Yo-Yo Contestants Get Break to Put In More Practice

Independence, Dec. 21.—The Yo-Yo contest which is being sponsored by W. H. Craven and Son store has been postponed from December 16 to January 5 due to the illness and the vacation. The contest will be held in the Independence high school gym and is open to both boys and girls. Prizes have been offered and judges will be Professor Paul Robinson, Coach Loren Mort and R. W. Craven.

Jones, have arranged a program which includes four playlets:

"Santa the Third," by the lower grades, and "Mother Baker's Christmas Play," "Munch Christmas," and "Christmas at Finnegan's Flats," all by the upper room.

There will be a pantomime, "Silent Night," besides numerous readings and songs.

CLOVERDALE, Dec. 21.—A group from here attended the Christmas program at the Crawford schoolhouse, Friday night, which was under the direction of the teacher, Mrs. Mearle Hedges, whose home is in this district. The 12 windows were decorated with small trees fashioned by the children, and a large poster, 3x7 feet, showed the three wise men on their camels approaching the city led by the star which shone over Bethlehem.

Christmas songs, plays and readings were included in the program, with treats furnished by the patrons of the district and the teacher. This school has 25 enrolled in all eight grades, and with none of the pupils over 12 years old.

WOODBURN, Dec. 21.—The sophomores at Woodburn high school are to give the Christmas program at the school Friday afternoon. Miss Alma Taylor and T. P. Otto are the class advisors.
