If the White Sox had split even with the Yanks, the latter team would have led the A's at the end of the season by no more than a game or two. Undoubtedly this was in Connie Mack's mind when he sold his three slug down the river.

Some sharpies say that with the Yankees admittedly invincible for 1933, Connie Mack has made a good move. Certainly he has strengthened the hapless White Sox, who may be able to build a contender around Simmons, Haas and Dykes and regain some of the lost prestige of the American League in the West. Simmons and Haas are both 29. Dykes is 34. Coleman, Cramer and Finney are all in their early twenties, and Higgins, who will replace Dykes at third for the A's, is a mere youngster.

Mack may figure that as long as he can strengthen second division clubs without weakening his own team he will be gaining an advantage over the all-powerful Yankees. Last season the Yanks took nearly all of their games with the White Sox. If the White Sox had split even with the Yanks, the latter team would have led the A's at the end of the season by no more than a game or two. Undoubtedly this was in Connie Mack's mind when he sold his three slug down the river.

Some sharpies say that with the Yankees admittedly invincible for 1933, Connie Mack has made a good move. Certainly he has strengthened the hapless White Sox, who may be able to build a contender around Simmons, Haas and Dykes and regain some of the lost prestige of the American League in the West. Simmons and Haas are both 29. Dykes is 34. Coleman, Cramer and Finney are all in their early twenties, and Higgins, who will replace Dykes at third for the A's, is a mere youngster.

Mack may figure that as long as he can strengthen second division clubs without weakening his own team he will be gaining an advantage over the all-powerful Yankees. Last season the Yanks took nearly all of their games with the White Sox. If the White Sox had split even with the Yanks, the latter team would have led the A's at the end of the season by no more than a game or two. Undoubtedly this was in Connie Mack's mind when he sold his three slug down the river.

Some sharpies say that with the Yankees admittedly invincible for 1933, Connie Mack has made a good move. Certainly he has strengthened the hapless White Sox, who may be able to build a contender around Simmons, Haas and Dykes and regain some of the lost prestige of the American League in the West. Simmons and Haas are both 29. Dykes is 34. Coleman, Cramer and Finney are all in their early twenties, and Higgins, who will replace Dykes at third for the A's, is a mere youngster.

Mack may figure that as long as he can strengthen second division clubs without weakening his own team he will be gaining an advantage over the all-powerful Yankees. Last season the Yanks took nearly all of their games with the White Sox. If the White Sox had split even with the Yanks, the latter team would have led the A's at the end of the season by no more than a game or two. Undoubtedly this was in Connie Mack's mind when he sold his three slug down the river.

Some sharpies say that with the Yankees admittedly invincible for 1933, Connie Mack has made a good move. Certainly he has strengthened the hapless White Sox, who may be able to build a contender around Simmons, Haas and Dykes and regain some of the lost prestige of the American League in the West. Simmons and Haas are both 29. Dykes is 34. Coleman, Cramer and Finney are all in their early twenties, and Higgins, who will replace Dykes at third for the A's, is a mere youngster.

Mack may figure that as long as he can strengthen second division clubs without weakening his own team he will be gaining an advantage over the all-powerful Yankees. Last season the Yanks took nearly all of their games with the White Sox. If the White Sox had split even with the Yanks, the latter team would have led the A's at the end of the season by no more than a game or two. Undoubtedly this was in Connie Mack's mind when he sold his three slug down the river.

Some sharpies say that with the Yankees admittedly invincible for 1933, Connie Mack has made a good move. Certainly he has strengthened the hapless White Sox, who may be able to build a contender around Simmons, Haas and Dykes and regain some of the lost prestige of the American League in the West. Simmons and Haas are both 29. Dykes is 34. Coleman, Cramer and Finney are all in their early twenties, and Higgins, who will replace Dykes at third for the A's, is a mere youngster.

Mack may figure that as long as he can strengthen second division clubs without weakening his own team he will be gaining an advantage over the all-powerful Yankees. Last season the Yanks took nearly all of their games with the White Sox. If the White Sox had split even with the Yanks, the latter team would have led the A's at the end of the season by no more than a game or two. Undoubtedly this was in Connie Mack's mind when he sold his three slug down the river.

