HANDEL ORATORIO SCHEDULED SUNDAY

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Dec. 7. — (Special) — The third annual presentation of Handel's "Messiah" will be given at McArthur Court in Eugene at 3 p. m. Sunday, December 11. It is announced here today.

This oratorio is presented each year by the University Polyphonic choir of 150 voices and by the 66-piece University Symphony orchestra. Arthur Boardman will direct the production, which last year attracted music lovers from Salem and other cities.

The Handel oratorio, suited in theme and music to the Christmas season, is traditionally given on the last Sunday of the fall semester. It will be the closing event of the university's fall term music program, since final examinations begin Monday.

Soloists this year are Grace Burnett, soprano; Rose Thomas, contralto; Victor Bryant, tenor, and Gifford Nash, basso. All are advanced students in the university music school. A year ago Nancy Thilsen of Salem, now voice instructor at Albany college, was the soprano soloist.

DEFENSE SIDE OF POLK CASE GIVEN

Oren Polk, accused of contributing to delinquency of a minor, was bound over to the grand jury yesterday following completion of hearing in justice court. Polk made a statement of his position, and character witnesses in his behalf were produced.

Charges against Polk were made by father of a 14-year-old girl, who testified earlier in the week that Polk gave her intoxicating liquor and kept her at night in a room at a local theatre, where he was formerly employed.

Polk yesterday told his story: Bidding good night to a group of friends at a downtown restaurant at 1:50 a. m., Polk started home when he encountered the girl involved in the case. She "appeared to be under influence of an intoxicant," so Polk, who had never seen her before, took her to a theatre and told her she could sleep there for the night, since there had apparently been trouble at home.

Defendant said he immediately left the building, went to another theatre and remained there until 7 a. m., when he returned and sent the girl on her way.

Polk is in the county jail.

More than thirty million pounds of tobacco have been sold at the Greenville, N. C., market this year.

Adams is Elected National Head of Vocational Work

O. D. Adams, director of state vocational education, has been elected president of the association of national directors of vocational education, he was advised by telegram yesterday. The national association is now holding its annual convention in Kansas City.

Mr. Adams is in charge of the agriculture, trades and industries and home economics courses conducted by the public schools for both day pupils and adults.

Bids on Hospital Barn Being Taken

Bids will be received by the state board of control up to December 20, for the construction of a new barn at the Oregon state hospital farm. The barn will replace a structure previously destroyed by fire, and will cost approximately $7000.

Plans will be prepared by Professor W. J. Gilmore of the state college engineering department.

Government Interest Urged—Government is not a pest, a blight nor merely a necessary social evil," declared Beatrice Walton Sackett, secretary to the governor, in an address to students at Willamette university Wednesday. "The tendency of many people to consider government as weak and contemptible will only have the effect of increasing its cost and inefficiency," she said. Mrs. Sackett, who spoke as the representative of Governor Julius Meier, urged students to take an active intelligent and loyal interest in government, and work for its improvement.

MOORE ELECTED BY COMMUNITY CLUBS

E. L. Moore, of Hayesville was elected president of the Marion county federated community clubs at a meeting here Tuesday night, to succeed Roy Rice, of Roberts. Other officers chosen are Mabel Tucker, Turner, vice-president, and Mrs. Roy Rice Roberts, secretary. F. Howard Zinser is the retiring secretary.

The members voted in a plan whereby the federation will have three members elected from each club. The work of the federation will be extended, it was decided, to include discussion and action on topics of general public interest. Meetings will be held in the various communities throughout the winter.

Many of the affiliated clubs are entering the talent contest being sponsored by the federation under leadership of University of Oregon professors. Among the 13 divisions of the contest, from which each club may choose those it desires, are: Beautification of communities, improvement of clubhouse grounds, choral and glee club work, orchestras and bands, club attendance and improvement of club programs.

Senior Students Enjoy Broadcast Assembly Stunts

Senior students at the Salem high school enjoyed a lively entertainment at the senior assembly during the activity period yesterday. A radio station idea was carried out with several musical numbers broadcast.

Those contributing to the program were Marion Draper's orchestra, George Cannady, Willamette student, as soloist, Barbara Barnes, xylophone player, and a group of Willamette students who appeared to advertise the "Beard Pollen," to be put on Friday night.

The San Francisco office of the company wrote the utilities commissioner, asking if a detailed breakdown of the cost of service to each 1000 customers was required. The utilities commissioner will probably answer in the negative. One delay of 60 days has already been granted the company. The state's investigation is being made preliminary to a decision of whether or not water rates here shall be reduced.

Water Company's Officers Ask for More Information

Request for more information was made yesterday by the Oregon-Washington Water Service company to the public utilities commissioner here, the request coming in connection with the detailed report on valuation which was ordered by December 10, 1932.

We Have Just Completed Three Big Deals in Ladies' Silk Hose, Leather Handbags and Men's Sox

Last year we were very fortunate in our buying and gave the greatest values offered in Salem and at that time we were sure we would never be able to approach either the values or our tremendous sales of the month of December. This year after holding out with the manufacturers to the last minute they have come to our terms and we have confirmed orders by wire that will give us the opportunity to offer even greater values than in our record breaking season of 1931.

SCOUTS TO COLLECT SUPPLY OF CLOTHES

Clothes and shoes—old or new, clean or soiled, large size or small—it matters not their condition, will be collected for Community Service's relief work Saturday, December 17, in a city-wide canvass in which more than 100 Boy Scouts will take part. O. P. West, scout executive, yesterday urged townspeople to plan to make the donations on that day since a scout will call at every home asking for the gifts.

In addition to clothing or shoes, canned or bulk foods will be very acceptable. The clothes as well as the food will all go to the Community Service warehouse on North Commercial street for distribution this winter.

Money provided from the Community Service funds and the county court's relief funds is providing bulk foods for relief work but there is a shortage of clothes for needy people. Through the cooperation of local laundries, Community Service has arranged that the clothes all be cleaned or laundered gratuitously.

West said the Boy Scouts would renew their drive during the Christmas holidays, going out daily from Tuesday, December 27, to Saturday, December 31.

Miss Long Tells Rotarians State Library Service

Miss Harriet C. Long, state librarian, spoke very interestingly before Salem Rotarians yesterday noon outlining the work of the library. With a collection of 320,000 books and pamphlets the library serves more people of more ages and in more places than any other single state institution, in her opinion. Reading from current letters received, she cited requests for matter dealing with gold mining, working with myrtlewood, trapping, dancing the Highland fling, tanning, etc., typical of the days' variety of requests from individuals.

In addition the library serves other libraries over the state, assembles material for state officials and sends out in traveling libraries with collections of 50 books in each to all parts of the state.

New Attorney to Handle Criminal Cases, Reported

Disposition of a number of criminal cases following indictments by the grand jury of Marion county will probably wait until a new district attorney takes office. It was announced yesterday by John H. Carson, incumbent. He explained that the cases could hardly be completed during this month. Included in the major cases yet undisposed of are charges against Charles Archer, former warehouse keeper here, Rhea Luper, one-time state engineer, and Glesey and Schwab, proprietors of the Aurora State bank and the Willamette Valley Mortgage company.

The grand jury here is investigating alleged delay in the Luper case. It is scheduled to resume its deliberations Friday at 10 a. m. and a report may be made this week.
