Branch Stores

"You Can Have Them"

I'm Getting Rid of Mine Today!

I am Discontinuing My Eugene Store Today!!

TODAY AT 9 A. M .- I WILL START A SALE TO LIQUIDATE: (FIRST) ALL EUGENE STORE MERCHANDISE. (SECOND) 50% OF MY SALEM STORE STOCK. THIS SALE WILL BE HELD AT MY SALEM STORE, 279 NORTH COMMERCIAL STREET.

My secret ambition to play Hamlet has ruined the act of many a good buck and wing dancer. But, after all, the desire to step out of character is a Human Failing. I know. I tried it. Back in booming 1929, I cherished the idea of being a chain store operator. I believed—as did other merchants-that by establishing branch stores in populous cities, I could increase my business, reduce my costs and thereby improve my values. I tried it. I opened Branch stores. I increased my stocks. I got the increase in business all right. In fact I transsacted a volume big enough to have satisfied any merchant. But the costs went up instead of down. When the increased costs reached the point where they threatened to undermine the basic principle of this business-which is to sell at the smallest margin possibledecided to return to my original role-Fast. This decision involves two Drastic Actions.

I am discontinuing my Eugene store Today! I am reducing my Salem stock