Some sharpies say that with the Yankees admittedly invincible for 1933, Connie Mack has made a good move. Certainly he has strengthened the hapless White Sox, who may be able to build a contender around Simmons, Haas and Dykes and regain some of the lost prestige of the American League in the West. Simmons and Haas are both 29. Dykes is 34. Coleman, Cramer and Finney are all in their early twenties, and Higgins, who will replace Dykes at third for the A's, is a mere youngster.

Mack may figure that as long as he can strengthen second division clubs without weakening his own team he will be gaining an advantage over the all-powerful Yankees. Last season the Yanks took nearly all of their games with the White Sox. If the White Sox had split even with the Yanks, the latter team would have led the A's at the end of the season by no more than a game or two. Undoubtedly this was in Connie Mack's mind when he sold his three slug down the river.

Some sharpies say that with the Yankees admittedly invincible for 1933, Connie Mack has made a good move. Certainly he has strengthened the hapless White Sox, who may be able to build a contender around Simmons, Haas and Dykes and regain some of the lost prestige of the American League in the West. Simmons and Haas are both 29. Dykes is 34. Coleman, Cramer and Finney are all in their early twenties, and Higgins, who will replace Dykes at third for the A's, is a mere youngster.

Mack may figure that as long as he can strengthen second division clubs without weakening his own team he will be gaining an advantage over the all-powerful Yankees. Last season the Yanks took nearly all of their games with the White Sox. If the White Sox had split even with the Yanks, the latter team would have led the A's at the end of the season by no more than a game or two. Undoubtedly this was in Connie Mack's mind when he sold his three slug down the river.

GRIDIRON FANS EYE CORVALLIS

Cougars Slightly Favored; Oregon-Idaho Game is Attracting Crowds

CORVALLIS, Ore., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Faced with the prospect of a fast, dry field, the orange and blue of Oregon State and the Cougars of Washington State were resting today in anticipation of their Pacific Coast conference football clash here tomorrow afternoon.

The Cougars arrived this afternoon, and took a light workout on Bell field, directed by Coach Babe Hollingberry. The Grange-men, on order of Coach Paul J. Schliesler, did not work out.

Although Washington State is ruled a slight favorite by reason of its 7-3 victory over California last Saturday, Coach Hollingberry said here today:

"I would prefer to meet California twice to meet Oregon State. Oregon State has always given us the toughest battle of the year. However, we are ready for them."

Coach Schliesler replied: "We all set, I'm expecting a real tough game. I hope we have a dry field."

Both teams, as they will lineup to start tomorrow's game, will approach the giant class, but Oregon State will have a weight advantage of about two pounds to the man. Each line will average 190 pounds, but Oregon State's backfield will average 182 to 174 for Washington State.

Starting lineup for Oregon State is expected to include: K. Davis and E. Davis, ends; Miller and Hammel, tackles; Stanfield and Tuttle, guards; Curtin, center; Pangle and Mos, half backs; Blanche, quarter back; Joslin, full back.

Callison Tells Lineup MOSCOW, Idaho, Oct. 21.—(AP)—The University of Oregon football team worked off travel stiffness here today in preparation for their conference game with the University of Idaho Vandals tomorrow afternoon.

Arriving at 10 a. m., Coach Frank Callison gave his squad an hour's rest before lunch and moved it to MacLean field for practice this afternoon. Much of the work was intended to brush up on a defense for the aerial attack the Idahoans reputedly will use tomorrow.

Coach Callison said he would start the following team: Bernie Hughes, center; Gardner Frye, Howard Clark, guards; Irwin Nilsson, Alex Eagle, tackles; Orville Bailey, Charles Wishard, ends; Bill Bowerman, quarterback; Mark Temple, Leighton Bobbitt, fullbacks.

Records of old grads and visitors poured into Moscow tonight for pre-honoring festivities, which included at least two dances, fraternity smokers and other entertainment for the men, and "firesides" for the women visitors. Every group house was an annual for the display contest.

