FRUIT DAMAGE MAY BE 25-50 PER CENT

PORTLAND, Ore.—(AP)—Prospects for the coming season's fruit crop in the Pacific northwest do not appear to be encouraging, judging from surveys recently made.

Some estimates range as high as 50 per cent, though these are confined to certain localities. Some spots, particularly in the strawberry areas, show practically complete loss. Raspberries, also, appear to have suffered heavily. No estimate has yet been made of the damage to loganberries.

Record of Events Crowd Calendar of Week With Delightful Variety for All Social Flares

Visiting Women Asked to Join With Townswomen in Club and Social Meetings so Numerous as to Leave Little Time for Ennui

A PERSPECTIVE view of the week's events leads to the conclusion that there will be no time to wonder what can next be done to cure ennui, but there may be a wall for "more time" to get every thing done that is tempting with enticing invitation.

Of course there are always the numerous little informal and unscheduled social events which "chink" in the small hours in between the big ones, and of these there will be plenty this week.

A quick glance of things not to miss will begin with the broadcast this afternoon at 3 o'clock when Miss Frances Virginia Melton and Prof. William Wallace Graham present a Bach and Beethoven program over KGW.

Monday many of Salem's garden enthusiasts and no doubt visiting gardeners here during the legislature will join other gardeners from over the state at the banquet which will mark the council meeting for the Oregon Council for Protection of Roadside Beauty. This will be held at 12 o'clock in the Marion hotel. Reservations are to be made with Mrs. Myron Van Eaton.
