

Salem Y. and Multnomah Break Even in Boxing, Wrestling

LARGE CROWD HANDED TREAT

Salem Grapplers Nose out Ahead, Portland Give Tossers Prevail

The Salem Y. M. C. A. nosed out a victory in wrestling, 24 points to 23, over Multnomah club of Portland, and the clubmen defeated the Y. in boxing bouts, three to two, at the Y. gymnasium Wednesday night. A large crowd was present and received its money's worth, as both wrestlers and boxers went after each other with everything they had.

Salem's three lighter wrestlers made a clean sweep of their bouts, all taking falls, and then Multnomah came back to win the last three, but took one by a decision, thus losing out on points. The clubmen scored one clean knockout and one technical knockout and gained a decision in the boxing bouts, while Salem boys won two decisions.

Highlights included the wrestling bout between Sugal of Salem and Hite of Multnomah, in which Sugal won after his opponent with a lot of fire but a little too recklessly and was caught for a fall; and the first round knockout which Caputo of Multnomah scored over Bill Traglio of Salem.

Much interest was displayed in the heavyweight fight between George Beecher of Salem and a tubby youth named Koenig of Multnomah. Beecher earned a headline decision by showing more aggressiveness in the third round, after taking a little the worst of it in the second.

Bearcat Five Goes to Play Puget Sound

Willamette university's basketball squad, holding a precarious lead for the unofficial Northwest championship, will leave early this morning for a two-game series with College of Puget Sound at Tacoma, Friday and Saturday nights. Willamette will have to win both of these games and one from Pacific next week at Forest Grove, in order to win the championship.

Puget Sound is certain to prove a high hurdle for the Bearcats, for Coach Sandberg's team gave Whitman's two tough battles on Whitman's floor, and was ahead most of the time in the first one. The Loggers will have an added advantage in playing on their own court.

This Logger quintet, said to be the strongest Puget Sound has ever turned out, includes several veterans from the team

MITT FANATICS TO GET BREAK

First Fight Card in Many Moons Stated on Friday Night at Armory

Fight fans, approaching an oasis as they trudge thirstily through the desert of fightless months in Salem, are breaking into a trot as they come within view of the first opportunity to satisfy their craving for this brand of sport. Matchmaker Harry Plant has decided that the time is ripe for a revival of fist-fights, and has lined up a complete card for Friday night at the armory.

Jackie Kileen, a member of the Watenberger family when not in the ring, will come over from Independence to headline the card, co-starred with Guy Hickman of Salem. Kileen was a favorite here when fight cards were a weekly occurrence several years ago, and he has thrived in other pastures during the drought here.

Hickman, strictly a local product, has battled Kileen several times and there is no love lost between them. It is safe to say that both leather-pushers will be out for blood and that the scheduled 10-rounder will not last that long.

Andy Joerg of Mt. Angel, a hardy youth who has appeared here before, will trade uppercuts with Bobby Ambrose, well-known Salem boy, in the six-round semi-final. Cy Fluke of Mill City and Cy Landers of Independence will engage in a four-round special event. None of these men are novices at the game.

Mt. Angel Will Send Two Fives Against Gervais

GERVAIS, Feb. 15.—The Mt. Angel basketball first and second teams will play the Gervais teams here Thursday night, when Gervais will make an effort to even up the score made when its teams visited Mt. Angel. Two local girls' teams will play as an added attraction.

CURT COMMENTS

Just a little more information about those House of David Collegians the hirsute basket tossers who will come here Friday night to play the Salem All-Stars. The starting lineup will probably include four six-footers and better and one man who lacks a couple of inches of that altitude.

"Red" White, the regular center, stands six feet four and so does Marion Smith, who relieves White in the tipoff job and plays forward part of the time. Ivan Buchanan and "Sally" Suddith, guards, pass the six-foot mark by an inch; Floyd Johnston, forward, and Buck Adams, guard, won't quite reach that level and then there is James Davis, a runt at five feet eight.

That game will be played in the Willamette gym, and Bill Kappeln, who is in charge of arrangements, says it will be early enough so the fans can attend it and then get downtown in time for the fights at the armory. He hasn't announced the exact hour as yet.

The All-Stars may and again may not, put up a close battle against the Davidites. The Florshelms didn't, last year against the Terrible Swedes. That makes little difference; the main thing is that here is a team displaying the top notch brand of basketball that is played anywhere, and all young players, as well as all fans interested in the technical side of the game, will want to see these super-stars perform.

Dave Wright's Lincoln high hoopers in Portland have served notice that they are coming here to the tournament and are to be reckoned among the main contenders. Those boys are big; last year they were awkward, but they must be a different outfit now.

BUNGALOW WINNER
 The Bungalow Club at a 11 a. m. church basketball team defeated the Headquarters battery, C.A.C., quintet 37 to 34 at the armory Wednesday night.
