The above shows how full of horsefeathers Crain's story was. What makes one laugh is that Hal Moore in the Oregonian solemnly copies Crain and discusses a "legislative blunder." These reporters may know their politics; but when they get into grammar they show their ignorance of good old Reid and Kellogg's rules.

THE reopening of the banking houses over the country has the Salem church in charge. The I given business the "go" signal. There is a surge in prices both of securities and commodities. Much of this is speculative; and it is too early to say definitely that it will not prove abortive. But the refreshed attitude of the business world gives ground for the opinion that advances will hold farewell party was given at the They both lived at the Chemeketa the freshman class; Melvin Holt, and that further increases will follow. Our troubles have Steve Crenshaw home Saturday House (present Marion hotel) in the sophomore; Frances Combs, been so largely psychological that if we can replace melan- shaw, who left the first of this choly with optimism the depression may soon cure itself.

Business men now should put the buzz in business. On where they have employment. The their disposition to venture somewhat will depend the speed Order of the "S" of Scio high of revival. The resistances of fear and doubt and uncertainty and despair will have to be broken down. Business day night, with games and jiginterests cannot expect restoration of public buying until saw puzzle contests. they set a pace for it.

There may speedily come a day when commodity prices will climb the ladder as swiftly as they fell. We have seen the fluctuations of prices for so long that we know they can go up as well as down. The fellow who is looking for the go up as well as down. The fellow who is looking for the sistence of the State of Oregon, pur-missioner of the State of Oregon, purabsolute low dollar may find himself waiting in vain. The tide may come in like it does at the bay of Fundy.

At any rate, there is the green light for going forward. Give the machine the gas-but don't flood the engine.

What will become of the soldiers' home at Roseburg under the new federal economy plan? Will they nail up the windows before the place is opened? The federal government is guite ruthless when it comes to living up to agreements and understandings. Clatsop county is still waiting for improvements of Tongue point naval base Pierce county, Washington donated the ground for Camp Lewis, but for years the government neglected to come through with its end of the agreement for permanent improvement of the area. Roseburg would not long suffer however because when the present spasm of economy is over the spending will start again.

Maybe countries can go off the gold standard, but the attitude of individuals in recent weeks shows that when they want to hoard they want gold. Perhaps if gold were made merely a commodity they would not want it; but it would be a difficult thing to uproot the gold idea from the minds of the people who for centuries have associated it with wealth.

The D. A. R. does a great work in putting up markers at historic spots and for historic personages. The idea however seems to run to seed when it puts bronze markers on descendants of the Washington elm. Once we planted some ivy whose ancestors grew about Luther's church; but we didn't think the fact was worth even a tin tag.

Speaking of purely personal preferences, we like Eddie Cantor, until he begins to sing. And we get a big kick out of this Jewish comedian telling a Scotch story. The burr he puts on his yiddish is killing.

Portland gets long doses out of the black bottle nowadays. It has Bennett for city commissioner. He's "agin" .everything, until his m. o. confrere told him the other day he did nothing but "quack, quack, quack."

The phrase "scared stiff" is common idiom. But in the Long Beach earthquake a Portland woman was scared "unstiff". A paralytic ran away from her house without her crutches.

Medford is to have a "hog-callers" contest on March 25th. Its "name-callers' contest" is still in progress.
