

HOPS AND NUTS ARE BIG PROFIT MAKERS

At Aurora, Where Austrian Pea is Also Making Large Headway

AURORA, Nov. 19.—Of the crops grown in this section, nuts and hops are showing the greatest profit. It is estimated that the one sizable walnut orchard near here will net its owner Peto Freeman $150 an acre. Hops are hovering around 24 to 25 cents with growers inclined to hold. Two lots were sold at 23 cents Wednesday.

With these two exceptions the Austrian pea has proven the most profitable. It is in demand in the southern states where bankers have discovered its value as a cover crop for cotton, and have refused to finance cotton growers unless they use the Austrian pea, assuring them of a good yield, then, they will take the chance of selling the crop.

Henry Ziegler, a local wide awake warehouse operator is enthusiastic regarding the possibilities of the seed pea and predicts that its growth will in the near future be a leading industry.

Ziegler has cleared about 10,000 sacks of the seed, 100 pounds net to the sack, and has shipped seven cars to Georgia, Mississippi, Louisiana and Alabama by water through the Panama canal, to be used as a cover crop for the cotton fields.

For farmers of Clackamas and Marion counties adjacent to Aurora, and was contracted for 2 1/2 cents net to the farmer, a little below the 3 1/2 cents offered last year. The average yield was 15,000 lbs. to the acre, averaging $55.50. Some crops ran as high as a ton giving the grower $50. Mr. Ziegler states that the screenings will practically pay for the labor, and in addition it is a great land builder to the ground upon which it is grown, and its production and marketing was the means of giving employment to many men.

SLUGGISH MARKET REGISTERS GAINS

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(AP)—For the first time this week, stocks squeezed through with average net gains today, although it was still a very sleepy market.

Some stocks finished with gains of 1 to 2 points, although in many instances the rise was only fractional. Turnover amounted to 385,556 shares.

U. S. Steel and American Telephone were fairly popular with stock buyers toward the close, showing respective net gains of 1 and 2 points. American Can, Case, United Aircraft, Consolidated Gas, Drug, Allied Chemical, Eastman, New York Central, Santa Fe and Union Pacific did as well or slightly better. McIntyre Petroleum fidgeted up more than a point.

Once more the rail section was able to ignore a larger than seasonal drop in carloadings. Traffic moved last week proved to be 51,290 cars less than in the preceding period, the recent interval included election day, when some curtailment of activity is normal, but the recession was more extensive, on a percentage basis, than in recent years. Less-than-carload lots were down about 7,500 cars.

MUTTON VERY SCARCE, PORTLAND HARVEST REPORTS JERK GRAINS UP

Cube Butter Advances 1c; Demand Steady For Chickens

PORTLAND, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Decreasing supplies of butter from out-state points together with a decreased home churning appear as major factors forcing additional price advance in the local trade as well as along the coast generally.

The fact that standard butter advanced 1c to 25c for cubes on the produce exchange for the weekend session while there was no change in the extras, indicated once again that it was proving exceedingly difficult or impossible to secure a premium over the former. Prime first advanced 1/4c at the same time while firsts were up 1c.

Market for eggs reflects a very firm tone locally for fresh lay with demand continued in excess of the supply. Storage stock is still being openly sold to fresh goods which complicates the situation somewhat.

General cleanup of chicken supplies to date is noted as a result of the shortened offerings with a slight steady about demand. No change in late prices is suggested. Springs are the only weak feature.

There is a rather good demand for country killed lambs but only a small supply is reported lately by leaders of the trade. Hogs and veal are steady to firm.

Extreme scarcity of mutton has created a demand for dressed goats that has not been seen in the local trade for a couple of years. Most goat sales are around 2-3c lb.; a few being higher to 2-3c lb.

BUTTER ADVANCES EAST AND WEST 3C
(AP)—Butter prices both east and west made a sharp advance during the past week, amounting to 3 cents all along the Pacific coast, thus compensating somewhat for the unusually steady prices maintained for the past three months. It is stated in today's weekly review by the U.S.D.A. bureau of agricultural economics co-operating with the O.S.C. extension service.

The price gains carried 92 score prints to 27 to 28 cents on the Portland jobbing market, and 23 to 24 cents in New York on the wholesale cube market. This New York price is still about 10 cents under a year ago.

This stronger position of butter is emphasized by cold storage and production reports which show that storage butter on the coast is now 40 per cent under the 5 year average with the remainder now largely in the hands of distributors holding for their own retail trade. With little storage butter being offered and receipts of fresh butter light, buyers had difficulty in filling their orders.

Much the same condition holds nationally. Reduction of storage holdings were much heavier in principal markets this past week than a year ago, while total daily milk production estimated November 1 was about 1 per cent under a year ago despite a 4 per cent increase in the number of cows in milking.

Closes Firm, Wheat Oats and Corn All Higher

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Jerked upward by wet harvest reports from Argentina and by big purchases of North American wheat for Europe, grain markets developed notable strength today.

