WILLAMETTE OFFERS RECITAL, LECTURE

Prof. Clark to Speak and Prof. Roberts to Play On Chapel Organ

Two interesting personalities will be presented to the people of Salem on the occasion of the first of a series of joint lectures and organ recitals being sponsored tonight in the auditorium in Waller Hall by the faculty of Willamette university.

Prof. Herman Clark of the department of natural sciences will lecture upon the subject "Oregon in the Geological Story" at 8:15 while Professor T. S. Roberts will give a half-hour of organ music immediately preceding.

Prof. Clark is a native son of Oregon having been born in eastern Oregon. He graduated from Willamette university and took his master's degree also from the local institution. Subsequently he studied geology under the celebrated Dr. Schaeffer of Vienna and has done considerable graduate work at the University of California and at the University of Washington. Geology has been his hobby but few of his friends know of his splendid collection of hundreds of geological specimens. As a practical paleontologist, he has to his credit the discovery of a shell-fish fossil found in the shale of the Nehalem river, of which only two fragmentary specimens had been discovered previously. Last summer he discovered near Lebanon the fossil of a mammoth which was brought to the museum at Willamette university.

Prof. Roberts, known as "Tommy" to his host of friends in Salem and Oregon, has established himself as one of the leading organists of the Pacific coast and has received notice by the leading musical periodicals of the country. Mr. Roberts is enthusiastic over the Willamette university organ which was thoroughly renovated and modernized last year and is promising his "fans" a varied and colorful program.

The announcement of the series of lectures and organ recitals which are free to the public has aroused considerable interest and appreciation in the community and the committee on arrangements is expecting a splendid audience to be present at the first of the series.

DAMAGES AWARDED IN ACCIDENT CASE

A verdict for the plaintiff in sum of $1625 was returned yesterday afternoon by the jury which heard the suit of Philip Berbrick against Oscar and Thomas L. Burns. The case occupied about a day before Judge L. H. McMahan.

Berbrick was suing for $10,000 damages as result of serious injuries sustained last October 26 when defendants' car struck him while he was walking along the highway in the north end of the county. He sustained a broken leg and head injuries.

In the suit, defendants admitted liability, which left the jury only question of arriving at damages. A. J. Barham was foreman of the jury.

Another $10,000 damage action, that of Monner vs. Starker, will go to trial this morning.

BERRY PRODUCERS FORM ASSOCIATION

SILVERTON HILLS, Jan. 10—The "Silverton Hills Berry Growers' association" was organized today at a meeting of strawberry producers at the Charles Alexander home here. Milton Knauf was elected president, Charles Janik secretary. Growers controlling 135 acres signed up for membership and this acreage may be doubled.

Pooling the strawberry crop of the members is proposed, and a committee to interview canners and find out what marketing arrangements are possible, was appointed. It includes Martin Peterson, John Kinsly and Charles Alexander.

Damage from the recent cold weather was discussed and it was reported that the Etterburgs were considerably damaged but that the Marshalls and the new Corvallis variety withstood the cold satisfactorily.

DENY NEW HEARING ON CHARLESWORTH

The state supreme court Tuesday denied a petition for a rehearing of the case involving John A. Charlesworth, whose conviction on a charge of selling securities without a permit, was reversed two weeks ago. Charlesworth was convicted in the Multnomah county circuit court and sentenced to serve a term of two years in the state penitentiary.

"There is no disposition to dispose of this case on what counsel for the state designates a 'hairsplitting technicality'", Justice Belt said in his opinion denying the petition for a rehearing.

"The reversal of the judgment of conviction was based upon the failure of the state to comply with the statute relative to the suspension or revocation of the permit. If to insist upon obedience to wholesome and salutary provisions of the law is technical, the writer pleads guilty".

CASE DISMISSED

Municipal Judge Mark Poulsen has dismissed the case of Allen Hutchins, 2344 Maple avenue, truck driver whom city police arrested Saturday on a charge of speeding across the State and Commercial street intersection.

ABRAMS TO ADDRESS RESERVE OFFICERS

Col. Carle Abrams is scheduled to take time off from his duties as a legislator Wednesday evening to become an instructor for the Marion-Polk chapter of the Officers Reserve corps. Colonel Abrams, the ranking reserve officer in the district, will take charge of the class of reserve officers at their meeting to be held at the Spa restaurant at six o'clock tonight and will lecture upon "Combat Orders."

"The subject matter of this lecture is given especially for those officers of branches of the service other than the infantry," Colonel Abrams announced today. "Many of the officers have completed the school on map problems and by the completion of the work on combat orders, they will obtain the desired certificate and credits." Abrams said.

