CLARK GABLE COMES TO ELSINORE TODAY

'No Man of Her Own' Brings Dorothy Mackaill and Carole Lombard

"No Man of Her Own," a dramatic story of a gambler and his women, starring Clark Gable and featuring Carole Lombard and Dorothy Mackaill, will be the attraction at the Elsinore theatre beginning today.

The story, from an original by Edmund Goulding and Benjamin Glazer, translated to the screen by Maurine Watkins, deals with the adventures of Babe Stewart, card-sharp and confidence-man. With the aid of Dorothy Mackaill, Grant Mitchell and Paul Ellis, he lures wealthy men into poker games and easily trims them of their bank-rolls. But this hard, love-em-and-leave-em gambler, gets himself into trouble when he tries to walk out on Dorothy as he has walked out on countless women before her. She threatens to go to the police, and Gable leaves town.

He happens to go to a small town called Glendale and there meets Carole Lombard. On a gambler's chance, he marries her and takes her back to New York with him, intending to give her a good time and then send her home. But he falls in love with her—a situation which seriously complicates his mode of living.

Others of importance in the cast are J. Farrell MacDonald in the role of a detective, and George Earle, Elizabeth Patterson and Tommy Conlon as Miss Lombard's parents and young brother.

42ND STREET STARS ATTEND INAUGURAL

For the first time in the history of the United States, motion picture stars will take part in the inauguration of President Franklin D. Roosevelt on March 4th, and they will have their own float in the procession. Among the stars who will travel from Hollywood to Washington in the "42nd Street Special" train, according to bookings up to date, are Bebe Daniels, Joe E. Brown, Ruby Keeler, James Cagney, William Powell, Warner Baxter, George Brent, Bette Davis, Joan Blondell, Guy Kibbee, Loretta Young, Warren William, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Ginger Rogers and Una Merkel.

The float appearing in the parade will be an elaborate one symbolizing "better times" and also 42nd street as the greatest theatrical street in the world. A number of the stars who will go to Washington on the "42nd Street Special," stopping at numerous leading cities for personal appearances en route, also appear in the cast of the new Warner Bros. feature picture, "42nd Street," which will soon be released. The entire delegation of motion picture players from Hollywood will go on to New York March 5, the day after the inauguration of President Roosevelt.

Zane Grey, who appears today in the Capitol double bill in his story film, "South Sea Islands."

Clark Gable, Carole Lombard and Dorothy Mackaill in a scene from "No Man of Her Own," which opens at Warner Bros. Elsinore today.

Menjou Has Role Of Detective in Play at Capitol

Thatcher Colt, the suave, cultured handsome New York police commissioner who solves baffling murder mysteries in the popular Anthony Abbott books, comes at last to the screen in the person of Adolphe Menjou. His first appearance is in "The Night Club Lady," Columbia picture, which comes to the Capitol theatre Monday.

This production is one of the most satisfying of the detective mystery pictures as yet shown. Somehow, it contrives to get across all the essential elements of suspense, mystery, horror and skilful detective work, and yet it does so in a subtle manner. In short, this is no stereotyped or formula detective picture.

DOUBLE FEATURE ON AT CAPITOL TODAY

'South Sea Adventures' and 'Sport Parade' Lend to Variety of Bill

"South Sea Adventures," with Zane Grey, the noted author, as its star—a film that surpasses in thrills and beauty any picture of its kind ever made, is one of the double feature attractions today at the Capitol theatre.

This picture was made under the direct supervision of the noted author and sportsman on his recent trip to the South Seas. On his return he was induced by Sol Lesser, president of Principal Distributing Corporation, to have the many thousands of feet of film edited and made ready for exhibition.

Of the many thrilling and dramatic highlights in the film, the catch of the giant marlin (swordfish) weighing 1,200 pounds off the coast of New Zealand is a dramatic record of Zane Grey's prowess as the world's mightiest angler. The picture is replete with other spine-tingling adventures with denizens of the deep, and affords a glimpse here and there of natives "au naturel" in their far-away South Sea Islands.

A wrestling match, filled with flying tackles, whirling spins, headlocks, scissors, and other intricate grips of the game, is used for one of the big dramatic punch-ups of "The Sport Parade," the RKO-Radio Picture now showing at the Capitol theatre.

Joel McCrea plays a college wrestler who turns professional but tries to stay honest in the "most suspicious sport" of all. William Gargan, Marian Marsh, and Walter Catlett are in the cast. Dudley Murphy directed from an original story by Jerry Horwin.

'BLESSSED EVENT' IS ON HOLLYWOOD BILL

Lee Tracy Brought Back to Salem for More of his Funny Tale Telling

The worm has turned at last, and the Broadway columnist who has been hiding behind their bylines while telling the world everybody else's secrets, are having the spotlight thrown on their own lives.

For the first time, the screen tells their secrets to the public, exposes their methods of collecting news and "spills the dirt" about their private lives in the Warner Bros. picture, "Blessed Event," which comes to the Hollywood theatre today.

"Delates won't tell," says Lee Tracy who plays the leading role in "Blessed Event," "unless they happen to have the phone number of a columnist. And now that the movies are telling all about the keyhole snoopers themselves, there aren't any more secrets left in the world."

The lives, loves and libels of wisecracking columnists are revealed in this hilarious screen production which leaves no stone uncast.

A splendid cast which supports Lee Tracy, includes Mary Brian, Dick Powell, Ned Sparks, Allen Jenkins, Emma Dunn, Ruth Donnelly and many others. Roy Del Ruth directed.

NEW GREY WESTERN OFFERED AT GRAND

'Robbers' Roost' Starring O'Brien, O'Sullivan, is Unusual Romance

Based on one of the many incidents that have colored Arizona's history, "Robbers' Roost," the new Fox Films offering, comes to the screen of the Grand theatre today. George O'Brien and Maureen O'Sullivan head the cast of the picture, taken from Zane Grey's story, and with its picturesque settings at the original locale of the episode, "Robbers' Roost" is said to be O'Brien's outstanding screen play.

The wholesale plundering of the cattle on a big ranch in the southern part of the state some 30 years ago forms the historical basis of the tale. The ranch owner, a wealthy Briton, is careless enough to hire a rascally foreman to run the place for him, and the foreman drives the entire herd over the line into Mexico, sells them and vanishes with the proceeds.

Weaving an unusual type of romance into this plot, Zane Grey succeeded in making "Robbers' Roost" one of his most interesting stories. In transferring it to the screen Director Louis King has faithfully preserved its atmosphere.

How O'Brien, playing a double game of pretending to side with the band of thieves and at the same time secretly bringing an avenging posse to the "Roost," manages to rescue the girl he loves and square matters with his enemy, forms the climax of the picture.

Besides Miss O'Sullivan the supporting cast includes William Pawley, as the foreman, Reginald Owen as the unsuspecting Britisher, Maude Eburne as his aunt, Walter McGrail as Pawley's assistant and Robert Greig as Owen's solemn butler. With its swift action, its scenic backgrounds and Louis King's direction, "Robbers' Roost" should prove one of the most popular offerings of the season.
