HIT-RUN, DRUNKEN DRIVING CHARGED

Charges of hit - and - run and drunken driving were placed against J. E. Miller, 45, of 675 North 20th street, last night after his automobile hit a parked car, bumped a garage building and knocked a hub cap from a third machine, city police reported. He was held in jail.

According to police, the Miller car struck a car belonging to Mrs. Brassler, route 8, while it was parked at 996 North Commercial street. Miller, they said, then drove away, splintered a portion of the old South Salem garage building, 980 South Commercial street, and continued to 12th and Mill streets where he was arrested. The Brasslers were said to have obtained the license number of the Miller car, notified police, and give... chase.

A fender and running board were smashed on the Brassler auto and a tire blown out on the Miller car, which bore pieces of the garage structure when police overtook it, officers said.

OF CHURCH NOTED

Poling and Kantner Relate History of Evangelical Organization Here

Large crowds attended the four Sunday services at the First Evangelical church, when the 70th anniversary of the founding was observed, Dr. C. C. Poling and Dr. W. C. Kantner, early pastors, recounted something of the early days in the church at the afternoon hour.

During the morning, Dr. Emory W. Petticord received 15 new members into the church. Rev. H. Schucknecht of Portland, one of the first pastors taken into the Oregon conference, assisted in the morning service.

Lunch was served to about 150 persons, and at mid-afternoon followed a musical program and reminiscenses led by Kantner and Poling. In a roll call at five cents per year for every year of membership in the church, 3403 years were chalked up. The offerings of the day more than raised the budget. F. W. Rex of West Salem was the oldest member, having been a member 79 years. At the evening hour, Dr. Pet-ticord spoke, and the women's trio from the Deaconess hospital gave two special numbers. Long travel, a wide territory, hardships, little or no pay, were among the highlights sketched by Drs. Poling and Kantner in telling of the early days of the church.

Other ministers, besides those entioned, present were Victor Ballantyne, G. E. Erskine, G. . Leining, Sr., G. R. Stover, G. N. Thompson, John Ruden and Rev. Paul Petticord of Corvaliis.

In assuming responsibility for fire and police protection of the state fairgrounds last fall, the city of Salem did not take on a permanent obligation, it was declared at the city council last night when another bill for fire hydrant water was submitted. The council moved to pay the hydrant fees up to December 31 but refused to pay the January bill of $25 to the Oregon-Washington Water Service company.

The city agreed to furnish fire protection last fall to help the fair board meet a financial emergency, it was pointed out. Alder men reported Max Gehlhar, state director of agriculture, had claimed the city had agreed to give perpetual fire protection to the fairgrounds, as it does to other state institutions.

GAS TAX INCREASE FOUGHT BY DENNIS

Graduated Auto License is Urged Upon Committee By Former Solon

Opposition to any increase in the present tax on gasoline was declared Monday by W. B. Dennis, author of the original Ore- . Friday-Leo Carillo and Lois gon gasoline tax, in a meeting of the senate roads and highways committee,

"I little dreamed that our origfnal and modest one-cent tax would grow to four cents," Dennis remarked. "I think further tax increases will diminish returns, for consumption will decline and bootlegging will increase."

Dennis urged the committee to report out the Allen bill which provides a $5 privilege license with a graduated additional tax based on the value of the car. He said he thought it was exremely doubtful if a license fee! which made no provision for the value of a car would exempt an auto from personal property assessment by a county, Dennis cited constitutional reasons for his stand. Loyal M. Graham, Forest Grove attorney, joined Dennis in his stand, suggesting if revenues were not adequate under the Allen bill the ad valorem tax added to the $5 fee could be raised from two to three or to four per cent if needed. The Dunne-Paulus bill provides for a flat $5 license fee. Representative Paulus told the committee he did not think the legal argument against his bill was

PLANS FOR PARKS IN FUTURE URGED

Planning Salem's civic beauty or the future was stressed by Prof. F. A. Cuthbert, of the landscape architecture department, Oregon State college, in addressing Salem Garden club members at the chamber of commerce last night.

He urged that professional planners be employed to lay out a plat of the city showing coming improvements such as more parks and beautification of the Willamette river bank. The city can acquire park sites now for thousands of dollars whereas in several years the cost would mount to a million and more, he declared.

Ernest luter, Garden club president, appointed the following committee to confer with city officials regarding past and future plans: Miss Edith Schryver, Mrs. W. E. Anderson, W. C. Franklin, Miss Myrpah Blair and Miss Elizabeth