The advance ticket sale for the football game indicates, said George Horton, graduate manager, that one of the largest crowds in the history of the school will visit the campus tomorrow.

Fitzpatrick to Retire After 42 Years Coaching

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Keene Fitzpatrick, for 42 years an athletic coach and trainer at Yale, Michigan and Princeton and one of the pioneers of intercollegiate sport, has resigned as Princeton track coach and football trainer, effective after the current football season, the Princeton board of athletic control announced tonight.

A desire to retire to a "less strenuous mode of life" was expressed by Fitzpatrick. He will be 63 year old Christmas day. Fitzpatrick will continue to live at Princeton.

His successor has not been named.

Toledo Defeated By Independence

INDEPENDENCE, Oct. 21.—Independence high school's green football team came into its own here today and defeated a heavily Toledo eleven 13 to 0.

The game was hard fought and Independence didn't score until the third period. The boys crossed Toledo's goal line a second time in the final period.

McClain Will Build Burkhardt Residence

JEFFERSON, Oct. 21.—W. S. McClain of Jefferson has received a contract for the construction of a six-room modern type English house for John T. Burkhardt, five miles east of Albany. He has the basement dug and has started the form. He will employ five workmen. T. O. Kester is making some improvements on his farm two miles northwest of Jefferson by putting a basement under his house.

VON PORAT WINNER

BERLIN, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Otto Von Porat, Norwegian heavyweight, knocked out Hans Mueller of Germany in the sixth round here tonight.

Parrish Loses to Scio by 14-0 Score but Rallies to Threaten Goal Near End

Before a hard charging, heavier eleven from Scio high school, the Parrish junior high football team went down to defeat 14 to 0 Friday afternoon, but went down fighting hard, the game ending with the ball in Parrish's possession on the Scio one-yard line with three chances remaining to put it over, had there been time.

Nervousness and lack of confidence at the opening of the game, however, was largely responsible for Parrish's defeat. The boys were not on their toes and Scio, upon first receiving the ball, marched without a halt for its first touchdown. A 20-yard run by L. Miller put Scio in scoring territory and Quarry ducked along the sideline for 12 yards to reach the two-yard line from which Donovan punched the line to reach the goal. Krosman kicked goal.

From that point on until the opening of the fourth period, Parrish managed to hold the visitors on more or less even terms, making little yardage except on some punt returns by Salstrom, but preventing Scio from stalling any more sustained marches. Hill was an important cog in the Parrish defense.

Shortly after the final period opened, Scio advanced into Parrish territory and L. Miller skirting the end for a 15-yard run to the two-yard line, on a maddening reverse that had the Parrish team all running the wrong way. Quarry went over for the touchdown and Krosman, again booted the goal.

Parrish opened up with a series of successful passes and a few neat runs with three minutes left to play, and continued its advance until it reached the nine-yard line with about 10 seconds left. On the final play the junior high came within a yard of scoring.

The lineups:

Scio Parrish
K. Miller.....LE..... Matteson
Yunker.....LT..... Williams
Davenport.....LG..... Hill
Krosman.....C..... Willig
Frelag.....RG..... Nelson
Burton.....RE..... Porter
Quarry.....RE..... Perkins
L. Miller.....Q..... Salstrom
L. Miller.....RH..... Hughes
Simmons.....RH..... Hoffert
Donovan.....P..... Damon
Referee, Robbins; umpire, Drynan; head lineasm, Adams.

GOVERNOR PARDONS TWO MORE INMATES

Governor Meier yesterday issued a full pardon to William Lawler, who was received at the state penitentiary here January 31, 1932, to serve a term of 12 years for assault while armed with a dangerous weapon. Lawler was sentenced in Multnomah county.

Records show that Lawler was granted a conditional pardon by ex-Governor Pierce on March 5, 1935. Governor Meier set out in Lawler for assault while armed with a dangerous weapon, the terms of his conditional pardon, and had remained a law-abiding citizen.

