SINGER WEDS

IN LAW'S CLUTCHES AGAIN

Here are two interesting camera studies of Arthur Barry, so-called modern Raffles, whose capture in the Roseville mountains of New Jersey modern Raffles, whose capture in the Roseville mountains of New Jersey ended the hunt that has been in progress since the notorious jewel thied escaped from A uburn Prison during the jail break of 1929. At left Barry is shown, youthful, vigorous and debonnaire as he was five years ago, when he stole $90,000 worth of jewels from Jesse Livermore, of Long Island. At right is Barry as he is today, worn and prematurely aged as a result of the constant strain of dodging the law. Barry was quizzed at Newark, N. J., in connection with the Lindbergh baby kidnaping on the chance that he might have some knowledge of the perpetrators of that crime.
