Apollo Club Will Sing Tonight At Grand

Tonight will mark the appearance of the Portland Apollo club before its Salem audience at the Grand theatre. This will be the first time in several years that the Portland club has come to make a bow before Salem music devotees and there is much enthusiasm and anticipation for the event.

Willem Van Hoogstraten is the noted director of the chorus this year. Also the well known and much liked Arthur Johnson, tenor, will be guest soloist and this is attracting no little attention. Robert Flack, also known to Salem musicians, is to be accompanist.

The program includes: Where'er You Walk... Handel Arr. by C. G. Spross The Dreaming Lake... Schumann Berenade... Schubert Finlandia... Sibelius

'At Home' Smartly Informal and Charming

Charming in its informal formality was the "at home" for which Mrs. Julius L. Meier received in the apartment of Governor and Mrs. Meier in the Royal Court Wednesday afternoon.

The warm spiciness of many blossoms arranged in lovely color harmonies of yellow daffodils and pale blue iris, Tallsmen roses, and for the tea table a great bowl of blossoms arranged in French bouquet effect all combined to greet the guests with a delightful welcome as each bustled in from the freezing out-doors.

Mrs. Meier in becoming black lace received her guests as they were presented by Mrs. Sheldon Sackett who wore soft blue velvet.

Mrs. Frits Slade, Mrs. William Elzing and Mrs. Jerry Owens assisted about the rooms.

In the tea room Mrs. John McNary and Mrs. Henry Hansen presided at the beautifully appointed tea table, the loveliness of which was accentuated with glowing candles and a spreading bouquet of blossoms. Miss Caroline Corbett, Miss April Kelsey, Miss Eleanor Lewis and Mrs. Conrad Paulus assisted in serving.

Guests of Mrs. Meier included wives of legislators and women members of the legislature.

Complimenting members of the Adolynk club for the regular meeting of the group Mrs. E. H.

Mrs. T. A. Windishar Bridge Tea Hostess

A pretty event of Wednesday afternoon was the bridge tea for which Mrs. T. A. Windishar was hostess at her home complimenting a group of matrons. St. Valentine set the decorative motif and added a note of bright gaiety. At the tea hour Mrs. John Dalk assisted Mrs. Windishar in serving.

Guests included Mrs. F. J. Gentzkow, Mrs. Adam Engel, Mrs. T. M. Barr, Mrs. Napoleon Racque, Mrs. J. J. Karst, Mrs. John Dalk, Mrs. E. A. Lebold, Mrs. Earl Anderson, Mrs. B. F. Dimeier, Mrs. M. J. Petal, Mrs. George Nabbefeld, Mrs. Joe Lebold and Mrs. S. Breitenstein.

Silver Wedding Is Celebrated

Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Thomas observed their silver wedding anniversary at their home in West Salem Monday night with a "no-host" supper followed by an informal evening of conversation for which their immediate family and relatives were present.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Thomas, Mrs. A. R. Akers, Tommy Akers, Mrs. L. Rees, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Thomas, Doris Thomas, Ruth and Bill Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Thomas.

Senator and Mrs. James Chonock, Senator Goss and Senator Williamson were dinner guests of Senator and Mrs. Booth Tuesday night.

Symphony Season Will Close Monday

The closing concert of the Portland Symphony orchestra for the 1932-33 season is announced for Monday night, February 13. A packed auditorium is anticipated to hear Verdi's "Requiem," sung by the 200 members of the Portland Choral society. It is a magnificent, melodious and dramatic work, and when presented by an excellent chorus in mass singing is indeed most glorious.

Furthermore, there will be four soloists to sing the special passages. Each is a well-known artist, and three of the quartet were heard when the Choral society gave the "Requiem" two years ago. They are Madame Leah Leska, soprano, Rose Friedle Gianelli, contralto, Arthur Johnson, tenor, and Mark Daniels, bass.

Verdi composed this famous work in memory of two of Italy's best loved artists, Alessandro Manzoni, the poet and novelist, and Gioacchino Rossini, the composer. The frequent solo parts, quartets and tremendous choruses make it one of the greatest works of its kind. Although this musical classic is sometimes referred to as an oratorio, it is more correctly defined as an opera, but without costumes and scenery.

"As the present music season draws to a close," state Mrs. M. Donald Spencer, manager of the Portland Symphony society, "we feel that another year of achievement has been added to our record. We have given the public 15 splendid concerts and brought to the west some of the finest musicians. At the same time, we have recognized our own local artists and presented them in most successful programs."

Woodburn—Mr. and Mrs. Matt Hermie were hosts to a group of friends at their home east of town Sunday night when "500" was played. High score went to Mrs.

street Friday for members of the three Links club. A Valentine party will be enjoyed. Mrs. Robertson will be assisted by Louise King, Daley McIntyre, Avis Perrine and Edith McElroy.

Mrs. Grace Robertson will entertain at her home on Court
