Webfoot Threat Proves Weak and Trojans Win, 33 - 0

OREGON MAKES YARDAGE ONCE

Southern California Piles Up 20-0 Lead at Half; Passes Have Role

By PAUL ZIMMERMAN

OLYMPIC STADIUM, Los Angeles, Nov. 12 — (AP) — Troy's war horse galloped on toward another mythical championship today, as Southern California marked up its seventeenth consecutive triumph over Oregon 33 to 0 before 35,000 persons.

It was an easy victory, assured so early in the first quarter that the crowd started leaving before the final period opened. The Trojans, displaying more power than at any time this fall, scored in the opening session and turned in touchdowns in each of the following quarters.

Three of these were brought by passes and the other two by plunging as the Howard Jones coached aggregation, substituted and re-substituted almost to the last man, rolled along without mercy.

Get to Trojan 38
By Grabbing Fumble

The Webfoots were no closer to the goal line than the Trojan 38 yard line and gained the ball there by virtue of a recovered fumble. Southern California refused to budge and even went so far as to set Mikulak back a yard in three attempts to gain.

The best of the contest Coach Prink Callison's Giants spent on defense, attempting vainly to halt the steady march to their goal. Shortly after the Webfoots passed up their scoring chance the Trojan attack started rolling.

Homer Griffith rifled a high pass to Julius Bescos, for a forty yard gain and then circled left end for a touchdown from the 8-yard line.

Sixteen minutes later Troy had scored twice more for a 20 to 0 halt time lead.

So stubborn was the Southern California defense, which has permitted only one touchdown this fall, that Oregon made first down only once, and failed to complete a pass.

The Trojans pounded out 12 first downs, gaining 396 yards. They completed four of a dozen passes, three of them for touchdowns and made 107 yards through the air, which was more than the Webfoots could pick up all afternoon.

Oregon outshone in the punting by a convincing margin although Warburton, Griffith and Matthews nullified the advantage with their sparkling returns.

Punting is Oregon's
Only Strong Point

Temple and Bob Parke averaged 41 yards with fourteen kicks compared with 38 yards for the four or five Trojans who tried their foot at the art of punting.

Temple was the outstanding man for the invaders, but he was kept well bottled up most of the afternoon as the Trojan forwards moved in on almost every play.

For Southern California Ernie Smith and Captain Tay Brown, the two tackles, stood out prominently, with "Cotton" Warburton his biggest offensive threat.

Only Washington stands between Troy and the Pacific coast conference championship, while the Huskies and Notre Dame remain to contest the right of Southern California to the national title for the second successive year.

DALLAS GRIDDER IS HURT, AUTO CRASH

DALLAS, Nov. 12 — Lavoy Senter, star guard on the Dallas high football team, suffered a fractured hip in an auto accident following the Armistice day football game here Friday against Independence.

Senter was riding on the running board of a car which was taking him to the high school dressing room after the game when the car collided with another on the corner of Church and Mill streets. Both cars overturned and Senter was pinned under the one he was riding on. He was taken to the Dallas hospital immediately where the extent of his injury was determined. Neither car was much damaged and the other occupants of the cars were not injured. Both drivers tried to avoid the accident but the two sideswiped and turned over.

Senter had just finished playing in the Independence game and had been playing a real game. He will be out of the lineup for the remaining two games of the season and his loss will be keenly felt by the team.

HE'S NEXT

No need to introduce R. Vincent Borleske, the "old fox" of the Northwest conference gridirons. He will bring his Whitman eleven here Saturday to play Willamette's Bearcats in the final college game of the season on Sweetland field. Willamette has defeated Whitman but once in the last 12 years. Saturday's contest will be an afternoon affair, a feature of Willamette's annual Homecoming.

Whitman to Oppose W.U. On Saturday

N. W. CONFERENCE

	W.	L.	Pct.
Puget Sound	3	0	1.000
Whitman	4	1	.800
Willamette	3	1	.750
Pacific	3	2	.600
College of Idaho	2	2	.500
Linfield	1	3	.250
Albany	0	5	.000

Whitman college, long the "jinx" of Willamette university in matters of the gridiron, will send its strong 1932 eleven, now resting precariously in second place in the Northwest conference, here next Saturday to play the Bearcats, who yesterday were shorn of their title hopes by a 6-to-2 defeat at the hands of Pacific's Badgers. It will be an afternoon game, a part of the Willamette Homecoming program.

