States Conceded Roosevelt Three Weeks ago now Listed Doubtful

(Continued from page 1) Smith point to the immediate extensive revenues from a tax on beer. Neither of them-either through deceit or ignorance — points out that the federal governent or the state government cannot collect a tax on an article its constitution declares can neither legally manufactured nor sold. It is as silly as a proposal to bal-ance the federal budget by a tax on opium or a levy on lotteries. Reer can never be legally taxed or revenue raised from it while the 18th amendment affords every roposed taxpayer a complete remedy in court, were such a tax

The republican platform and the Hoover position thus become doubly sound; they assert that amendment to the 18th amend-ment offers the only logical, legal and feasible method to deal with the liquor traffic. All other methods are the shibboleths handed out unthinking voters. Prohibition form" or repeal must come through changing the fundamental law of the land; not through contradicting it by congressional enactment or by its nullification.

Four years ago the downtown group in Salem was far more ar-dent in support of Smith than it now is for Roosevelt. A check of the straw votes then shows the magnetic personality of the 1928 candidate made him rather formidable; but Roosevelt to the great bulk of business men, to folks who think carefully and examine all the facts, shows through his polished manner a lack of sincerity, a facile straddling which condemns him as a weak man, Swing to West Coast

Hoover's swing home to vote strengthens him locally. His radio address to the west coast Wednesday night enumerated beyond refutation the sore spots in trade which would develop were the protective tariffs granted the west lessened or even tampered with. Even such redoubtable democrats New York, are quick to point out raised although his candidate a crew. few weeks ago was making out that the 1930 tariff ruined the country. Of course Roosevelt has changed measurably since then; he found the tariff was of more value than his strategists had told him, so presto, he became in some sections and in some degree a tariff advocate, Senator Dill, democratic, in Washington, has gone o far as to claim the lumber tariff as his own child, The women's vote in Oregon may be safely counted as Hoov-er's. That will not be the vote of the well-dressed, well-organized, active group of women who want prohibition scuttled. But the larger, quieter, stronger group of homebodies who in yesteryear were the vanguard in the fight on the saleon-which the "wets" now dmit is contraband and not to be estored — are for Hoover and gainst beer, repeal and Roose-

COMING SUNDAY

DWINA BOOTH

MORE for the purpose of exwe wish to state this particular column has become known as the "Dumb" column over the statehouse and generally in Sa-lem. While we still dignify it with "Under the Dome", the former explanation accounts for many items which do appear and for comments which otherwise might not even be in print. Charles Pray tells us it should be easy for us to write "dumb items."

But be the latter as it may, what we wish to bring out is the reason a certain item appearing in yesterday morning's paper should have been rele-gated to this section. Even our boss refers in his editorials to this enlightening feature as the "Dumb" column and he forgets to put the word "Dumb"

But getting back to the subject. The item to which we have reference appeared under the heading "Bourbons Count Upon Dumb Vote." It carries a Cambridge date line and quotes the several newspapermen here who assistant secretary of navy as saying "that the democratic party is wagering everything on its theory that there are not enough thinking voters in this country to elect a president." No truer statement was ever made.

Leslie Scott, chairman of the state highway commission, likes Marion county. We were sitting across the table from him late Wednesday when he was signing leases. One came from Marion county, and he replied, "I would sign anything from Marion county." When asked why, he said Marion was like Multnomah in getting the worst in highway work in proportion to money spent, and that he liked

The state highway commission this week set a new record in the awarding of contracts, and the work was done fast and quietly. The engineering staff is swamped in getting out specifications, but as Louis Lachmund, home from the members are going at it wholeheartedly, and this in spite that hop tariffs will not be low- of salary reductions. Surely a big ered and that they may even be hand is due Sam Baldock and his

The secretary of the highway commission even went so far as to ignore a severe cold to go take down the activities of the commission and do much to direct its program. We are refer-zing to Herbert Glaisyer. But he did not go unrewarded. In a package delivered to him at the meeting in which were some cough drops and life savers, (from a source unknown), was this poem: "Cough drops, so the advertisements say. Have helped many a voice to

And carry on such noble work As reading until prices for removing dirt;

velt. Their vote is organized; so is that of the great group of church "bigots" which Mr. Smith so glorlously roused into action.

Too Late to Classify

And your voice your volume And then suddenly begins to Help yourself to a life saver And continue on your present mission That—of reading bids For the Oregon State Highway

The poem and gift were signed "A friend in need is a friend indeed." Glaisyer reads bids for more than three hours straight on more than a million dollars worth of work. And he has about the same amount of work at the next session December 14.

Some of the capitol newshounds are wondering just whom Charles P. Pray was referring to in a letter he wrote concerning an inmate of the Oregon State hospital. In it he referred to the patient writing anonymous letters and articles, and he added "I know write much werse stuff than that without any reason at ali."

Of course he put us, your correspondent and colleagues, in a bad light. Al Lindbeck said he couldn't have meant him because he didn't write. The rest of us could only protest one thing—not that what was written might be much worse than an insane man could do-but the statement that we wrote for no reason at all. But Charlie only replied that if our reason was financial remuneration. we were obtaining money under false pretenses. Gosh, what kind of a reply can one make to that? We quit the discussion.

J. W. Maloney, candidate against Rufus Holman for the job as state treasurer, was a visitor at the capitol yesterday and while here made the best of his time in making acquaintances. Maloney says he will be here after next January so naturally wanted to lay the groundwork for his acquaintanceship.

