

Astoria Eleven to Battle Salem High on Grid Tonight

FISHERMEN ARE CONGEDGED EDGE

But They Hand it Back to Red and Black; Both Will Fight Hard

Fresh from a newly-imposed task of pushing a big, heavy bucking machine around the gridiron, the speedy Astoria high school football team will invade Salem today, intent on determining tonight at 7:30 o'clock on Sweetland field, whether the Salem high line is any harder to move than that inanimate playing placed in their path by Coach "Honest John" Warren.

There are several men on each team who participated in that goose-egg battle at Astoria a year ago and all of them are determined to change the result this time. On paper, Astoria has something of an edge, particularly in view of the crippled status of the red and black backfield.

The most recent casualty to Coach Hollis Huntington's squad was a hip injury suffered by Ike Wintermute, who had just graduated to the first string last week. Wauseka Hauser is still greatly hampered by the knee injury he suffered in the Bend game, and so the call for the left halfback position may fall to Mason, who played at Leslie last year.

With Johnny Perrine out of the lineup through lack of action on the squad, Salem's backfield will pack still less experience into this game than before. Lee Welser and Knight remain of the backfield which played in the early games. The fourth man who will start is Engle, previously an end. Engle has shown considerable promise for backfield assignments in practice this week.

Each team, scanning the practice from afar, is considering itself the under dog for this game and therefore each will carry a lot of stored-up fight onto the field.

Silverton Team Expects Rough Contest Today

SILVERTON, Oct. 27 — Silverton High school will meet one of its hardest opponents of the season in Chemawa Friday at Eureka field at Silverton. It is expected that a big crowd will be out to witness the game. Coach Harold Davis reports that the probable lineup for the opening Friday will consist of Pettyjohn, le; Scott, lt; Ray, lg; E. Johnson, c; Egan, rg; Himmel, rt; Thornley, re; Rudishauser, f; Hoyt, lb; Willis, rh; A. Johnson, q.

Farm and Six Town Lots are Sold by Bell at Stayton

STAYTON, Oct. 27.—George H. Bell, local real estate dealer, reports the following transactions: The six lots and dwelling, better known as the Kearns property, has been purchased by Math Muller. The property was formerly owned by F. C. Brandenburg and Mr. Muller already owned two lots on the northwest corner of the block, where he built a cheese factory, the building at present being occupied by the Lewis-Bell company. Another deal is the 50-acre Pleaser place, opposite that of Charles Hoffinger, about three miles northeast of town and which has been occupied for several years by the Matt Ditter family. This property has been sold to Albert Boedigheimer, who has been living on the A. L. Mack place.

Open House Event At Silverton Next On P-T Schedule

SILVERTON, Oct. 27. — Mrs. William MacNeill, president of the Parent-Teacher association, reports that $19 was made at the package sale held Saturday at Silverton. Mrs. C. W. Keene and Mrs. MacNeill were in charge of the sale. This was held this year instead of the annual rummage sale. The association is planning an open house at the school during Education week. As it will fall on the week of the regular P. T. meeting, the latter will be dispensed with. Mrs. J. B. Ballantyne is in charge of social arrangements for the evening and Mrs. H. B. Latham is planning the music. The Silverton teachers will all be in their rooms this to greet parents and visitors. Open house will likely fall on November 10.

Epworth Leaguers To Present Pageant

WOODBURN, Oct. 27. — The Epworth leaguers of the Silverton Methodist church will present the pageant, "The Road to Happiness," at the local Methodist church Sunday at 7:30 p. m. The chapter will be accompanied by the 15-piece orchestra and a soloist, Miss Cury. The cast is as follows: Kathryn Morrison, Grace Folsom, Orma Day, Ralph Langley and Wayne Satchell, with Mrs. Israelson as coach.

CLUB PAINTS CHURCH MEHAMA, Oct. 27. — The Mehama Willing Workers have just finished quilting their eighth quilt and pieced two in the two months they have been organized. They have purchased paint for the interior of the church, and will paint the outside as soon as the money is raised.

SOPHOMORE LOGGERS THREAT TO W. U.

Here are some of the men who are playing their second season for Coach Roy Sandberg of College of Puget Sound, having "matriculated" along with him a year ago. They will play against Willamette here Saturday night. They are: No. 1—Park Gagnon, center, an outstanding star last year and mentioned for all-conference honors. He transferred from Ellensburg Normal. No. 2—Jimmy Ennis, half-back who can do the century in 19 flat; a scoring threat from anywhere on the gridiron. From Broadway high, Seattle. No. 3—Kenneth Bourke, tackle from Bellingham high. No. 4—Earl Hickey, guard who transferred from Ellensburg Normal. No. 5—Captain Burdette Sterling, quarterback who was given all-conference mention and is credited with being one of the smartest ever to wear Logger colors; he also is an Ellensburg Normal transfer. No. 6—Roy Carlson, 200-pound end from Weatherhigh, Aberdeen. He was one of the giants on Sandberg's basketball team which played here last winter.