Whitman held College of Puget Sound to a 7-to-6 score, defeated Pacific 12 to 0 and last Friday disposed of the other "major" team in the conference, College of Idaho, by the same score. An exceptional passing attack and a stubborn defense are factors in Whitman's strong showing this season, made in spite of many losses from the 1931 champion eleven.

Whitman beat Willamette 6 to 0 on a snow field at Walla Walla last Thanksgiving day, and the Bearcats will be seeking revenge here Saturday.

ASHBY, POTTER TO VIE ON MAT

No-Time Limit; Franz Will Meet Herman Olson In Two-Hour Tussle

A double main event wrestling show including one two-hour match and one no-limit contest, has been arranged for Tuesday night at the armory by Matchmaker Harry Plant. The no-limit affair, which may also prove to be unlimited in the matter of rough tactics, will bring together "Spike" Ashby, who has appeared here several times recently, and Vic Potter, who has shown in Salem twice, once against Robin Reed and once against Des Anderson.

Ashby exhibited a lot of speed in his previous matches at the armory, but the best show he has put on here was one which only a limited group witnessed; it was the night after election at the armory. He and Joe Gardinier battled like a couple of cave-men to a draw, each taking a fall.

The two-hour match will be between Sailor Franz, who appeared here several weeks ago, and Herman Olson who put up a crowd-pleasing battle against Chet Wiles last week.

A 30-minute preliminary is being arranged, one of the participants to be "Wildcat" Lockhart, a local boy who has been making rapid progress at the game and has appeared in a number of other cities since his last match here.

SPEARS-COACHED BADGERS WIN OUT

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 12.—(AP)—Wisconsin rose to unexpected heights today to score a 20 to 13 victory over Minnesota in the 42nd renewal of their rivalry, the oldest in the middle west.

Walter "Mickey" McGuire, a Hawaiian youth with an Irish name, whose fleetness of foot was only overshadowed by his ability to snare passes in the pinches, led to Minnesota's downfall. Playing the last game of his collegiate career, on the home field, he scored all Wisconsin's touchdowns, the final in the last minute of the game.

The victory represented the achievement of this year's ambition for Dr. Clarence Spears, Wisconsin's new mentor. As coach at Minnesota for five years he saw his charges beat the Badgers four times and tie them once but this year he pointed his new pupils for the traditional game with the Gophers and came out on top.

McGuire brought the crowd to its feet on the first play of the game when he took the ball on the kickoff and ran 85 yards for a touchdown. Linfor kicked the extra point.

Beavers Show They're Used To Mud; Pass Their Way to 35 to 6 Win Over Montana

MISSOULA, Mont., Nov. 12—(AP)—Oregon State college passed successfully for three touchdowns, knifed through the Montana line for two more and profited by a Grizzly fumble to defeat Montana university 35 to 6 in a coast conference game here today.

The Grizzlies scored a touchdown on a long run by Stansberry and a forward pass in the first three minutes of play. When the final whistle blew Montana had the ball within a yard of Oregon State's goal line.

It rained hard throughout the game, as huddled hundreds sat in misery and the players skidded and fumbled in the mud. Forward passes of the spot type accounted for the first four touchdowns.

Bob Stansberry, Montana, raced 70 yards on the opening kickoff to put the ball in the danger zone. A pass to Lyman and a pass to Vidro, who caught the ball near the goal line scored the first touchdown. The goal kick failed. Oregon State punted after receiving the kickoff and regained the ball on the Grizzly 20-yard line when Stansberry touched it bounding by. A pass gave Oregon State a touchdown and K. Davis kicked goal.

A flashy attack a few moments later culminated in a 25-yard pass to Moe for a second touchdown. After Ward had returned the kickoff 55 yards, then came a safety as Stansberry fumbled attempting to kick from behind his own goal and the first quarter ended 15 to 6 for the Beavers.

A stubborn defense by Montana halted Oregon State in a scoreless second period, in which many punts were exchanged.

In the third quarter Jarvis dashed 43 yards returning the kickoff, raced 18 around end and then a pass to Moe, 27 yards across the goal gave the Beavers a touchdown. A 22-yard dash by Little and a 40-yard sprint by Ward put the ball on the Montana one-yard line. The Grizzlies held twice but Little dived over on the third try and Acheson kicked goal.

In the fourth quarter another touchdown was registered as the Beaver line opened holes in the Montana defense, McIntosh carrying the ball over and Acheson kicking goal.

