

BUDGETEERS OF COUNTY STRIKE

Refuse to Include Levy for State Purposes; Face Mandamus Threat

The budget which will be officially published tomorrow makes no provision of general salary reductions although Keith Powell, of Woodburn, chairman of the budget committee, made it plain that at the December 10 meeting he would seek a general reduction. Porter said his group would acquiesce to leaving the salaries as they were in the tentative budget but indicated the farm group would be out en masse at the public meeting when the budget is passed. Legally only the county court votes the budget and then only after 20 days have elapsed from the time the proposed budget is published. M. G. Gunderson of Silverton, another budget committee member, indicated he, too, favored some salary reductions. T. B. Jones of Salem, third member, was non-committal as were the three members of the county court.

Throughout the day, one county official after another appeared before the budgeteers to discuss with them the proposed budget for his or her department. The various items were freely discussed by the budget committee as well as the audience of taxpayers which looked on throughout the day as the budget making proceeded.

Uniformly Mr. Powell asked the officials if they were willing to accept salary reductions and quite generally the replies were that reductions would be accepted if the legislature officially reduced the salaries and if all officers took the same proportion of salary adjustment. Several county officials said they were willing to take pay "cuts" but pleaded with the budget makers to keep up the pay of their clerks who had been underpaid for years, the officials stated. Powell listened to all the arguments, pro and con on the salary matter, but said he felt certain his district was overwhelmingly in favor of salary reductions for all public workers.

Salient decisions made by the budget committee included: Provision for payment of the deputy district attorney's salary entirely out of the general fund, instead of $1200 out of the general fund and $900 out of the prohibition fund as provided heretofore.

Proposed $100,000 fund for roads, ferries and bridges was cut to $90,000.
Sheriff-elect Burk's reduction of meals for prisoners from $5.00 to $4.00 was accepted with the explicit promise made by Burk that meals would be furnished at cost and any residue from the $4000 returned to the general fund.

Maintenance of market roads was set at $40,000. Several of the funds for work outside of cities was placed at $2,700.
Reductions of between $25,000 and $30,000 in the high school tuition and transportation items approved by budget makers due to decreased number of pupils in high schools and lowering of costs due to supreme court decision.

The demands of the Marion County Taxpayers Reduction and Equalization league included a general salary reduction beginning at eight per cent for $30 monthly salaries and increasing one per cent on each $10 of monthly salary received.

In addition to a minimum payment to each worker, the Kellogg organization has arranged a system of bonuses to be paid the saleswomen with the highest records. Mrs. J. T. Delaney, president of the auxiliary, is in charge of the organization's sales forces. Similar campaigns for one day sales have been successfully conducted in other cities of the northwest.

ROTHSCHILD IN NEW ROLE

Although he claims he is an offshoot of the celebrated Rothschild family tree, Lionel Rothschild, slim, dapper and soft-voiced, has no ambition to follow in the footsteps of his distinguished financial relatives, except as far as money enters into his art. It is deplorable that the noxious question of money must enter at all, but then, even a Rothschild must eat, so Lionel charges ten cents a dance for the privilege of tripping the light fantastic with all comers ambitious to acquire the distinction of having stepped a measure with one of Europe's financial royalty. He is at present holding court in a New York dance palace, but he remembers when... If you lead a sympathetic ear as Lionel steers you through the maze of the wait or fox-trot while the band plays "Blue Danube" or "Little White Lies," this wandering child of the Rothschilds will tell you something of his history. How he can trace his lineage back to old man Bauer, who opened a pawn shop in Frankfurt, Germany, and founded the family and fortune that became world-famous. The same Rothschild, Lionel will tell you, comes from the red shield that old Bauer hung over his store—Rothschild being German for red shield. Lionel came to the United States, he says, to make his own way in the world. He worked in his father's iron works in San Francisco, studied at the University of California, and was seeing the country when the slump forced him to go to work—so here he is, working at a dime a dance.

CONGRESS SCANS BUDGET PROPOSAL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—(AP)—Slashed a half billion and more below this year's appropriations, but depending upon taxes and economies which congress has firmly refused to impose, the final budget to be drawn up by the Hoover administration was submitted to the lawmakers today.

To avert a deficit in 1934, the president told congress, it would be necessary to impose a general manufacturers' sales tax of 2 1/2 per cent; cut government salaries 11 per cent more than now; slash compensation and pensions to veterans, and retain the gasoline tax of one cent a gallon.

The present fiscal year, he said, will end with a deficit now estimated at more than $1,140,000,000.

NEXT 'FIRST LADY' AT GRID GAME

Two unbiased spectators who watched the thrilling grid battle between the University of Georgia and Georgia Tech were Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the President-elect, and Governor Richard B. Russell, of Georgia, who are shown in their box during the game. SEA THRUSS GIVEN UP; BACK BROKEN

ASTORIA, Ore., Dec. 7.—(AP)—The freighter Sea Thrush, her back broken by the constant movement of sand and wave against her sides, was abandoned to the way of the sea tonight, and the likelihood appeared that even attempts to have her cargo would be given up.

Since the Shepard line ship, seeking the entrance of the Columbia river in a heavy fog Sunday, grounded on Clatsop spit, strenuous efforts by powerful tugs and coast guard cutters had been made to float her, but the stubborn sands yielded no part of their grip on her.

The Columbia River Salvage company took the ship over today from the underwriters on what was understood to be a 50-50 basis. They had hoped to salvage much of the cargo and equipment. Later today, however, salvage company officials admitted the possibility that no effort will be made to salvage the cargo. Flour, they pointed out, makes up the largest part of the cargo in the holds, which have filled with water since the hull cracked.

GAME PROGRAM IS SHOWING RESULTS

PORTLAND, Dec. 7.—(AP)—The 10-year program of the state game commission is already showing results, a report of the first year's activities released here today by Ernest L. Crockett, educational director of the commission, indicates.

More and better fish were liberated in Oregon streams and lakes; more China pheasants and other game birds were stocked in the woods and fields, the report states, despite a decrease in annual revenues from the sale of hunting and fishing licenses.

Liberation of 23,668,000 trout and other game fish, and the salvaging of 6,000,000 fish from sloughs and irrigation ditches were cited in the report, and 30,000 game birds were liberated.

The commission and cooperative agencies spent about $1,000,000 between October 1, 1931 and October 1, 1932, in promotion of the scientific management of fish and game resources.

Fraternity Idea To Dodge Taxes Is Not Favored

EUGENE, Ore., Dec. 7.—(AP)—E. C. Sammons, chairman of the finance committee of the state board of higher education, is opposed to proposals to make fraternity and sorority property exempt from taxation, he stated in a letter to County Assessor Ben F. Keeney today.

Sammons said fraternities have considered deeding their property to the state board of higher education and obtaining long-term leases from the board. This would make the property state-owned and tax-exempt. Another movement reported is to obtain legislation to exempt sorority and fraternity property.