Keene Hopes Gridiron Will Be Dry; Line is Outweighed But May Not be Outfought

While still engaged in strenuous labors aimed at tightening up any possible loose link in his gridiron line, Coach Roy Sandberg of Puget Sound Saturday night, Coach "Spec" Keene of Willamette university was keeping one eye on the sky and the weather forecasts Thursday and hoping for dry weather between now and game time. Keene fears that on a sloppy field, Puget Sound's heavier line would slide his men backward just as the Bearcat forwards did the lighter Albany college linemen a week ago.

Although it couldn't be guessed from the list of weights Coach Roy Sandberg of Puget Sound furnished, and which showed his team to be about the same weight as Willamette's, the boys from Tacoma will bulk considerably bigger, especially at one guard and on the ends. The Logger backfield will also be bigger. Nevertheless Willamette's line has been its strong department all season, and with a dry field—may be even with slippery footing—these hard hitting boys should give a good account of themselves. Puget Sound may drive through that line for a touchdown or two but it won't be a runaway. Keene's line will take the job of watching this group perform. Line Strong From Tackle to Tackle

Either Loren Grannis or Bob Houck is able to take care of most anything that comes through the middle, and it is a long time since Willamette has had as versatile and generally capable a pair of guards as Marion Boyd and Joe Felton. Boyd is sure to be greatly outweighed, whether it is Hurworth or Sprenger of the Loggers who opposes him; but if these huskies should manage to slip past Boyd occasionally, it is certain that he will do some playing in Puget Sound's backfield also. Felton, who never tried football until his college career was fairly well advanced, is one of those jads so constituted that he insists on playing somebody down on every play, whether the ball is coming his direction or not.

And if the Loggers are looking for a weak spot at either tackle they may be sadly disappointed, for nobody has yet pushed either Earl Welser or Dick Johnson out of two plays in succession. This is the first year for both as regulars, but they exhibited early in the season a maximum of football instinct; they have rarely been outguessed and have frequently been responsible when the announcer reported that the enemy had been thrown for a loss.

This line from tackle to tackle was not punctured with any great success by Oregon State in the opening game, and although the Puget Sound forwards are just as big as the Staters, it may be able to hold them. The end situation is somewhat different. At the opening of the season "Wienie" Kaiser was the only wingman capable of holding his own in all situations. "Wienie" has played dependable ball all season, but Coach Keene had a problem on his hands in finding a man who could protect the other's extremity. Hunt Clarke proved to be the answer in some of the early games and held the job down acceptably. Lated Lowell Gribble, who played quite a bit of football in 1930 but was out with injuries most of last year, reported for practice and moved up into the ranks of the regulars by virtue of his speed, toughness and experience. The first string linemen who have been mentioned constitute just about as strong a front wall as Willamette has boasted in modern history. The reserves are good men but they are extremely few in number, and against the bruising type of game Puget Sound will play, this lack of an extensive string of line reserves may be the deciding factor. Absence of Edgar Tweed and Dave Drager makes this lack still more serious at present. Because of Tweed's illness, Emmel has been moved in from end to a guard's position. Houck may also be called upon for guard duty. Jack Connors is on hand for duty either at tackle or end and McKerrow, big but inexperienced, may get into the fray. Connors, in fact, may be in the starting lineup because of his kickoff ability.

CANADIAN MAT KING SIGNS UP

Welter Champ to vie With Novak Monday Night; in Double Main Event

Another double main event in the tournament which will select an opponent for Henry Jones in a title welterweight bout later in the fall, has been arranged by Matchmaker Harry Plant for Monday night—change from the routine of Tuesday night shows, necessitated by a conflict with political meetings scheduled for the armory.

Bobby Novak, who defeated "Curly" Woods here in an evenly matched and hard fought bout this week, will meet the Canadian welterweight champion, Darwin Savidge, who has just arrived in Oregon from his usual haunts north of the international line.

However it is indicated that Woods, who made many friends when he met Novak in the last show, apparently is going to get another change, for he is matched with Joe Gordinier in the other half of the main event. Gordinier has just returned from an invasion, which also turned out to be a conquest, of the Hawaiian islands, where he cleaned up on everything of his weight in sight. He is expected to show a lot of improvement over his former appearances here.

It was in response to popular demand that Woods was placed on the card again, in preference to "Spike" Ashby, who won his bout Tuesday night but did not, it develops from comment heard by the matchmaker since that event, make any great hit with the crowd here. His type of wrestling apparently goes well in preliminaries but is not acceptable for serious competition.

Another event which is coming up at the armory soon and one which will give fight fans a "break" is an amateur fight card which is being arranged by Company B, 182nd Infantry, as a benefit for the guard unit's fund. The participants will all be members of the company, which includes a number of boys who are handy with their fists. The date has not been set.