About a year ago Ralph Cowgill, of the Oregon State Game commission, promised the newshounds some fine salmon. During a year in which he failed to produce he was often "ribbed" about his promise. But he came through this week with a vengeance. He sent us each a fine oig silverside salmon more than two feet long and weighing about 15 pounds. Nice going

ABOVE ZERO LEVEL

(Continued from page 1) 800 miles off the Columbia river and moving north-easterly. Government Camp reported that ten inches of new snow has fallon there in the just two days.

BEND, Ore., Nov. 2-(AP)ters summit last night and today, ters summit last night and today, bringing the total on the lave beds to 18 inches. McKenzie highway, however, was kept open to travel and is reported to be in excellent winter cendition. Chains are not needed in driving across the milehigh summit, but weather-wise motorists are carrying them.

Clouds were clearing from the Cascades west at Band tonight, in-

Cascades west of Bond tonight, indication that the storm, which at blizzard in the high country, has

WORLD ECONOMICS

(Continued from page 1) men to join together to learn the truth—not propaganda."

Celonel Robertson announced at the beginning of his hour and a quarter address that he spoke for no political party but of his observations in his work in Europe during the past 18 years.

He served the United States in the military intelligence division during the World war, later was employed in European countries as attorney and organizer for the Ford Motor company and made numerous surveys in his work with the war college. He is spending his vacation in West Salem, developing his properties there.

Ralph, even if we did have to wait a year. It was worth it.

Well, it looks as though most of the state capitol will be vacated next Saturday, judging from the number who are planning to go to the big game at Corvallis.

Tonight

Chemeketa Players PRESENT "BACK SEAT DRIVERS"

Nelson Auditorium

It Rips the Lid Off! Tells All

In the midst of the most important political campaign since the Civil War . . . It dares to tell the truth . . .!

The Picture That Will Startle All Salem COMING

Warner ELSINORE

WARNER BROS. Elsinore-

For Greater Enjoyment We Urge You To See This From The Be-ginning: Feature starts 2:00 -8:50 - 7:40 - 9:45

WARNER BROS. CURRENT EVENTS IN SOUND

The Call Board

By OLIVE M. DOAK

WARNER BROS. MISSNORE . Today-Edmund Lowe in "Guilty as Hell."

THE GRAND Taday James Cagney "The Crowd Roars."

THE ROLLYWOOD Today-Rez Bell in "Broadway to Cheyenne."

Mickey Mouse

MICKEY'S BIRTHDAY PARTY WAS A SUCCESS-And you all know that—here's what I noticed the band outside making noise —Bill DeSousa blowing his fat cheeks out—David Hoss trying to look little handing out the delica-cles-Murray Wade Jr.—carrying around a big cake—Aneta Wag-ner and Maxine McCillop—making up their mind whether to eat the eandy or the cake first—Ruth Hillman and Kay Meyers arguing as to whether they should stay for the next show or not and at the same time chewing Karmelkora -and the loud speaker trying to be louder than the bags that were busting in the audience—oy oyeverybody had a good time.

A special show tomorrow-a child favorite-Penred and Sam. M. M. C.

As radio singers-or rather singing through a microphone surely went over for Mildred and Lyle Heckinger-and "Buch" Steinbock-Audrey Fehier from Barbara Barnes School of danceshowed the large crowd that she heod joy in making things pop.

(Continued from page 1) and winding serpentine last night transformed the armory from its ordinarily hare walls into a color-ful ballroom. At the end of the dance, the balloon dome will be loosed, permitting the costumed, formally and informally dressed participants to wind up their evening with a reversion to child-hood for in making things peo.

Following the ball, the Lions club team selling the most tickets will enjoy a turkey banquet and the losers, a bean feed.

At the residence in Hayesville, Thursday, November 3, W. H. Zimmermann, aged 80 years. Survived by widow, Henrietta Zimmermana of Salem; daughters, Mrs. C. D. Daniels of Riseds, Cal., Miss Bertha Zimmersurely knew her stuff.

M. M. C. Let's write down on a piece of paper who he wants for president and give it to the Mickey Mouse secretary tomorrow, and then we'll read the results off the

So Long, ZOLLIE.

Fewer Colds, less severe colds for you this winter with Vicks Plan for better Control-of-Colds. use, VICKS mann of Los Angeles, Mrs. H. L. nesota; sisters, Mrs. F. Oster-Stoy of Spokane, Miss Henrietta mann of Philadelphia, Mrs. Chris-Zimmermann of Waverly, Is.,

Mrs. Elsa Trey of Salem; sons,
T. H. of Tacoma, Fred of Oceanside, Cal. F. W. of Portland; brother, Jacob Zimmermann of MinBarrick company.

TONICHT

Join in the Fun! GREET YOUR TEAM AND FRIENDS AT THE GIANT

WILLAMETTE U. FOOTBALL

ON THE SCREEN!

A Gala Galaxy of the Nation's outstanding Football Stars and Screen Players in a

STUDIO PREVIEW

> OF 1932'S NEWEST SCREEN SENSATION Public Invited

WARNER BROS

VOTE

ON REFERENDUM MEASURE 307 FOR the third time the Oregon Legislature has attempted to hinder the manufacture and sale of that vital food product, oleomargarine. Twice it has been voted down by the people. This third attempt is the most vicious of them all.

Over ten thousand families in Oregon are receiving public relief. There are more than seventy-five thousand unemployed in the state. Remember these people and vote against the Oleomargarine Tax.

Kill it now-before it can reach its greedy fingers into your home; into every home in Oregon. Kill it, or there will be other food gouges inflicted upon you. Go to the polls next Tuesday, November 8. Vote 307 X NO.

> Sponsored by Oregon Anti-Food Tax League Mrs. Alexander Thompson, President 318 Security Bldg., Portland, Ore.

KILL THE VICIOUS OLEOMARGARINE FOOD TAX