A conditional pardon was granted to F. J. Mcweeney, serving a five year term for attempted larceny in Lane county. He was received at the penitentiary June 12, 1931. Mcweeney is suffering from a chronic ailment and will be returned to relatives in Minneapolis.

Young Cooks Form Club; Carnival is Slated for Nov. 4

JEFFERSON, October 20.—Mrs. Fulkerson, county school superintendent, visited the Jefferson grade school Monday, October 17. The seventh and eighth grade girls have organized a cooking club. Mrs. Young, eighth grade teacher is the leader. The club members are: Helen Roberts, Pauline Seipp, Bubbles Hart, June Harris, Sheila and Shirley Roland, Eleanor O'Krasinski, Ruth Shoberg, Violet Chas, Maxine Shaeffer, Kathryn Foster, Minerva Jones and Geraldine Davis.

A special meeting of the student body was held in the high school assembly where carnival plans were made. It was decided to hold the carnival at the school-house, November 4, with a basketball game and a school dance in the gym later in the evening. Each class is to have its own booth. A vaudeville program is also to be given.

1200 Bushels of Grain Burned in Ettner Barn Fire

JEFFERSON, Oct. 21.—Thursday about 7 p. m. William Ettner's barn three miles north of Jefferson burned to the ground. The fire started from a gasoline lantern hung up inside of the barn near some celluloid rings, and it is thought the rings exploded from the heat of the lantern.

There were 1200 bushels of grain burned, besides lots of hay, and farm implements stored in the barn.

There was some insurance on the building, but none on the contents.

FROM LOS ANGELES

JEFFERSON, Oct. 20.—Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Winchel of Los Angeles were guests this week of Rev. and Mrs. P. A. Ginn. They were parishioners of Rev. Ginn when he was pastor at Flathead, Mont., a number of years ago.

55 EX-SERVICE MEN HONORED BY TOWN

Fitting Ceremonies Held to Dedicate Memorial Placed At Sublimity

SUBLIMITY, Oct. 21.—Bearing the names of 55 Sublimity ex-service men, a gun, mounted on a large cube of concrete, was dedicated to the residents of Sublimity by the American Legion Tuesday afternoon. Several hundred persons gathered at the park for the ceremony.

Through the courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Goode of Stayton, small shrubs, each bearing a tag with the name of the ex-service man to whom it was dedicated, were planted around and near the memorial.

Through the efforts of Rev. Frank Scherbing the gun was obtained with the assistance of U. S. Senator C. L. McNary, of Salem, and was given by the ex-service men to the people of Sublimity and its vicinity.

Speakers of the afternoon were Judge John L. Rand of the state supreme court and Jack Eakin of Dallas, state commander of the American Legion; George Duncan of Stayton, past district commander of the American Legion, presided as chairman. Greetings were given by Mayor John Zuber of Sublimity, with remarks by F. Raucher, Rev. Fr. Scherbing and M. Benedict. Music was provided by a chorus from St. Boniface school.

The committee in charge of the event was composed of Tom Tite, Frank Raucher, E. A. Ditter, Herman Hossler, N. J. Lulay, Al Hassler, Mike Benedict and Joe Lulay. A barbecue lunch was served at noon and in the evening, which concluded with a dance in the auditorium, and the appearance of the national legion drum corps from Capitol Post No. 9, Salem.

TOO MUCH HELP IS GIVEN TO FARMER

Says Max Gehlhar in Giving New Slants on Rural Predicaments

MONITOR, Oct. 21.—"The best way the government can help the farmer is to let the farmer help himself," Max Gehlhar, state director of agriculture, told the Monitor grange in a recent speech. He declared the farmer had not done everything possible to help himself before he called for help, which is one reason for the present farm situation.

"The American farmer is already the most economical farmer in the world," Gehlhar said in contradiction to the cry that decreased cost of production must be made by the farmer.

Slapping at the federal department of agriculture, Gehlhar said this department has preached the doctrine of greater and greater production, and all the while consumption demands were growing less. A change in the food diet of the nation from meat to cereal and vegetables now permits feeding the nation on 32 million less acres than in 1900, for the same acre that kept