nowhere, is trend of the resolution idea.
Creation of a "cold storage" committee in which to freeze up any bills that may be introduced relative to the governor-treasurer dissonance is another resolution proposal. Spite bills would automatically expire in the cold committee.
Battle lines also are drawn around an entirely different issue, one of the Spaulding bills now before the senate. A line-up of legislators and the League of Oregon Cities has consolidated against the Marion senator's desire to prevent the highway commission from aiding in construction and maintenance of highway through cities.
Standardize County Salaries, Ryan Plan
A measure that Rep. Donald Ryan, former Salem high ace debater, hopes to shoot in Monday would standardize salaries of all county officials according to area, population, assessed value or some other measuring stick of the amount of work and responsibility expected of officials.
Two consolidation bills being pushed for early reading have powerful support. One by Dr. F. H. Danmarch, Multnomah representative, proposes consolidation of the state's many medical and examining boards into a single department of health.
The ways and means committee suggestion for combination of the corporation, banking and insurance departments into a single state commission of finance headed by a chief drawing $5000 yearly, is expected in before the first half of the 40-day regular session is past.
Railroad and Truck Owners Sparring
Railroads and truck owners are squaring off for their second round. The recently introduced Lynch bill providing for taxing of highway carriers on a ton-mile basis is favored by the rail interests. It is estimated to be good for $500,000 added annual revenue.
Truckmen plan to introduce Monday a counter proposal that would tax highway freighters on a gross receipts basis. Under it revenues would continue at approximately the $1,250,000 now received.
Action is expected on the urgent matter of relief. Proposals to date are few. One bill to create a commission for "self-help for unemployed" is in the senate. Another, submitted by Spaulding,

This legal point arose over testimony of Mrs. Ethel Bewley, Detroit woman who was on the stand at the close of Friday, and who admitted on cross examination that she had gone around with Major Baughn, son of the defendant. She said she was divorced from her second husband. She said she was not unfriendly to Robnett.
Defense, through testimony of both Mrs. Bewley and Major Baughn, attempted to impeach testimony of Leonard Noe, occupant of the Robnett home, and who is supposed to have talked with Mrs. Bewley, Major Baughn and others at the Bewley home several days after the knife attack.

cheap water power for the country through government operation of hydro-electric plants. At Muscle Shoals with President-Elect Franklin D. Roosevelt he looked forward hopefully to the enactment of his bill to put that great enterprise in operation once again, under government direction.
Twice congress has passed it, but the vetoes of republican presidents, Coolidge and Hoover, killed it.
The "lame duck" amendment was brought to the verge of passage by the legislators of Idaho and New Mexico, both of which cited today. Seventeen states ratified last year before the legislators adjourned for the summer political campaigns. All the rest of the 35 on record have acted since the assemblies resumed their sessions this month.

Checker Match Ends In Draw, Silverton

SILVERTON, Jan. 21—The second setting of the ten-game checker match of William Fry, undisputed champion of the state, and George Anderson, defender of the Silverton championship, resulted in a draw when the four games were completed. M. C. Beyers of Mount Angel, referee, decreed that the match should be finished by playing off three games at each setting, the final game to be played January 24.

Maybe It Was Just Thoughts of Spring

SILVERTON, Jan. 21—A Southern Pacific engine decided to take to the byways Thursday afternoon at Silverton while it was switching. A wrecking crew came in Friday and returned it to its proper sphere. No reason was given here for the action of the engine.

Large Group Enjoys Club's Hospitality

SILVERTON HILLS, Jan. 21—The Silverton Hills community club hall was well filled Thursday night when its members were hosts to a group of friends from Silverton as well as members from this community. Rudd Benton's old time orchestra from Silverton furnished the music. Mrs. Benton served the coffee.

BUDGET CUTS BEING STRONGLY OPPOSED

Premium Fund is Wanted; Portlanders to Protest; Questions are Many

Opposition to a number of budget appropriation eliminations was strongly evident at the capitol yesterday. Meanwhile the committee was continuing in its task of cost cutting and fund shifting in its effort to achieve at least a near balance in state finances for the biennium.
Farmers and livestock raisers particularly are opposed to the elimination of the biennial appropriations of $75,000 for the state fair and livestock show. Previous legislatures approved these appropriations with the understanding they would be used for the payment of premiums, and that no part of the money would be utilized in defraying operating costs. The argument was advanced that the elimination of these appropriations would make it impossible for either activity to function during the next two years.
Groups of Portland citizens will appear before the ways and means committee and demand reinstatement of the appropriations for the state board of health and the healthship Oregon commission. Hansen recommended that these activities be made self-supporting.
The ways and means committee also was expected to adopt a report recommending that all self-sustaining state functions be compelled to appear before the legislature and justify biennial expenditures. Most of these activities are supported by fees and officials said their expenditures had been restricted only by the amount of their revenue.
Investigations have indicated that no material reductions will be possible in the budgets for the operation of the Oregon state penitentiary and other state institutions. Whether the ways and means committee will make any recommendation looking to the abolition of one or more of the state normal schools probably will be determined early next week.
A definite decision also will be reached next week as to whether it would be feasible to divert 25 per cent of the millage taxes for higher educational institutions to the general fund. Members of the ways and means committee said such a law would return to the general fund approximately $500,000 during the biennium.

Skyline Trail Completion is Due This Year

The long-awaited completion of the Skyline trail from Crater lake to Mt. Hood through the Cascade mountains will transpire this year, F. W. Cleator, national forest recreation engineer, reported while attending a conference here last night. The worst section of the route, over the lava cap in the McKenzie region, was finished last summer.
The trail will be 250 miles long.

ROOSEVELT LAUDS 'SHOALS' PROGRAM

EN ROUTE WITH PRESIDENT-ELECT ROOSEVELT TO WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Jan. 21—(AP)—Bright hopes for a future Tennessee river valley were held out today by President-Elect Roosevelt as he surveyed the idle $150,000,000 war-time power and nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals, Ala.
Crossing the mile-long boulevard of Wilson dam, 137 feet above the Tennessee river bed, Mr. Roosevelt at Florence told the cheering citizenship "I hope to come back again and find all the great power possibilities of this valley used to the utmost."
The party stopped on the bluff opposite the dam and there the gray-haired Senator Norris of Nebraska, leader of the unsuccessful fight in the Coolidge and Hoover administrations for government operation of the property, stood by the president-elect.

Hughes, O'Dell Get Two Years For Burglaries

Frank Hughes and Anton O'Dell, arrested six days after they stole a quantity of goods from the R. J. and E. D. Philippi store at Mehama, were arraigned before Judge L. H. McMahan yesterday and given two years each in the state penitentiary. They were sent up immediately.
The charges were burglary in the night in each case.