Fordham Winner Over Violet, 7 - 0

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—(AP)—The Fordham Rams continued to loom powerfully among eastern elevens today as they turned back New York university 7 to 0 before 40,000 fans at Yankee stadium.

Much as they defeated St. Mary's a week ago, the Battering Rams struck once and decisively through the air in the second period. Then they held on tight, never giving the Violets a chance to get started.

ELI AND PRINCETON BATTLE TO 7-7 TIE

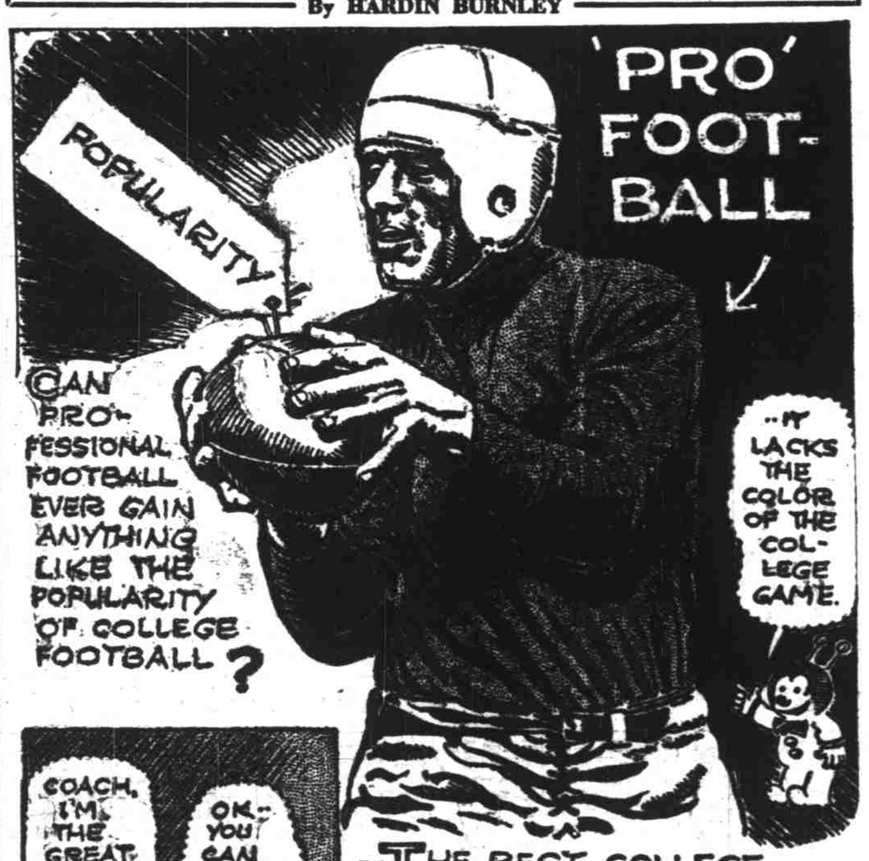
PALMER STADIUM, Princeton, N. J., Nov. 12 — (AP) — After striking three times at Yale's goal line defense without breaking through, John Paul Kadlic, Princeton's star sophomore quarterback, turned loose his aerial weapons to give the Tigers a sensational 7-7 tie with the Elis today.

All the thrills of this 56th annual battle of ancient rivals, played in a cold wind before a crowd of 40,000 spectators, were packed into the last half as the battling Bengals rallied to match Yale's 80-yard drive that sent Bob Lassiter hurtling over the goal line.

Ken Fairman, Tiger end, crossed the Eli goal on a 20-yard passing play engineered by the versatile Kadlic. Pete Fortune, the big tackle from Chicago, place kicked the extra point that proved the big equalizer in a game hard fought from start to finish.

The Prospects of the "Pro's."

By HARDIN BURNLEY



SMART football men agree that if you want to see the gridiron pastime played as it really should be played, you must go to see the professional pigskin manipulators do their stuff.

College football, say these experts, is all very well, but, compared with the professional game, it's about on a par with minor league baseball in comparison to the big leagues.

Of course, the real question about professional football is whether it can ever hope to be a serious rival to the college game as far as public interest is concerned. No matter how high a grade of football is played among the "pros," the game will be rated a failure if it fails to really "catch on" with the public.

The real difficulty which "pro" football faces in attempting to rival the popularity of the college game is the fact that the college game provides a colorful setting and a traditional rivalry which the professionals are unable to offer.

