CHAMPIONS ARE OUT TO REPEAT

U. S. C. Wins 13 to 0 When Surprising Air Attack Baffles Stanford

By R. J. NEWLAND
STANFORD STADIUM, Palo Alto, Cal., Oct. 22.—(AP)—To all the football world today was flung a stirring challenge by the Trojans of Southern California as the nation's mythical champions of 1931 met a mastered Stanford's Indians, 13-0 to pass the first mighty test in defense of their title.

While 65,000 rosters thrilled to the first big gridiron spectacle of the far west season, Coach Howard Jones' Trojans and the masters of aerial offense at their own game; out-tricked them when deception was needed and generally outplayed one of the greatest Stanford teams assembled by the old dean of football, Glenn W. Warner, in many years.

From deep in their own territory, the Indians kicked after an ineffectual drive at the line in the second period. Orly Hobbie, Trojan quarterback, tucked the ball to his midsection and headed down the field. He was stopped after an 18 yard gain.

The Trojans tried their third pass of the game. McNeish, substitute left half, faded far back in a deceptive spread by the backfield while Ford Palmer, end, dashed over the goal line. McNeish whipped the ball into the Palmer's hands while three Stanford men looked on, apparently not befuddled to close in on the Trojan receiver. The try for point failed.

Pass Leads to Second Trojan Touchdown
Midway of the third period, taking possession of the ball in mid-field, the defending champions pushed over the last line in four plays. It happened thus: Gets falled to gain on a punch at the line. Clark, starting left half, dropped back and shot a 35 yard pass to Palmer, who raced six yards more before he was downed.

The ball was on the 9-yard mark. Mohler streaked through center for four yards, and Griffiths, starting quarterback who had been switched to right half, took the ball in direction on the last play for the touchdown. This time, Ernie Smith's place kick sailed through the bars for the extra point.

Stanford had an edge in the matter of yards gained from scrimmage, with 170 yards to 127 for Southern California. But the Trojans snatched 99 yards from the air compared to 13 yards from passes by the Indians.

NOTRE DAME STILL SANS COMPETITION
SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 22.—(AP)—Notre Dame's football army is still looking for opposition. The once mighty Scots from Carnegie Tech valiantly attempted to stem the tide of the point-a-minute scoring Ramblers before 30,000 spectators today but fell under another avalanche of touchdowns, 42 to 0. It was the worst defeat they had received in 10 years of warfare with Notre Dame.

Except for the first minute of play when Harry McCurdy recovered Mike Koken's fumble on Notre Dame's 11 yard line, the Scots didn't have a chance. They were able to gain but two yards on that break, plunging through the second team to the nine yard stripe, after that, the game was all one sided with the Ramblers running and pass attack functioning smoothly.

Whitman Humbles Pacific 14-0 Though Greatly Outyardaged

NEW MATMAN

Take a look at Floyd Wolfgang, 125-pound scrappy who comes here Tuesday to take a fling at Spike Ashby, who demonstrated his toughness last week when he defeated "Cannibal" Tony Cordona. Fans here thought Cordona was the last word in off-color wrestling but Ashby showed him a trick or two. Ashby and Wolfgang will appear on the card with Curly Woods and Bobby Novak, welterweights.

HOOK SCISSORS KING MATCHED

Bobby Novak of Cleveland To Meet Curly Woods on Armpry mat Tuesday

Known as the "hook scissors king," Bobby Novak of Cleveland, veteran welterweight wrestler, will make his debut in Salem at the armory Tuesday night, opposing Curly Woods of Centralia who has appeared here several times but was unable to fill his last engagement against Castro because of an injury.

Novak is said to be entitled to the aforementioned title because he features the "figure four" hook scissors which, it is further claimed, no wrestler has ever succeeded in breaking.

This newcomer is no novice at the game, having started as an amateur grappler with the Cherry Circle Athletic club in Chicago. He turned professional while a naval enlistment during the war, after some conquests in service competition. He won the Atlantic coast lightweight title from Frankie Miller in Boston in 1918.

Following completion of his navy service in 1920, Novak has been wrestling constantly in the east, middle west and south and has defeated such men as Cyclone Mackey and Jack Gorman, Missouri Valley Welter Champion.

In June of this year Novak won the Missouri valley welterweight championship and still holds this title. His present ambition is a bout with Henry Jones for the world welter title Jones has in his clutches.

Novak has met Jones once, giving him a hard battle. Woods also has grappled with the headliners at that weight and the winner of Tuesday night's match is difficult to pick. The boxing and wrestling commission here announces this as the first of a series of elimination matches to pick a champion for Jones.

