Hiltibrand Plans To Plant 40-acre Tract With Hops

Lebanon, Oregon

F. 15-22, M. 1-8-15.

INDEPENDENCE, Feb. 14-C. G. Hiltibrand will start work on planting additional hop acreage on the Rose ranch on the Marion side of the river as soon as weather conditions will permit. Ground has been prepared for about 40 acres. The hop roots, $6,000, have been secured from the Fred Irelan dranch at Brownsville. The roots are early clusters and are regarded as quite exceptional. The Rose ranch has at present 100 acres of late clusters. Early clusters will lengthen the season at the ranch.

At Boston is Slow

BOSTON, Feb. 14-(AP)-Business in wool is very slow, with few buyers taking even moderate quantities. Asking prices are mostly unchanged, but concessions are more easily obtainable than during the previous two weeks. Sales are mostly of fine wools. Average 12-months Texas wools in original bags are bringing mostly 40-41 scoured basis while the best offerings in original bags occasionally bring

Oregon State Art Professor Honored

One of the highest honors accorded artists in this country has been given J. Leo Fairbanks, professor of art at Oregon State college, who has just been unanimously elected to membership in the Architectural league of New York. Only a few men in the entire west have been invited to membership. Professor Fairbanks is noted for his designs of beautisociations in selling $2,515,000 ful and practical rural homes, as well as for his painting and worth of farm products in the last sculpture.

Low Prices Reason; Current Butter Trade Firm

PORTLAND, Feb. 14.-(AP)-Surprising demand was continued in the market for dressed turkeys locally. Prices show little change for recent days, much of the demand being attributed to the favorable quotations to consumers. Hen turkeys remain in far the best call, due not only to the small size which is quite popular with the public, but the better quality. Market for live chickens was practically unchanged today. Receipts were not even liberal and were it not for the sacrifice sales of western Washington, prices would probably go higher according to trade leaders. With release of a considerable supply of butterfat held up for several days by the storm, a greater output of butter is due in Portland within the next few days. Current trade is firm.

There appears decided weakness in the market for comb honey which has resulted in almost general price shading. Sales of 12ounce fancy packs are being made down to $2.25-2.50 case. There was practically no change means for the day. Somewhat bettone was suggested for hogs as a result of the betterment in livestock prices. Shipments of Yaquina native oysters have been resumed; the storm having abated.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14-(AP) -Returning from their boilday to learn that a banking moratorium had been declared in Michigan, financial markets generally weakened today, but tended to regain their composure before closing time. The Michigan holiday was the most extensive "banking vacation" so far experienced and presumably led to selling of securities by helders in the area affected. Wall street bankers, familiar be viewed as a local difficulty, pointing out that it was basically due to real estate troubles, aftermath of a spectacular boom coincident with expansion of automotive manufacturing.

Rail shares, on the eve of the transportation committee's report, slumped rather sharply, but utilities and industrials bore them company, Gold mining issues resisted for a time, though some of them eventually sold off. Motor stocks were offered in some volume, General Motors and Chrysler closing more than a point lower. U. S. Steel, American Can, General Electric, Du Pont, Montgomery Ward, Westinghouse, Consolidated Gas, North American, Southern Pacific, Chesapeake & Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York Central and Woolworth were down 1 to 2 points or so net, while Delaware & Hud-