CURT COMMENTS

"Eureka" shrieks Bob Marks, Albany Democrat-Herald sports columnist. He has found out when Albany high last defeated Salem high prior to last week. It was in 1919 and the score was plenty, 35 to 0. That was 12 years ago and Salem's defeat this year may have been due to the 13 flux. In 1919 Albany was undefeated until the final game with Corvallis when it lost 13 to 12 after Pete Miller, Albany's big star who is still playing football, was injured early in the game.

Marks listed the scores since that time, and we'll take the liberty of reprinting them so that if you're interested you may paste them in your hat. Here they are: 1919—Salem 0, Albany 35. 1920 and 1921, no games. 1922—Salem 15, Albany 6. 1923—Salem 7, Albany 0. 1924—Salem 27, Albany 8. 1925—Salem 3, Albany 0. 1926—Salem 29, Albany 6. 1927—Salem 6, Albany 0. 1928—Salem 20, Albany 0. 1929—Salem 24, Albany 12. 1930—Salem 42, Albany 7. 1931—Salem 21, Albany 6. 1932—Salem 0, Albany 6.

In view of the fact that in 14 seasons Salem has scored 197 points to Albany's 59, nobody ought to holler much over the six points Albany scored a week ago.

Now here's a funny situation. Dr. W. J. Kerr is chancellor over Oregon's higher educational institutions and at present, president of the state college, a job he has held for many years, and also president of the university. Various persons have argued that this doesn't mean much of a step toward unification. But Dr. Kerr seems to think that it does, or can. He called the student body presidents and the student newspaper editors together the other day and got them to pledge their efforts toward more cordial relations between the schools.

But we'll bet that doesn't make the football game November 5 at Corvallis any Alphonse and Gaston affair.

OREGON CITY'S ELEVEN VISITS

Meets Parrish at 3:40 on Olinger Field Today; Fast Game Likely

Parrish junior high school's football team will meet competition in its own class for the first time this season on the home gridiron, this afternoon at 3:40 o'clock on Olinger field when the Oregon City junior high eleven plays here.

For the first time this year also, Parrish is the favorite, due to the fact that Leslie junior high handed Oregon City a defeat two weeks ago. However, Coach Harold Huk and his Parrish boys are taking this forecast with a grain of salt, as Oregon City has had more time to get its offensive working since the Leslie game. Oregon City defeated Parrish 13 to 0 in the Clackamas county metropolis last year, and Parrish will be out to get revenge today.

Hauk has changed his lineup slightly, placing Damon back in the line where, last week's game with Selo proved, he is badly needed. In place of Damon at fullback, Dow, an inexperienced lad who however has exhibited a lot of fight, will perform.

Hauk has indicated that Salstrom, Hoffert, Hughey and Dow will be the starting backfield with Willis at center, Damon and Hill guards, Williams and Porter tackles, Oglesby and Matteson ends.

Jarheads Oppose Staters Tonight

OREGON STATE COLLEGE, Corvallis, Oct. 27.—Oregon State football team will meet the West Coast Army Jarheads here Friday night at 7:30 minus the services of several of its star performers. Norman Franklin and Tom Ward, speedy halfbacks, are definitely out and perhaps Hal Mos and Hal Joslin will be kept on the sidelines due to injuries received in the game with Washington State. Franklin has a fractured elbow that may keep him out of the lineup for the balance of the season.

Gervais Has New Enemy In Amity Hi

GERVAIS, Oct. 27 — Gervais football team will meet a new opponent Friday when they tangle with the big team from Amity high school. Amity has always had a good team and playing on the home field, Gervais should put up a wonderful game.

Since the Sheridan game, some shifts have been made which should make the team a stronger offensive and defensive team. Gervais has not lost a game on the home field in two years and the boys are out to uphold the honor.

Due to losing some strong men by graduation, the team does not measure up to the last two years, but great promise shows in the new men.

The probable lineup for Friday is: RH, DeJardin; LH, Henney; F, Kuhn; G, Schwab; LF, Riggs; LT, Bliven; C, Nosack or Bowley; RT, Lemery; RG, Lelack; LG, Smith; LB, Becker.

LEBANON RESERVES BEAT LESLIE 14-0

Leslie junior high school's football team put up a valiant struggle at Lebanon Thursday afternoon and held the heavier Lebanon reserves to a scoreless tie for three periods, but weakened in the final period and lost 14 to 0.

After the final quarter was well under way Lebanon started a goalward march that finally terminated in a score, and then repeated, reaching the last chalk mark for the second time just as the final gun fired.

Coach Gurnee Glesher's men played the same sort of spirited defense that they exhibited against the Dallas B team a week ago, but did not shine on attack.

SCORELESS AGAIN PORTLAND, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Lincoln and Franklin high schools struggled to a scoreless tie in their football game here today. It was the sixth scoreless game this season in the Portland intercollegiate league.
