rectors authorized C. A. Guderian, machine shop instructor, to visit the navy yard this weekend to inspect the equipment available.

Cost of remodeling the district-owned house at 434 North High street, formerly occupied by the county health department, for administrative quarters amounted to $513.59, Superintendent George King reported.

Proposal of the health department, assisted by Salem dentists, to conduct an educational campaign on dental hygiene in Salem schools was accepted by the board without taking official action. Dr. David B. Hill, chairman of the campaign committee, makes his first report. He has had 1000 samples of toothpaste and possibly brushes might be supplied 2400 pupils free to encourage their brushing the teeth.

Declaring that use of a rubber cover for the high school wrestling mat would more than pay for itself in preventing infections spreading among the wrestlers, the directors acceded to the request of Vernon Gilmore and Shannon Hogue, coaches, for the purchase of a cover at cost of $100.22 from a large rubber company.

The usual Friday holiday will be observed here following Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays will be from December 23 to January 1, it was announced.

Here Miss Johnson is shown just before she boarded her plane, The Desert Cloud. Although delayed by ill trouble in West Africa, Miss Johnson, who in private life is Mrs. James A. McMillon, bettered by more than 10 hours the 4-day, 17-hour record of her husband for the flight to Cape Town. Map in insert shows the route flown by the intrepid woman, over jungle and desert.

JOB OFFICE AID IS APPEAL TO M'NARY

Appeal was telegraphed to Senator Charles L. McNary in Washington, D. C., to seek continuation of federal appropriations for operation of the Y. M. C. A. Employment bureau here, as a result of a meeting of representatives of the Salem banks, trades and labor council, chamber of commerce, county court, Y. M. C. A., city government and state legislature. C. A. Kells, bureau manager, last week was notified that the federal aid of $100 a month would be discontinued after November 30.

The group were unanimous in the determination that the office should not be closed. The need is great, since the bureau serves most of the territory between Portland and Eugene, and has 3000 persons registered for jobs and nearly 2800 for county and state road work, it was pointed out.

Signing the telegram were Carle Abrams, Frank P. Marshall, Douglas McKay, David E. Byre, J. E. Smith, R. J. Hendricks, Harry N. Crain, Mayor P. M. Gregory, E. F. Slade, C. A. Sprague, and Joseph H. Albert.

COLONEL STAFRIN PASSES AT DALLAS

the national guard here in 1907 and in 1910 made a captain. He was stationed on the Mexican border in 1916 and enlisted in the World war in 1917 as a captain with Company L. He spent a year and a half in France and was stationed at La Havre, Nevers, Limoges, and Gondrecourt. He visited nearly every city in France as an intelligence officer, was also in Italy and was stationed at Coblenz, Germany, and at Strassburg. In 1919 he was commissioned as a colonel. He was a member of the reserve officers' association.

After completing high school Colonel Staftrin entered Bethany college at Lindsburg, Kansas, where he took a business and scientific course for four years. He received his M. S. and B. A. degrees there and later received his Ph. D. degree at a higher institute of pharmacy at Columbus, Ohio.

Colonel Staftrin's father died in 1906 and his mother in 1923. In 1903 he married Miss Minnie Elliott of Dallas. He is survived by his widow; two daughters, Mildred Staftrin and Mrs. Andrew Irwin; three sisters, Mrs. A. B. Dill of Dallas, Mrs. Anna Layher of Colorado, and Mrs. L. A. Brobst of Salem; and three brothers, Alex Staftrin of Yellowstone park; Alex Staftrin of Hastings, Neb.; and Albert Staftrin of Otis, Colo.

Colonel Staftrin was affiliated with the Masons and the Odd Fellows and Al Kader Shrine in Portland. He served as councilman in Dallas and was mayor for two terms beginning in 1923. He was appointed adjutant general when he returned from the war and it was in this capacity that he reorganized the local national guard. He also served as a member of the state legislature in 1917. He was a member of the local chamber of commerce and the Kiwanis. No funeral arrangements have yet been made. It is probable that he will be given either a Masonic or a military funeral.

day morning. There will be Thanksgiving Day programs presented at the grade school and junior high but none at the high school. The second interclass debate will be held Wednesday morning at the high school with the freshmen and sophomores meeting. The winner in this debate will meet the seniors later to decide the school championship.

VETERANS PLAN TO FEED ALL COMERS

Details of the Associated Veterans' ambitious plans for providing all comers with a Thanksgiving day dinner at the Fraternal Temple Thursday from 1 to 3 o'clock p. m. were revealed Tuesday night by the committee in charge of which Claude McKinney is chairman.

The veterans' organizations, which include American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans and Spanish War Veterans, and their auxiliaries, have arranged for Fred O'Neil, who became accustomed to the task of feeding large groups while head cook at Jefferson Barracks, Mo., during the war, to be in general charge, assisted by the American Legion feed committee which includes King Bartlett, Fred Gahleford, Chester Yantis, Harry Plant and Harvey Feller.

"Everything, including the trimmings" is promised by the veterans and there are no strings to their invitation to everybody who happens to be in Salem Thanksgiving day, to attend.