However, many of those interested in "pro" football insist that the sport has a really great future, that it is attracting more and more of the public's attention, and that in a few years the professional game will be one of the most important pastimes in the country. The "pros" are opening up new franchises in various cities, and they seem to be quite successful as a rule.

When you consider that, with very little advance attention from the newspapers and fighting against the competition of college games, the professionals are drawing anywhere from 5,000 to 25,000 spectators in different parts of the country, you must admit that the game seems to have quite a bright future.

Famous college stars who try to make good in the "pro" ranks usually have pretty tough sailing for a couple of years, until they become seasoned to the very gruelling brand of play employed by the professional footballers. A great college star such as "Red" Cagle needed a couple of years in the "pro" game in order to become of real value to the professional team.

Many famed college stars have failed to make the grade in this exceedingly fast company, and all of them learn things about football which they never dreamed of in college when they play in the professional ranks.

At any rate, even if "pro" football doesn't attain the popularity of the college sport, it will always provide real football fans with genuine enjoyment, because the professionals undoubtedly play the highest class football in the history of the gridiron sport.

HUSKY, COUGAR GO SCORELESS

Washington State Nearest To Victory; Melee Over Mascot Lively Fight

WASHINGTON STADIUM, Seattle, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Washington's rain-soaked gridiron and a bunch of students who came to blows over a stuffed cougar took the only beatings in the stadium today as Washington State college and the University of Washington football teams fought to their first scoreless tie in the 26 games between the two schools.

The well-groomed grassy field looked like a muddy swamp after the two elevens battered and pounded in vain for victory which would have carried the collegiate championship of the state and possibly the collegiate championship of the northern division Pacific Coast conference crown.

The Cougars of Washington State came the closest to winning when they charged to Washington's five-yard line in the second period and to the Huskies' two-yard stripe in the third but the drives were met and turned away by a fighting band of Purple and Gold warriors.

Washington's best opportunity for a touchdown came on the last play of the first half when a long pass was just out of reach of Ed Clinton, substitute end, as he crossed the Cougar goal line.

In celebration of homecoming day at Washington several Husky students strutted out on the field between halves carrying a mounted cougar which old grads of the school had taken from Washington State several years ago and a battle of fists followed when W. S. C. rooters swarmed after it.

Many W. S. C. students who had come to cheer their team dashed out of their seats to recover the Cougar for their school and hundreds of rooters from the Washinton section came to help their comrades. A rough, shoving and hitting battle followed and lasted for 15 minutes until police broke up the pow-wow.

BEAR OVERPOWERS FIGHTING VANDALS

MEMORIAL STADIUM, Berkeley, Nov. 12—(AP)—In a yard gaining parade that continued with almost monotonous regularity, California's Bears overpowered a game but ouclassed University of Idaho eleven today to win 21-6.

From opening kickoff until closing gun, Coach Bill Ingram's Bears pounded the Vandal line or skirted the ends to roll up touchdowns in the first and last two quarters. The first touchdown was scored after a 66 yard march while the next resulted from 85 yard drives down the field.

Except for two passes, one good for 12 yards in the first period and the other for 23 yards in the final quarter, California confined its attack to punches at the line.

Glenn Warner, Stanford coach and several of his players were in the stands scouting California for the "big game" next Saturday, so the Bears used straight football tactics entirely.

Gervais Beats Aumsville 11 in Armistice Tilt

GERVAIS, Nov. 12—Gervais defeated the Aumsville team in their Armistice day game on the local field by a score of 40-0. Leland DeJardin, the local captain played the best game of the season in his spectacular runs and most of the yardage gained by his team was his work.

Aumsville played a good game, but the locals were just too fast for them in their running and tackles and in interceptions.

Stag Tourneys' Season Closed

Wednesday evening "stag" tournaments at the Illahee Country club have been discontinued until next spring due to the early darkness which curtails playing time. Officers of the club have expressed appreciation of the work of Jim Young, chairman of the house committee, in preparing feeds for these events and for the occasions when out-of-town teams were entertained at Illahee.

Chicago Another Michigan Victim

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 12—(AP)—A stubborn Maroon line wavered twice under relentless pounding today, and the powerful undefeated Michigan football eleven, by a score of 12 to 0, added Chicago to its list of seven gridiron victims since October 1.

