OREGON UNANIMOUS FOR F. ROOSEVELT

Electors go Through Form Of Balloting Here on Wednesday

Oregon yesterday gave a unanimous ballot to Franklin D. Roosevelt as next president of the United States.

And believe it, Mr. Ripley, this isn't taken from the "Yesterdays" column of The Statesman.

It was not until Wednesday noon, January 4, 1933, that the five duly qualified electors gathered in Salem and marked their official ballots for the people's choice.

Of course two months ago a majority of 75,000 voters elected these electors and being democrats their choice of Roosevelt was certain.

Electors who cast their votes for president Wednesday included Robert A. Miller, Multnomah county; Amanda J. Hart, Clackamas; E. T. Hedlund, Multnomah; Will H. Peterson, Umatilla and R. E. Ripley, Polk.

The voters were cast both for the democratic presidential and vice-presidential nominees.

One of the certificates will go to the president of the United States senate, two to the federal department of state, one to the United States district court in Portland, and two will be filed in the state department here.

VETERAN STAR OF METROPOLITAN TO RETIRE

Choosing the eve of his 67th birthday to take his last curtain call, Antonio Scotti will say farewell to the Metropolitan Opera on January 20 after thirty-three years as its leading baritone. In announcing his impending retirement, Scotti confessed that he was saddened at the thought of leaving the historic temple of music that holds so many pleasant memories, but at the age of 67 it is time to "give the young people a chance." The veteran singer, whose organ-like voice has resounded in the Metropolitan every season since 1899, is one of opera's most colorful links with its glamorous past. He knew intimately and was friendly with the greatest of the great in the opera world. Among his close friends were the wonder-singers, Jean and Edouard de Reszke, Nordica, Bennoch, Milka Ternoni and Enrico Caruso. Of all great stage friendships, that between Scotti and Caruso is said to have been the greatest. They fought their way up the opera ladder together in Italy and later, when both had achieved success in New York, they were inseparable companions. Scotti was with Caruso when the great tenor breathed his last. A native of Naples, the retiring singer plans to return there after his farewell New York appearance.

COUNTY SHARE IN SALES TAX URGED

Senator William F. Woodward talked to Rotarians Wednesday noon on "Some of the Problems Which Face Us." Picking up the state budget the senator referred to the problems of state financing.

How much of a deficit is there? he said the legislature wanted to find out. Some cuts may be too deep in the proposed budget, others not enough. The ways and means committee of which he is vice-chairman will have heavy duties during the coming weeks.

"We must pull the state out of the mire," the senator declared, though he said individuals facing the same problems had nothing to do but retrench.

Senator Woodward advanced the suggestion that counties share in the proceeds of sales taxes which may be imposed. He concluded with citations of importations of foreign products, which he felt menaced the employment of labor in this country, and suggested labeling of goods imported from abroad and used in this county.

A number of legislators who are Rotarians attended the luncheon.

Flurries of Snow Open New Year at Falls City Area

FALLS CITY, Jan. 4.—January came in with a good heavy downpour. Heavy rains fell all day Sunday with little flurries of snow at intervals. The steady downpour has raised all the streams and some sidewalks are under water. On January 14 last year the town had six inches of snow.

The passing of 1932 and the coming in of 1933 was celebrated very quietly and with much less festivity than heretofore. The dance given in the I. O. O. F. hall drew a large crowd and a number of people attended watch parties at various homes. At the stroke of 12 just the ringing of bells was heard; no guns were fired or loud reports heard for 1932 proved to be hard a year to waste ammunition in celebrating its finish.

Professor and Mrs. W. E. Buell of Springfield, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Alley of Moro visited at the home of Mrs. Carletha Buell and the N. C. Ferguson home here the last of the week.

The primary instructor of the grade school, Mrs. Hazel Gronwald and daughter Marilyn, returned home Sunday after spending the holidays at The Dalles.
