to the general fund. Neither of these proposals has been drafted into a bill; both have been accepted in tentative votes taken by the committee. There is much likelihood that the self-liquidating fund diversions will die aborning while higher education advocates are putting every string to cut down their reductions. Which ever way the ways and means committee decides on these ticklish matters may precipitate a debate.

Appropriations have not been allowed, although they are being ardently sought, for the industrial accident commission and the veterans' aid commission. The I. A. C. bill the law must operate on a fixed percentage of income. The commission has cut its operating expenses tremendously but revenue drop-off has been so huge the commission is afraid it cannot struggle through another biennium without general fund help. The veterans' commission has pointed out with the law entirely in its favor, that last year it did not receive the half-million appropriation of $500,000 which was its legal right; if the amount is withheld in 1933, that commission likewise predicts a financial predicament will ensue.

Holman Tosses New
Wrench in Machine

A further appropriation hurdle the ways and means committee and the legislature must jump is the recurrent Holman-Einzig-Hansen dispute which flared up as the last week closed. Holman contends both Hansen and Einzig have padded their budgets, raising "net" employees salaries and otherwise juggling figures to secure appropriations which in 1932-33 will permit these two men to operate more comfortably than other department heads. A subcommittee of ways and means is probing the accusations; thus far it has found as a certainty that one Hansen employee $190, less boosted from $125 to $190, less his apportioned salary cut, and it is likely this salary item will come down pronto. The item itself is inconsequential; the importance of the affair, if it has any, lies in the fact that Treasurer Holman has this time unearthed a real, not a fancied woodpile nigger, thus tending to increase previous hostility to the budget. It is possible, not probable, that the budget cuts thus far not seen by the ways and means committee, which has given most of the items a fine-tooth combing.

Which leaves the subject of new taxes as the final chore to be done ere the legislature adjourns this coming weekend—if it can.

The representatives and senators had best polish up their special session speeches on the sales tax; it is coming out of committee, perhaps on a divided report, but it is coming out for no legislator now admits that the budget can be balanced, the deficit handled simply by providing a few miscellaneous taxes, slashing the appropriations and eliminating the direct levy on real property. The legislature must either (1) accept a budget of about $9,000,000 for 1933-34, up the income and inheritance taxes and perhaps add some miscellaneous revenue measures and leave a two or three-mill levy on real property for state purposes, or (2) it must accept a $9,000,000 budget, up income and inheritance taxes and replace a state higher income tax—twice as high as present income taxes by the state are sure to come, the inheritance tax rates are bound to climb—the real nubbin of legislative debate next week on tax matters is the sales tax—to be or not to be.

What ever the legislative outcome on the sales tax, the fight will go on, for a referendum impends and the sales tax, its faults and benefits, will be argued from many a rostrum. It is not unlikely that it will be a 1934 campaign issue with the democratic cohorts, encouraged by Mr. Roosevelt and in Oregon led on by The Journal in Portland, making a rallying cry for democratic protest.

A government spokesman said that a summons to Mr. Matsushita to return home by the shortest route in order to make preparation for Japan's secession from the league, probably would make it impossible for him to visit the United States.

This matter is not wholly settled, but the cabinet may decide to consult with the Geneva representative before taking final action. In this event, he would be called home immediately after the anticipated acceptance by the league assembly next week of the prepared Manchurian report which censures Japan.

The relief money secured from the R. F. C. can be used only where there is real need, and based upon case investigation. Such funds cover clothing and shelter, which includes rent, water and some kind of lighting as designated by the county relief group.

The application which will go to Washington contains many pages, setting forth in detail the needs of Marion county, the present financial condition and other items. It was prepared with cooperation of the county court, the chamber of commerce, the Community Service and Red Cross.

Solons Avert Foul Fate For Straying Dog

Saturday was dog day in the house, 32 of its members voting down Senator Woodward's S. B.
154. Authorizing persons to kill dogs deemed vicious when off the owner's premises.

Member after member arose to speak a good word for the canine class and to declare that the proposed law went too far in allowing persons who hated dogs to vent their spite on a straying animal.

Defenders of the bill said the law already made out a prima facie case against sheep-killing dogs and contended failure of the Woodward bill indicated legislators cared more for animals than for people.

The Woodward bill would have empowered persons who were attacked by dogs or had justifiable grounds to think them vicious to kill the animals without first appealing to their owners for relief.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Fannie Turner, 62, his wife, screamed and tried to rush for help, she told the investigating deputies, but was caught by two of the men and held while the other three continued to attack her husband.