Medford Denied Hood River Tilt

MEDFORD, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Principal C. G. Smith announced here today that Hood River high school has definitely declined Medford high's offer for a game here next Saturday, for the right to play the champion of the Portland Interscholastic league on Thanksgiving day for the state championship.

Smith left by plane to confer with Portland school authorities.

"CURT COMMENTS"

And now the Bearcats can go to work to "Whip Whitman" with no championship hopes or worries on their minds. And that will be no easy task, but if it is accomplished, their season will not have been in vain after all. Whitman hasn't been beaten twice in Northwest conference play since the conference was reorganized. It's been beaten once already this season, so if Willamette turns the trick it will make history.

That was a great game up there on Multnomah field. Too bad they moved it there where practically nobody saw it, whereas if it had been played here, we fully believe 3000 people would have been on hand.

No question about that touchdown of Pacific's being a great bit of unconscious luck. But we haven't much doubt that it was a valid touchdown, though there was considerable dissension about it in the press box. Larry Wolfe, Oregon Normal coach, said it wasn't a touchdown, and we never suspected him of being partial to Willamette even if the Bearcat school has furnished him with several top notch players.

We were sure Frantz touched the ball, and if he did anybody who caught it before it touched the ground, even if he were a Pacific guard or the fellow who threw it, would be eligible to catch it and take it places. At least that's the way we read the rule.

Willamette may be handicapped for the Whitman game, by injuries that occurred Saturday. Jones, Erickson, Oravec and Grannis were all hurt, though Erickson and Jones went back in there. Some of the others were somewhat bunged up. It was a rough game. Every time the Pacific boys got hold of Cannady they tried to pull him apart, and didn't stop pulling until they were pulled off. They had a special grudge against him. Of course, we are not sure the rough stuff was all one-sided, but that phase of it was unusually apparent.

Seeing the boys we know playing down there where Stanford and Ucla water wagons drew a lot of notoriety a while back, and where now the Portland high schools are to have a water wagon, reminds us that Aaron Frank donated one of those water wagons to U. of O. Now Aaron's partner, Julius Meier, being a resident of Salem and equally capable of buying a water wagon, might if he thought of it, give one of those to Willamette.

Speaking of donations, we understand the Lions club gave the oilcloth with which the press bench at the armory was covered, last week for the first time. The Lions didn't know it, but that was an especial accommodation to us, and we're duly thankful.

CORNHUSKERS SPOIL PITTSBURGH RECORD

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 12.—(AP)—Little Chris Mathes, 147 pound Nebraska, back, and George Hauer, dashing fullback, stole the show as Nebraska put a crimp in Pittsburgh's national football title march in a scoreless tie game today.

It was the third successive tie game the two teams have played in Memorial stadium here but the Cornhuskers outsped, out-yarded and out-downed the Panthers today. They lacked the power to make a sustained drive for a score and a last quarter place kick fell far short.

The speeding Huskers drove Pittsburgh's shock troops from the field the first quarter and then proceeded to mark up five first downs against the team that stopped Notre Dame. Twice the Huskers narrowly missed a score.

It was Mathis who started the first serious threat after the Huskers took a short kick on Pitt's 30 yard line. The Husker speedsters skidded around right end for 11 yards and on the third player Sauer tossed a long pass into "Big Bernie" Masterson's hands inside the ten yard line. Masterson held the ball momentarily, then it bolted from his grasp. He hurled himself on it but is was ruled incomplete.

HARVARD COMEBACK ROUTS HOLY CROSS

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 12—(AP)—After weathering a stubborn Holy Cross attack for three periods, Harvard's hard fighting football forces today lessened the string of recent humiliations by converting its only opportunity into an unexpected 7-0 victory over the purple-clad Crusaders.

Three times the powerful invaders surged the Crimson's 10-yard line, but they lacked the punch needed to dent the desperate goal line stands.

In the fourth a Holy Cross punt was grounded on Harvard's 48 yard line and passes put the crimson nine yards from the enemy goal. Fullback Art Barrett plunged twice to the three yard line, where an offside penalty against Holy Cross cut the distance in half. After Barrett failed, Waters banged over for the touchdown and Wells place kicked the extra point.

Golfers "Shoot" For Turks Again

Two recent "turkey shoots" at the Salem Golf club have proven highly popular with the members and a third will be staged today provided weather permits. Cessation of heavy rains has left the course in excellent condition though winter tees are now in order. Friday was a big day for the golfers who took advantage of the Armistice day holiday.

Will your car stand out in the open this winter?
