INJUNCTION ON FLOW OF BEER NOT EXPECTED

Supreme Court not Likely To Hear Original Case Even if Requested

Milwaukee Plans Beer Day Celebration; Portland Dads Favor License

WASHINGTON, March 22.—(AP)—Lawyers who study closely the procedure and activity of the supreme court advanced an unofficial opinion tonight that the high tribunal could not find its way clear to stop the flow of beer by injunction after April 6, even if the constitutionality of the law is questioned before it.

The legal experts pointed out first that it would be an unusual procedure for the supreme court to take up the question without having it dealt with first in a lower court.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 22.—(AP)—This pre-prohibition brewing center bubbled over with activity with the signing of the 3.2 per cent beer and wine bill today by President Roosevelt.

Engineers and firemen in the city boiler rooms feuded on whistle words to announce that the president had made law of the beer bill. The fire department contributed with sirens and bells. Motorists pressed horn buttons.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—(AP)—A variety of reaction—all of it, however, in opposition—was manifested today among prohibition leaders here after President Roosevelt signed the 3.2 beer and wine bill.

PORTLAND, March 22.—(AP)—A majority of ordinance to make beer available in Portland as soon as national legislation permits appeared certain today when City Commissioners Ralph Clyde and J. E. Bennett declared themselves for such a measure.