The five, after obtaining the signature, escaped in an automobile driven by a sixth man, the Turners told them she recognized two of the men. A warrant was issued by O. A. Eastman, justice of the peace at Gresham, charging George Ferguson, "John Doe" Lambert and three other "John Does" with assault and battery.

The sheriff's office phoned Sheriff R. E. Goad of Pendleton to learn if the alleged assailants are known there. Committees in charge of the clean-up campaign for the bank said bank officials emphatically denied that they were representatives of the institution.

All but one or two depositors of the Pendleton bank have signed releases, officials said, and they expressed hope that they will be able to open the institution Monday on the assumption that the board of the Reconstruction Finance corporation will early next week approve plans for such resumption of operation.

DECISION ON EINZIG CHARGE OUT MONDAY

Ways-Means Group Conduct
Hearing on Charges of Padded Budget

What action will be taken by the ways and means committee in connection with charges that William Einzig, secretary of the state board of control, had padded his payroll and otherwise misrepresented his budget requirements to the legislature, will not be determined definitely until Monday.

At a preliminary hearing held in the board of control offices Saturday members of the committee made it plain that they were not interested in the feud between Holman and Einzig, and that the investigation would be confined to consideration of the figures contained in Einzig's budget.

Einzig branded a statement by Holman "that he was not aware of the departmental budgets" as a lie. He submitted minutes of board meeting at which the budget items were considered to the committee. These minutes were signed by Holman as well as by the other two members of the board of control.

Budget Figures Asked
Representative Walker charged that Holman's figures were inaccurate, and asked Einzig to prepare his accurate budget figures and have them available at the next meeting of the ways and means committee.

"The committee had found nothing up to this time which would substantiate Holman's charges against Einzig," Representative Hill declared at the conclusion of the meeting. Hill asked Einzig when the feud between himself and Holman originated.

Einzig replied that the trouble dates back several months. "Holman's figures are about as accurate as some of his statements," Einzig said. Senator Woodward took exception to this remark and warned Einzig to be careful. "I can prove what I have said," Einzig retorted.

Einzig then referred to a report credited to Holman in which the state treasurer asked Governor Meier why it was necessary for the secretary of the board of control to have a woman with him on a trip to Crater Lake.

"I do not consider it any of Holman's business where I take my wife," Einzig declared. Einzig said he paid all of the expenses incurred on the trip, and that not one cent was contributed out of state funds. Snider informed Einzig that the investigation committee was not interested in trips to Crater Lake, but that it desired to determine whether Holman's charges against the board secretary were true.

A proposed increase of from $125 to $150 a month in the salary of Walter Robinson, statistician in the state budget department, was defended by Einzig, in the absence of Henry M. Hansen, state budget director. Members of the committee indicated that they would report unfavorably on this increase. Einzig said that Robinson had threatened to retire from the state service in case the increase was refused.

Mileage Waiver
By Senators is Upton Proposal

Senators who desire to waive acceptance of their mileage voucher in connection with the regular legislative session will have such an opportunity under a proposal offered by Senator Upton Saturday afternoon. Upton's proposal was made during a discussion on the report of the per diem committee. Upton said that all of the senators had accepted mileage for attending the special legislative session, and that some of them probably would not want to claim mileage for the regular session. He said this particularly was true of those senators who did not return to their homes on the one day intervening between the special and regular legislative sessions.

Moore, Miami psychiatrists, was as follows: "The examination of this individual reveals a perverse character, wilfully wrong, remorseless and expressing contempt for the opinions of others. While his intelligence is not necessarily inferior, his distorted judgment and temperament is incapable of adjustment to the average social standards."

"He is inherently suspicious and anti-social. Such ill balanced erratic types are classified as a psychopathic personality. From this class are recruited the criminals and 'cranks' whose pet schemes and morbid emotions run in conflict with the established order of society."

Dr. Agon, commenting on the report, said "the question of applying the term 'sane' or 'insane' to such misfits is purely a matter of legal interpretation or expediency, which the courts are privileged to decide."

Cutting Offered

Declines, Rumor

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 — (AP)—Senator Bronson Cutting, independent New Mexico republican, was represented by friends on Capitol Hill today as having decided against accepting a Roosevelt cabinet offer in the belief he would be of greater service in the senate.

One of the staunchest admirers and supporters of Mr. Roosevelt, for whom he spoke in the campaign, Cutting maintained an absolute silence as to whether he had been offered or had declined the portfolio of secretary of the interior.