For a moment at the start, wheat prices hovered within 1/4 cent of the all-time bottom record, and then climbed straight aloft, with latest dealings at the day's top level. Trade leaders expressed opinions that liquidation of December wheat contracts would hereafter be of less volume than had generally been feared.

Wheat closed firm, 1/4-1/2 above yesterday's finish, corn 1/4 up, oats 1/4-1/2 advanced.

Today's closing quotations: Wheat: Dec., 42 1/4-1/4; May, 48 1/4-1/4; July, 49 1/4-1/4. Corn: Dec., 24 1/4-1/4; May, 30 1/4-1/4; July, 31 1/4-1/4. Oats: Dec., 16 1/4-1/4; May, 18 1/4-1/4; July, (no trading).

The Stolz and McNary farm has 26 acres of 10 year old, 30 acres of four year old and five acres of yearling trees. They harvested 20 tons. Mr. Stolz says they are setting out 16 acres in the petite prune orchard hoping to receive larger returns from nuts than peaches. They also harvested 5000 pounds of filberts from 36 acres. This makes a total of 140,000 pounds of English walnuts dried in this district.

Wider Selection Of Wools Moves, Steady To Lower

CORVALLIS, Ore., Nov. 19.—(AP)—A wider selection of wools moved on the Boston markets this past week but at steady to slightly lower prices compared with the week before, according to today's wire reports to the U.S.D.A. bureau of agricultural economics co-operating with the O.S.C. extension service.

Country packed offerings of combed medium wools were available at 18 1/2 to 19 cents in the grease. In Australia primary market prices were a little firmer, according to cable reports.

140,000-POUND NUT CROP FOR KEIZER

KEIZER, Nov. 19.—The English walnut harvest in Keizer district is completed and the nuts dried. There are several large orchards and nearly everyone has a few trees up to two acres of the nuts realizing the value for home use as well as for commercial purposes.

William Blake harvested 28 1/2 tons from 23 acres. These trees range from 15 to 25 years of age. They were planted on timber land and Mr. Blake says he was 10 years clearing the land.

B. W. Wickert has 15 acres, six 35 years old and harvested seven tons. Some of the younger trees only bore a few nuts. F. E. Evans has 14 acres, 13 years old, one half are Franquette and the others seedlings, and he realized six tons. Mr. Evans dried 19 tons besides his own for neighbors who had a small amount.

The Stolz and McNary farm has 26 acres of 10 year old, 30 acres of four year old and five acres of yearling trees. They harvested 20 tons. Mr. Stolz says they are setting out 16 acres in the petite prune orchard hoping to receive larger returns from nuts than peaches. They also harvested 5000 pounds of filberts from 36 acres. This makes a total of 140,000 pounds of English walnuts dried in this district.

HEAVIEST WALNUT YIELD IS REPORTED

GRAND ISLAND, Nov. 19.—George Antrem of the Unionvale district who has a small walnut orchard on the Island harvested the largest crop this year that his trees have ever yielded in one season. From 56 Franquette walnut trees that are 36 years old, Mr. Antrem received over two tons of dried nuts. Seventy sacks of the best nuts were sold to the Dundee Nut Growers association.

Clyde M. LaFollett of Wheatland marketed 16 1/2 tons this season from his 17 acre Franquette walnut orchard. The crop was of a very high quality being practically entirely free from the walnut blight. The last delivery was recently made to Charles E. Trunk near Dundee, who is manager of the Oregon Nut Growers association plant located at Dundee.

HOW DOES YOUR GARDEN GROW?

I am told that if one desires the Bittersweet to fruit it is imperative that two shrubs be planted near each other unless the shrub is grafted. The one shrub must bear pistillate blossoms and the other staminate ones.

If trees are given a slow acting fertilizer at this time of the year, they are supplied with food as soon as growth begins in the spring.

Several of the ferns which grow wild in the woods make very good plants to use about the foundation of the house and other shade places. This is a good time of the year to transplant them.

Wood Ashes for Lilacs

If your lilacs are not doing well perhaps they are planted in a low acid soil. Swampish lands are not good for lilacs. A good mulch and some bonemeal, the coarse sort, given at this time of the year are also beneficial. If you have some wood ashes to dig in about your bushes at this time of the year it will also be good. Give the plants a little seaweed, sand or powdered charcoal is good to mix into the soil where you plant your Mariposa lily bulbs.

Appropriation is Made for Office Helper at School

WOODBURN, Nov. 19.—Miss Vera Bogard was chosen as office assistant at the high school at a meeting of the Woodburn school board, held Thursday night. An amount of money for paying an office assistant was set aside at the recent school budget meeting. Miss Bogard is to receive $20 a month for secretarial work. Appropriation for the office helper was made this year for the first time.

The elimination of two full-time teachers put too great an amount of work on the other teachers and the superintendent, making necessary the hiring of the assistant.
