FOREIGN PRODUCTION OF FILBERTS LARGE

Prospects are for Smaller Crop This Year, With Higher Prices. The 1932 production of filberts in areas of commercial importance in Italy, Spain, and Turkey is now estimated at 128,500 tons unshelled basis. This represents an exceedingly large yield as it is more than 50 per cent above the four-year average production of 84,400 tons (1928-31) and the 1931 crop of 84,000 tons. With such a large crop, prices, so far this season, on both shelled and unshelled filberts, have necessarily been very low. They opened at around 45 per cent under last year and have remained at about that level up to the present time. So far during the present season, the United States has shown no more interest than last season. According to such figures as are now available and taking the three producing countries as a unit, it appears that total exports on an unshelled basis from September to December inclusive were about 45 per cent above total exports during the corresponding period in 1931. While this represents a substantial increase, it is on the other hand a little below the estimated increase in production. It is therefore evident that remaining stocks are relatively large and somewhat above the quantity on hand at this time a year ago. With that situation, there is little likelihood of any material change in prices, at least until such time as something definite can be said about 1933 prospects. Generally, the crop following an unusually large production is small. This probability is perhaps preventing quotations from being lower than they are at the moment, as producers feel that better prices will be obtainable in late spring and during the summer. Along with the belief that 1933 production will be relatively short, some speculators are now quoting 1933 crop goods at between 20 and 25 per cent above current quotations.

CHICKEN SHORTAGE NOW EXTREME MANUFACTURERS ARE EYING WOOL

Prices Unchanged but Strong; Spring Ducks in Call. PORTLAND, March 8.—(AP)—Extreme shortage of chickens was causing considerable worry to receivers of live fowls in the local trade. During the last week or so there has been only a nominal offering here. Previous to that there were several weeks of short supplies as compared with demand. Values in the live chicken trade were unchanged although there was no doubt of the strength of the market. However, there appears little disposition on the part of buyers to bid higher because of financial conditions. Practically everything in the chicken line was included in the shortage. Ducks were in good call for spring stock. Late arrivals have been scant. Market for country killed meats was just about steady locally. No price changes were shown. Receipts were again practically normal. Only spring lambs were now missing. General Markets, Portland Produce, Portland Livestock, ONION TRADE DULL, NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT OF ADMINISTRATRIX

Finer Quality Wanted; 64s Getting Higher Quotations

BOSTON, March 8.—Manufacturers are making numerous inquiries for wool, especially on the finer quality. Higher quotations are being named by most holders of 64s and finer western grown wools. A few sales of moderate volume have been reported at slightly higher prices than obtainable last week.

WHEAT COMING UP WITH FAIR SHOWING

PRATUM, March 8.—The second sowing of wheat which was thought to have been killed by the freeze in January is now coming up, probably not as thick as it ought to be, but apparently thick enough to grow a fair crop. Cherry seedling wood which for some time very doubtful if it would do for grafting on account of the low temperature several times during the winter, has come through in fairly good shape, also very little frost damage, and grafting has begun. Farmers are busy sowing grain whenever there is a little sunshine to encourage them, although the fields are rather wet, but those who wish to sow oats and vetch or fall wheat begin to realize that if they wish to sow fall grain with any reasonable degree of success their time is limited. Women's missionary meeting was held at the home of Mrs. E. Rounds today in connection with a W. C. T. U. meet. The Epworth League will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Silke Friday night.

Butter Reflects Steady Tone; Egg Prices are Mixed

PORTLAND, March 8.—(AP)—Market for butter reflects a generally steady tone locally. No price change was shown for the day either in the cube or print trade. Butterfat values appear more stationary. Prices were still rather badly mixed in the market for eggs locally, although trade leaders—both cooperative and private—were inclined to quote out the late advances. KEIZER, March 8.—Mrs. G. N. Thompson has had this week as a house guest, Mrs. Myrtle Low from Palsade, Nebraska. Mrs. Low and Mrs. Thompson spent their childhood days together in the same city in Iowa and had not met for many years. Mrs. Low is on her way to Los Angeles to visit her twin sister, Mrs. Bertha Hummel.
