ALL-BRAN STOPPED HIS SLEEPLESSNESS TIRED FEELING

Cereal Relieved His Constipation

Read this enthusiastic letter from Mr. Haraden:

"My system had been run down for quite some time. About three weeks ago, I started taking ALL-Bran for breakfast. I had been unable to sleep nights, but now all I have to do is turn in, and before I know it, I am fast asleep.

"I used to have a tired feeling all day, but now that ALL-BRAN is in my home to stay, there will be no more tired feelings with me."—Mr. Carl Haraden, Main Street, Hamilton, Massachusetta.

Science says that ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. Also from for the blood.

"I used to have a tired feeling all

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, this clears out the intestinal wastes,

Isn't this safer than taking pills eat two tablespoonfuls daily for most types of constipation, If not relieved this way, see your doctor,

Music for Everybody, Everybody For Music, is Theme of Orchestra

Philharmonic Symphony Group Advances Salem as Music Center

By LEE F. MAASKE

WUSIC can do a lot of things for people, and every one who likes it should have a chance to express himself, musically. There are very few people who don't like to sing, or play some kind of an instrument, whether it be a pipe organ or a harmonica, a violin or a ukelele, a drum or a tattoo on a bridge table. I wish someone would take a census of those people who honestly don't like to break forth into some kind of music-even though it might be just an occasional whistle. No doubt it would make a comparatively small percentage. The trouble with a good many of us though, is that we think it easier to listen to the radio, and the other fellow, when we could have so much more fun doing the thing ourselves. Of course doing makes more intelligent listening, so it works both ways.

Now, what can music do for you? Well, it can help your disposition—if you have one. Haven't you known people who have forgotten their petty anger, jealousy, or irritation when they've joined in a good hearty singing of "Dixie", or kept vigorous time to the "Stars and Stripes"? The National Bureau for the Advancement of Music says that children and adults who spend their leisure time musically, have no time to think about committing crimes, (and with a five hour working day looming in the distance, we'll have more leisure time than ever to think about.) Music Binds Family Ties

The bureau also says that homes in which members of the family have their own orchestras, singing groups, and other forms of musical expression are not the homes that usually disintegrate. Carry the idea still further into a community, with larger groups, and see what fun results, as well as a wholesome influence on the

We all don't have to be professionals; we probably couldn't be if we tried, but if music were limited to professionals, everybody wouldn't have a chance, and music should be democratic. Most of us have it in some form or another, so why shouldn't we have a chance to express it? In Germany, nearly every one who is at all interested in music belongs to some kind of musical organization. Salem has taken a recent step in this direction by organizing the Philharmonic Symphony orchestra. In this group are 65 musicians who, in addition to playing together for enjoyment of music, have the advantage of a training course as well. They learn from class instruction, which happens to be the newest thing in music education, anyway, since it is cheaper and more people have a chance to learn.

An association of 37 prominent citizens are sponsoring, guiding and financing the organization, by means of membership in the association, and pledges from patrons. This, again, brings the individuals of the association no profit, with the exception that they wish to have the hope that a musical organization of which Salem may justly be proud, be fulfilled.

The orchestra is democratic, idealistic, and purely amateur in purpose; it is open for enrollment to all who are earnest in their desire to benefit from the thorough musical training that they are fortunate in receiving from Jacques Gershkovitch, who conducts this organization as well as the Junior Symphony orchestra of Portland. Miss Mary Schultz is acting as assistant conductor. The group of more advanced players rehearses twice a week, and constitutes the main body of the organization. There is soon to be, however, a preparatory group, and this will give more individuals the opportunity of participation, and training. The Junior the Senior Symphony orchestras of Portland each have a similar

The association board of directors includes the following: Mrs. George Allen, Mrs. W. E. Anderson, L. E. Barrick, Fred Broer, C. P. Bishop, Alice Crary Brown, H. V. Compton, Raymond Carl, Mrs. Walter Denton, Dr. C. A. Downs, Mrs. Elsa Ebsen, W. T. Jenks, Mrs. C. Jepson, Mrs. J. A. Jelderks, Mrs. Roy Klein, Mrs. Percy Kelly, C. A. Kells, Mrs. W. H. Lytle, T. A. Livesley, Mrs. R. J. Maaske, Ivan Martin, Douglas McKay, Ellis Purvine, Mrs. W. F. Powers, Mrs. Otto Paulus, Dr. R. E. L. Steiner, Dr. L. B. Schmidt, Mrs. A. A. Schramm, Mrs. Chas. Sherman, Leslie Springer, Miss Mary Schultz, Miss Mary Schoettle, Rev. H. D. Stover, Edward Tillson, Rev. F. A. Weil, Wesley Roeder, C. A. Sprague.

Music plays such an important part in the life of the individual and the community that we should foster it generously. The object should be to make Salem famous as a musical center. There are many musical organizations here which are doing their part in this direction. The Philharmonic orchestra is designed to supply the need for ensemble playing and to satisfy the tastes of those who love orchestral productions. The common object should be: Music for everybody, and everybody for music.

The BLACK

SWAN By the author of SCARAMOUCHE

A duel to death for a woman's honor. . . . For the days of chivalry had not yet fled-at least not along the Spanish Main.

Don't miss this fight! Don't miss the danger, the thrills, the adventure of Buccaneering Days. You can witness it all. . . . Rafael Sabatini's "The Black Swan" will take you back three centuries when pirates sailed the Caribbean under the blue skies of romance.

Here is Sabatini's finest story since he wrote "Scaramouche."
