

Salem Grabs Early Lead to Defeat Eugene High 31 to 27

RED AND BLACK GAINING SPEED

Fast Break Puzzles Kramer Squad at First; Morley Makes Most Points

An early seven-point lead, acquired before the visitors figured out a way to cope with that galloping fast-break offense, was the principal factor in Salem high school's basketball victory over Eugene high, 31 to 27, on the Salem high floor Wednesday night.

Fritz Kramer's squad held the red and black a little more than even after Hollis Huntington's boys had acquired that 9-2 lead, and at one time cut it down to two points, shortly before the close of the first half, which ended 13-9. Eugene might have been able to reverse the result in its home floor, but the fact that Salem won at all, is highly promising for the success this season of the rapidly improving local team.

The game was marked by a notable dearth of fouls, Salem committing only two in the first half, and by the contrast between the two styles of play. Salem working always for the long dash to outside its opponents which has marked Huntington-coached teams for years, while Eugene soberly heaved the oval around in a percentage fashion.

However, with Little Mercer feeding, the visitors were alert to every opening, and the veteran Northam excelled in one-handed shots from back of the foul line, piling up a total of 12 points. Runlett, center, also proved an uncanny marksman. None of Salem's men stood out in this game though Morley popped in 11 points, mostly by leading the fast break with a speed remarkable for his size. Engle's height is proving a big help in retrieving the ball under the enemy basket.

Salem was greatly handicapped, especially in the first half, by consistent loss of the tipoff, but between halves Huntington apparently told the boys what to do about it and they got the oval, no matter how the tipoff went, their share of the time in each half.

Gomez Thinks Pay Advance Not Big Enough; Earnshaw Cut 75 Per Cent, to Quit

By ALAN GOULD
NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—(AP)—While Babe Ruth was still sputtering today about the ingratitude of the Yankees in asking him to take a $25,000 salary cut, Charles "Lefty" Gomez added to the gawky of the payroll situation by returning his contract, unsigned, because he didn't think the increase offered him by the world champions for 1933 was quite enough.

Gomez, Secretary Ed Barrow disclosed, was one of two Yankees, both pitchers, conceded a salary boost for the coming season. The other is Johnny Allen. The southpaw star won 24 games and lost 7 last year. Allen, a freshman sensation, showed 17 victories and only 4 defeats. Charles "Red" Ruffing, who was not offered a raise, topped both his team mates in pitching effectiveness, in which he was second only to Bob Grove.

"Gomez came in to talk the matter over," said Barrow. "He doesn't think an advance of $25,000 is a big enough raise in recognition of his work. We haven't reached an agreement yet, but there is not much difference between us. I do not think we will have any real trouble."

It is believed Gomez received $11,000 last season and was offered $12,000 for 1933. As for Lou Gehrig, the junior member of the firm of Yankee home run holdouts, Barrow is optimistic. The first baseman will drop around soon for a friendly deal that will lead to quick adjustment of terms for 1933.

Whereas Ruth has protested a one-third slash, from $75,000 to $50,000, the speculation is that Gehrig has been asked to take only a $2,500 reduction, from $27,500 to $25,000. Gehrig's youth and added durability make him less a financial risk for the world champions than the aging but still spectacular Bambino.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The Examiner said tonight that George Earnshaw, ace pitcher of the Philadelphia Athletics, has written a letter to a Los Angeles friend saying he is about to quit the team because of a 75 per cent salary cut for 1933.

COLUMBIA NEXT BEARCATS' FOE

Irish Look Strong With Win Over Linfield and Even Break With Pacific

Safely past its first two conference clashes, the Willamette university basketball team will take a brief respite from games that count in the unofficial standings, and at the same time engage worthy competition, by playing Columbia university of Portland, in a home-and-home series this week end. The Friday game will be in Portland and the Saturday night clash on the home floor.

Columbia defeated Linfield and broke even with Pacific in recent games, and is therefore in a favorable position with respect to the Bearcats, who encountered a lot of trouble in winning from both of those schools. The Irish defeated Linfield 43 to 36, rather more decisively than did the Methodists, on Linfield's floor.

Rossi, forward, and Piskol, guard, have been outstanding scorers for the Cliffdwellers, though McCarthy, at forward, has not been far behind. Merle Nehl, former Woodburn boy who has been an outstanding grider at Columbia for several seasons, is the other guard and Meyertholen starts at center.

The Bearcats exhibited a lot of spirit in the latter part of the Pacific game, and fans here are hoping that it wasn't just a momentary spurt but signified that the team had "arrived."

CURT COMMENTS

There will not be the usual congestion of basketball traffic in Salem Friday night of this week, if our records of the schedules are correct. Willamette goes to Portland to play Columbia, Salem high goes to Corvallis to play the Rockies and Fairleigh goes to Scotts Mills. Fans who have an insatiable habit of attending basketball games Friday nights, may follow one of those teams or attend the Church league contests, which are faster than most people realize who have never seen them.

There was some booing at the Willamette-Pacific game Tuesday night. We agreed with the fans about some of the decisions, but that doesn't alter the fact that booing makes a bad impression—and keeping it up while a free throw is being made by the opposition is still worse, and incalculable, especially for a university crowd.

A Portland basketball team walked off the floor at Dallas after a foul was called in the closing minutes of a game, with the score close, Tuesday night. We do not know the official; we have been told he is impartial, and that the trouble in this game, together with some less serious bickering in other games, has been due almost entirely to the fact that he is a Dallas man and under suspicion by the visiting teams.

In a preliminary game at Bethel, the Amity Smith Hughes team defeated the Bethel Grade school 18 to 15. Independence Town team won its game against Falls City Town team Monday night, 53 to 27. Independence was ahead continually throughout the game.

SOUTHERN NORMAL TO BATTLE WOLVES

MONMOUTH, Jan. 18.—Southern Oregon Normal Sons will tangle with the Wolves on the local high school court Thursday night at 8 o'clock. A preliminary game at 7 o'clock will be between the Sons reserves and the Wolves reserves.

The sons have one of the strongest teams in the state, defeating Oregon three games in a row. These lads are all huskies, standing six feet to six feet eight inches tall, and are a foxy bunch of players. They are coached by Howard Hobson, formerly of Portland.

Friday night these two teams will tangle again with the Wolves, on the Independence high court.

SALEM B HOOPERS WIN OVER EUGENE

Basketball fans who went to the Salem high gym early Wednesday night hoping for a lesson in how the game ought to be played, by a bevy of coaches and other members of the high school faculty, were disappointed, from that standpoint, when it developed that Eugene high had brought along a second team to play the Salem B squad.

However, the preliminary turned out to be exciting with the Salem boys winning 33 to 27, almost the same score by which the "varsity" won later. Salem took a big lead early in the game and it was 21 to 14 at half time, but Eugene came closer in the second half.