There are approximately 80 officers living in the Marion-Polk reserve area and twice each month during the winter months, they convene for a dinner and instruction school. The work is carried on by the war department, through competent instructors under regular army supervision, and the officers are given advances in grade according to their accomplishments.

The meeting this evening is the opening session of the 1933 school year and eligible reserve officers are urged to attend by Col. Abrams.

Gambling Den Is Unearthed; Leaders Eyed

SILVERTON, Jan. 10 — Local police early Sunday morning raided a basement room under the Gem theatre building, and surprised a group at a game of poker. Those involved are Monte Leonard, Ralph Staggs and Harold Tegland, and two onlookers, Tom Wills of Mt. Angel and Jack Earlywine.

The underground "den", apparently flourishing for several weeks, had wire connections with a sandwich shop, from where light flashes signalled approach of persons hostile to the little fleecing game. An elderly man is said to have lost a small fortune.

The place has been closed on grounds that it is a fire hazard.

Water Company Is Given Until 18th to Reply

Time for filing the reply brief of the Oregon-Washington Water Service company to the city's brief as appellant has been extended to January 18 by the state supreme court. Walter E. Keyes, counsel for the respondent, said yesterday the brief would be ready by that time.

The water company contends that the city's suit for a declaratory judgment on the December 15, 1931, character amendment is improper and that the case must be placed at issue in federal court in Portland. The suit involves a possible issue of $2,500,000 of water bonds with which Salem as a city planned to buy or build and extend a water system to the little north fork of the North Santiam river.

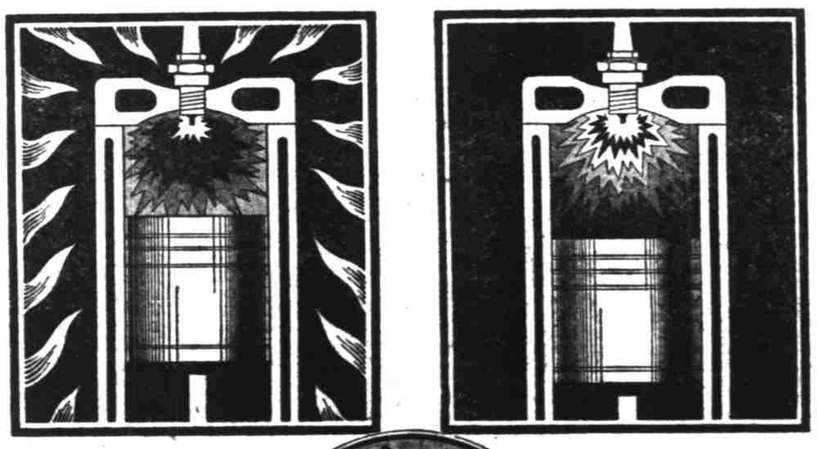
Increased anti-knock of 76

Harnesses waste heat

Turns it into power!

189 Cubic Centimeters natural stabilized anti-knock fractions per gallon added to make 76 greatest gasoline value ever offered.



LEFT—Wasted heat causes ordinary gasoline to give less POWER.

RIGHT—Heat is turned into POWER by high anti-knock rating of 76 because of more efficient combustion. You'll notice the difference, especially on hills.

Chart shows comparison of anti-knock rating of western gasolines January 1933

FROM ALL OVER THE WEST are pouring in enthusiastic endorsements of the Union Oil Company's announcement of an even higher anti-knock NON-PREMIUM gasoline.

The natural stabilized anti-knock fractions of 76 gasoline have been increased 189 cubic centimeters per gallon more than the best previous non-premium motor fuel—retaining definitely the leadership of 76 as the finest anti-knock octane non-premium gasoline ever offered.

4 Ways You Gain

The new improvements of Union 76 not only STOP KNOCKS and smooth out motor operation, but increase POWER through decreased engine temperatures and the harnessing of more waste heat. You can tell the difference, particularly on hills.

The new improvements also make 76 the most ECONOMICAL gasoline you can buy. You save eventually on repair bills because 76 stops the knocks (audible and inaudible) that damage wrist pins, valves, connecting rod bearings, and other engine parts.

And added MILEAGE is secured in direct ratio to the waste heat turned into power.

Change TODAY!

Selling for NO EXTRA COST, 76 is today's greatest gasoline value.

Why not try a tankful, NOW. Be sure to test it on a hill. Then see for yourself why hundreds of thousands of motorists are CHANGING TO 76.