There will also be entertainment, with Bill Brassau in charge of marshaling the talent. The general committee assisting Chairman McKinney includes Chris Floor of the V.F.W., Carle Abrams of the Spanish War Veterans, George Malstrom of the D. A. V. and Dr. V. E. Hoekett, J. T. Delaney, Newell Williams and M. Clifford Moynihan of the American Legion.

right position, with varying results. But last time after Novak had locked his knee with the opposite ankle, and was perched above Jones' shoulders, the old veteran tossed himself backward and crashed to the floor with Novak's back taking the full force of the fall. It was reported that his back was dislocated and he could not return for more. The time was 28:35.

Joe Gardiner, rough customer though he is, won on a foul from "Spike" Ashby when the latter was guilty repeatedly of hitting with closed fist, in the judgment of Chet Willis who served as referee. Gardiner had won the first fall in 13 minutes with a flying tackle and Ashby the second in 7:10 with a double steppover toe hold.

Judge Rand Will Be New Chief of Supreme Court

John L. Rand will become chief justice of the state supreme court January 1, it was announced here Tuesday by Arthur S. Benson, clerk of the court. He will succeed Justice Henry J. Bean. This will be the second time that Rand has served as Chief Justice of the court since he originally was elected to the office of associate justice.

HANZEN WANTS TAB KEPT ON EXPENSES

Appropriations of $230,000 requested for the support of Oregon's state-aided institutions during the next biennium will be disapproved by the state budget department unless legislation is enacted giving the state board of control jurisdiction over the expenditures of these funds, Henry M. Hansen, state budget director, announced definitely Tuesday.

Hansen sent a letter to the board of control indicating how these funds are used, and requesting enactment of legislation that would protect the state in authorizing future appropriations. The proposal of the state budget department was to have been placed before the child welfare commission at a meeting in Portland. The letter prepared by Hansen showed that virtually all of the state-aided institutions are located in Portland. Under the existing laws the child welfare commission supervises the institutions, while the board of control merely audits the accounts and approves the recommendations of the commission. The institutions receive state aid for each child committed, ranging from $16 to $20 per month.

Sussee Bound to Grand Jury Here

J. J. Sussee was bound over to the grand jury yesterday after pleading guilty in justice court to assault and battery charge. He is accused of beating Mart Molson, the incident occurring on the latter's farm on Saturday. Sussee furnished $100 for bail and was released from jail.

STATE BUDGET CUT TO BE 7 MILLIONS

raising one-million revenue on all property in the state as provided before 1931 and recommended by Governor Norblad as a continuing appropriation, this procedure has been abolished and such market road funds as are sent the counties come from the general highway department revenues. There is now talk that the 1933 legislature will cut down or abolish the continuance of these secondary highway, formerly market road, funds to the counties.

3. World war veterans' millage. A contribution by the taxpayers is more than $500,000 annually to the state veterans' loan and bonus fund is stricken from the 1933-1934 budget. It is said that attorneys have approved bonus bond issues for future issuance, knowing this levy has not been made. The state budget department contends replacement of sinking funds in the bonus department by bond sales will obviate this taxpayers' subsidy for several years. Meanwhile the 1933 legislature will consider laws to raise the interest rate on bonus loans from 4 to at least 5 per cent and also to restrict greatly the number of men eligible to these loans. There is talk that laws passed in 1933 may stop all further loans whatever of state funds to veterans. Actual loaning stopped last October when funds ran out.

4. Abolition of departments. Budget Director Hansen has listed 14 departments and types of service which he proposes either to (a) abolish or (b) to make self-sustaining. Under this classification are a number of activities which now receive heavy fees but whose income is not sufficient to pay all expenses and who, therefore, have depended on additional direct-tax revenues. Hansen's dictum to this group is for them to cut down costs or to find new revenues.

Departments and services the 1933-1934 budget either abolishes or makes self-sustaining are:
Public Utilities ..... $ 27,947
Bureau of Labor ..... 24,180
Oregon Humane Society ..... 10,000
State Board of Health ..... 87,023
Oregon State Fair ..... 75,000
Pacific International ..... 75,000
Livestock Show ..... 75,000
Eastern Oregon ..... 10,000
Livestock Show ..... 10,000
County Agricultural ..... 110,598
Fairs ..... 110,598

YAMHILL BOUNDARY BOARD IS UPHELD

The state supreme court Tuesday affirmed the decree of Judge Bagley of the Yamhill county circuit court in a suit brought by Roy E. Willis and others to enjoin the district boundary board of Yamhill county from canvassing the votes cast at an election held there November 2, 1931, and from declaring a group of school districts a union high school district. The lower court held for the boundary board.

The principal question involved in the appeal was the legality of the organization of high school District No. 4, embracing the Amity group of petitions because there was no election held in District No. 4, prior to the circulation and filing of petitions asking for consolidation, showing that the district was in favor of the proposal.

The opinion was written by Justice Campbell.

Merger Non-State Colleges Being Discussed, Says

Consolidation of several independent denominational schools in Oregon may come up for discussion at the adult education conference at Atlantic City next January, Dr. Carl G. Doney of Willamette university said yesterday. He is not certain as yet whether he will attend the conference. Dr. Doney said some schools in Oregon were having great financial difficulties and indicated at least one college president had suggested consolidation as a way out of difficulties.

Willamette university is meeting all general bills and salary payments on time and while its revenue is diminished by endowment income shrinkage the school is in no special financial straits, Dr. Doney said yesterday.