In the preliminary, "Spicks" Ashby of Flint, Michigan, who bested Tony "Cannibal" Cordona here last week, will take on another stranger, Floyd Wolfgang, of unknown pedigree but with a name suggestive of the rugged regions of northern Europe.

Matchmaker Harry Plant has been making it a practice to pack considerable dynamite into the opening match of the evening, and thinks he has the combination again.

Army Revenged Upon Yale for Three Defeats
NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 23.—(AP)—A couple of savage, long-legged buccoes, Felix "Pick" Vidal and Jack Buckler, turned one of the most brilliant of all the east's annual football pageants into a two-man rodeo today as a crushing Army eleven finally caught up with Yale and battered the Bulldogs all over the bowl for a 26 to 0 victory.

Bearcat-Logger Clash in Spotlight For This Week; Title in Sight For C. P. S.

History repeated itself in Saturday's Oregon State-Washington game yesterday, with Schiesler's men spending most of the afternoon tramping the territory right in front of the Cougars' goal line but getting across only once and winding up with exactly the same score as last year.

However, we are informed by Clayton V. Bernhard who reported the game for the Associated Press, that the Staters tried everything imaginable in their quest of those few needed yards. So far once we'll just have to put it down that Washington State had the better team. Oregon State did get a number of breaks, including that which led to the one successful scoring drive.

Guess Southern California is off to the races again. The Trojans didn't look so hot for a while, but they're not likely to face anything much tougher than Pop Warner's crew. We were sort of hoping Pop would cop this year.

College of Puget Sound sends its greatest football team in history here next Saturday. We have a feeling that you'll hear quite a great deal about this Logger team and its impending clash with the Bearcats, for a committee is at work with the intention of letting the world know about it. However, the committee's work won't be difficult for this game has more potentialities than any played in Salem since Whitman's visit here two years ago.

Puget Sound has a line as big as Washington's and a whole flock of raring, tearing bearcats. But we'll go into that matter further as the week progresses.

In fact it's going to be a big week in a football way, for Astoria high comes here to play St. James in that encounter, also. It will be the big game of the year for the red and black.

In the Albany college game Friday night, Willamette gained a total of 600 yards, as nearly as our records reveal. We sort of stamped on the job after the last touchdowns. From scrimmage 400 yards were gained to Albany's 28, and running back kickoffs and punts gave the Bearcats 191 yards more to Albany's 22.

Willamette made 15 first downs to Albany's 11 which included one due to penalties. But Willamette fumbled nine times—and it seemed more than that—and lost the ball five of those times. Albany fumbled twice and lost the ball both times.

The comedy feature of the game was the tragedy feature to Hauswirth, Albany tackle. He lost his bridgework in the mud and the game was delayed a few minutes while the boys hunted for it. Then the spot was marked, and a strike and further search was made, that night and Saturday, but we haven't heard of recovery of the teeth.

The best remark we've heard recently was that of a very young lad who had just met a prominent local baseball manager and football official, and later said she had been introduced to Frank Bashful.

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 22.—(AP)—Outlasted for three periods, Northwestern, rallying furiously in the closing three minutes of the game, swept down the field in a 45 yard march for a touchdown that held Purdue to a 7 to 7 tie today.

HUSKIES LOSE BY ONE POINT

Extra Point on Pass After Williams' Sprint Ends North's Title Hope

By FRANK G. GORRIE
WASHINGTON STADIUM, Seattle, Oct. 22.—(AP)—The battered Bears of California snatched the Pacific coast conference championship hopes of the University of Washington football team in the slippy sod in this stadium today when they scored a sparkling 7 to 6 victory, winning by the margin of the extra point after a touchdown.

The victory was the first of the season for the southerners, and it virtually eliminated all northern division teams from consideration for the title as Washington was the only undefeated eleven in this section before the battle.

It was an inspired Bear led by a demon halfback in the person of Arleigh Williams, which turned defeat into victory in the 19th traditional contest between the two elevens.

From Washington's 47-yard line late in the second period Williams took the ball for a line smash. His linemen opened a big hole at right tackle and he shot through into the waiting arms of all the Husky backfield men. He pushed one aside, wiggled out of the clutches of two others and headed for Art Ahonen, the Washington safety man. His interference took care of Ahonen and Williams romped on to the winning touchdown.

The extra point was important after the Huskies had failed at their opportunity and Williams dropped back, indicating a drop-kick. He took the ball from center and completely surprised the Washington gridirers with a forward pass into the corner to Gus Castro, scintillating quarterback, who stepped over the goal stripe for the single point that proved to be the margin of victory.

Washington's lone tally came on the wings of a forward pass late in the first period which was good for 47 yards. Ahonen, triple-threat sophomore, whipped the ball to Bill Smith. Bill hauled down the pigskin behind the California backfield, juggled the ball for an instant, and dashed away unmolested across the Bear goal.

By the time the score, California held a statistical edge in only the kicking department. Washington put together 178 yards gained from scrimmage with 73 from three completed passes for a total of 249 yards, while the visitors gained 139 on the ground and 50 in the air for a 189-yard total.

Pacific made twice as many first downs as Whitman, taking ten to its opponents' five, but was unable to score.

Webfeet Get 32-0 Victory Over Vandals

Mark Temple, flashy Oregon halfback, led the Webfoot onslaught, scoring three of the five touchdowns, and gathering the two points earned in completed tries for punts after touchdowns.

He darted through the Idaho line on the second play of the game, and shook off tacklers for 65 yards to make his first score.

A few minutes later, after an exchange of punts, he scored again. Healed, sublimely buried, halfback punted poorly to his 25 yard line. Temple took the ball through the line for 20 yards, Bobbitt advanced it three yards more, and Temple took it across.

Temple scored on the fourth play of the second period, breaking through the Idaho line and dashing 12 yards. Near the end of the period Popenjak, right halfback, found a hole off Idaho's right tackle, and splashed 41 yards for a touchdown.

Oregon's last score came in the third period. Popenjak buried a long pass to Pozzo, substituting for Morse at end, and Pozzo ran 17 yards to score.

A report submitted by Ward Hammerley of Tillamook on "secondary inter-school relations," debate, declamation, music, drama and typing, also was adopted by the conference.

The recommendations of this committee were: That there be meetings of the students of the different schools in such activities as expositions, play days, recitals, and programs of music and drama.

That intramural activities are desirable and should be encouraged. That the above activities should be financed by the school districts and the entertainment made free to the public.

COUGARS BEAT OREGON STATE

Beavers Push Their way to Scoring Region Often, Get Across Once

yards for the lone Beaver tally on the last try. But the scoring stopped at 7 to 6.

George Sander, playing his last year for the Cougars, started the first period play after drive. On the first play after several exchanges of punts, he slipped and dodged around the right end for 39 yards. It looked as if he were the clear for a touchdown, but he stumbled after he slipped off another Beaver tackler and fell on the Beaver 22-yard line.

But the drive continued. After several attempts to push through the line, Ollie Arbidie called for a pass, Sander backed up and the quarter received the only toss hurled by Sander during the entire game to place the ball on the 3-yard stripe. After two line plunges failed to gain much ground, Stanley Colburn went in for the touchdown. Shubanks converted, the ball sailing beautifully between the bars as a heavy rain added to the dampened spirits of the defenders.

Franklin Banning Turan Battle Tide
Norman Franklin, Oregon State sophomore, turned the checking play to an offensive to back the Cougars up to their own goal line with several long runs. So decisive was this drive that the Cougars never threatened again until the final few seconds of the game.

After Franklin got the ball down to the Cougar 12-yard line late in the second period, Washington State was penalized five more to place the ball within seven yards of the goal. The Beavers did manage to get down four yards closer, but from this point they were taken for losses until the gun ended the period.

In the third quarter Franklin was injured and Tommy Ward carried on the work. With the aid of Harold Joslin the ball was taken to the yard marker. It was here the Cougars held the second time as the drive fell short by one foot. Sander however got off a bad punt and the Beavers were knocking again at the line from the 23-yard line tape. But the defensive strength repeated itself.

The Beavers were not to be downed. They opened up on passes again in the final seven minutes of play, but this time several passes from Kottlitz to Moe and Blancane put the ball down to the ten-yard line.

Three times the Cougars held back on the last down Blancane broke loose and went around the left end to fall just over the goal. Rarely have two teams battled so evenly as shown by statistics. Both made 135 yards gross from scrimmage, but the Cougars lost more, so net was 107 to 117. The visitors were forced to punt more times but Sander's long spirals averaged 32 yards despite two partially blocked. The Beavers also averaged 32 yards. Both made 4 first downs, W. S. C. four from scrimmage, one from pass. Beavers 3 and 1. Visitors tried and completed just one for 13 yards. The Beavers heard eight, completed 2 for 40 yards.
