Idaho, with a constitution "for ever prohibiting" the sale of intoxicating liquor and a supreme court ruling interpreting the law to bar even the sale of near beer, remained officially dry but completely surrounded by beer, except along the Utah border. Idaho officials said, however, re-interpretation of the law might permit the sale of beer some time in the future. Meantime, three cases on the border lines have but to state to Nevada, Wyoming, Montana, Washington or Oregon for "relief."

MARY HAAS FUNERAL TO BE HELD FRIDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary E. Haas, Oregon pioneer of 1857, who died at her home here yesterday, will be held from the chapel of the Clough-Barrick company Friday morning at 10 o'clock, with Rev. W. C. Kantner officiating. Interment will be in the family plot in the L. O. O. P. cemetery. With her parents, Captain and Mrs. L. E. Pratt, Mrs. Haas came to Oregon in 1857 by way of the railroad across the isthmus of Panama, and from San Francisco by Portland by boat. The family came to Salem when Mrs. Haas was 13 years old.

Mrs. Haas wore the first woolen blanket to be made in Oregon. It was bought by Joe Wait of Astoria for the sum of $250.
Mrs. Haas was born at Peacedale, R. I., October 1, 1844. She had lived here for 64 years in the house where she died. About three years ago she was made an honorary member of the Business and Professional Women's club of Salem.
Surviving is a son, Frank P. Haas of Oakland, Cal.; two daughters, Mrs. Carrie H. Beecher of Salem and Miss Ida L. Haas of Oakland, Cal.; two grandchildren, James H. Lambirth and Mrs. Carolyn Simpson of Salem; two cousins, Mrs. J. H. Lauterman and Charles H. Parmenter of Salem.

HIGHWAY WIDENING WORK MAY PROCEED

Mott Wires That Funds may Not be Stopped as was Feared by Builders

The Salem Building congress yesterday received a wire from Congressman James Mott indicating that Salem-Portland highway construction, on which bids were slated to be let April 19, may be exempted from the president's order stopping all federal aid projects not in actual construction. The telegram was in response to a wire from the Building congress relative to the road work.
Mott's message states that the chief of the bureau of public roads has asked the budget commission for an opinion on this particular point, and that he will advise the building group of this opinion as soon as it is given.
The wire says in part: "Senate bill 598 authorizes expenditures for unemployment relief of any unobligated moneys heretofore appropriated for public works but exempts projects on which actual construction has been commenced or will be commenced within 90 days. If contract for Salem-Portland highway is to be let April 19, this project in my opinion would come under the above exemption and federal aid for construction should be available."
A telegram was also received by the chamber of commerce later in the day from Senator McNary, also pointing to the fact that the bureau of public roads is awaiting a definite opinion, and stating that the senator would keep in touch with the matter and advise Salem groups on any developments.

who died at the residence 940 E. street Wednesday morning, will be held from the St. Paul's Episcopal church, Friday at 1:30 p. m. with Rev. H. Swift officiating. Burial will follow at Belcrest Memorial park.
Mrs. Arbuckle died following an illness of several weeks. Her death was attributed to a weakened heart caused by an attack of pneumonia which she suffered several months ago.
Besides her parents she is survived by a brother, George Arbuckle junior.

HUG IS DARK HORSE IN EDUCATION RACE

(SPOKANE, Wash., April 5 — (AP)—Because of unemployment and over-production, "America today is ready for communism . . . a hundred more times ready than Russia ever was," Lincoln Steffens, author and lecturer, told delegates to the 35th annual convention of the Inland Empire Education association today.
The convention was opened this morning with 1500 educators from Montana, Idaho, Washington and British Columbia registered. It closes Friday night.
Immediately after organization, the nominating committee was named, and it selected Dr. Charles A. Rice, superintendent of schools at Portland, Ore., for president, to succeed Miss Ruth West, Spokane. Usually the nomination is tantamount to election, but many leading delegates said George W. Hug, superintendent of schools at Salem, Ore., had a strong following for the office, and an attempt may be made to elect him.

Operating on a frequency of 244 kilocycles, station KGZR probably will be set up Sunday at police headquarters, back of the sergeant's desk, and tested in preparation for police work Monday or Tuesday. Construction of the transmitter by Lloyd Rogers, local radioician, assisted by a Portland technician, is going ahead at a swift pace, he stated yesterday.
At the start, the station will be operated around 10 hours daily, starting at 6 p. m. The sergeant in charge, acting as announcer, will use a map with electric lights for the officers in the various zones to keep track of policemen to whom calls have been sent. A licensed operator will be within immediate call.
To raise the remaining funds needed to finance the station, the police department will give another dance at Crystal Garden the night of April 15.

Mrs. Farlow gained local notoriety a year ago last month when it was revealed the Eddy-Erpeding party had done some drinking at her home the night of the murder of Lloyd Eddy, for which Erpeding is now in the state penitentiary.
It was intercession allegedly in behalf of Mrs. Farlow and another needy woman that was the immediate cause of the attack Max Ferrar, workers' agitator, made upon S. Ellis Purvine at the Red Cross headquarters early this year.

"Rasputin and the Empress," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's sensational drama of the fall of the Romanoffs, with John, Ethel and Lionel Barrymore together on the screen for the first time, is the attraction coming Sunday to the Elsinore theatre.
Based on happenings within the memory of the present generation, the picture's episodes present a replica of the most colorful royal court in the world, thus including the spectacle of a "period" picture while still remaining strictly a modern story.
Ethel Barrymore plays the Empress, John is cast as Prince Chgodieff, and Lionel essays the role of the "Holy Devil" in the sensational picture of the downfall of the empire and the rise of the bolshevik regime. In every case, perfect makeup makes the characters exact replicas of the originals.

Resorts Just Outside City Will Hear
The city council's adverse vote on the beer license measure has been the signal for many proprietors of roadside establishments outside the city limits to apply for federal licenses. Generally, however, the larger places catering to diners and party groups are taking out licenses. The smaller operators say the margin of profit after paying the license would be too low.
Salem Golf club will serve beer in bottle and on draught to patrons, according to Graham Sharkey, one of the proprietors, but its sale will be forbidden to minors and quantity consumption will be discouraged. "This will be merely an accommodation to golfers, who have asked for it," he explained. So as not to give offense to patrons who do not care for beer, the beverage will be sold from a location apart from the office and main quarters. Sharkey said he anticipated receiving a limited supply of beer Friday from Portland and Sunday from San Francisco.
Among the roadside establishments at which beer will be sold are the following:
Pine Tree tavern, operated by Jack Faulkner, new owner, five miles south of the city limits; Capital Cottages, operated by J. C. Kriese, one mile north of Salem; Red Lantern tea room, operated by S. L. Chapin, near the Graber camp; Big Chief Service station, operated by M. H. Lytle, north of Salem.

tion" would be very scattered, if any. The brewery here was planning to do virtually all its delivering after sunrise Friday.
Included among the latest Oregon cities to adopt ordinances regulating but permitting the sale of beer are Dallas, Hillsboro, Tillamook, Clatskanie and Newport. The McMinnville city council was deadlocked, 3 to 3, on passage of a beer regulatory ordinance, and the matter appeared to rest there for the time. The mayor, by city charter, was prevented from casting the deciding vote.

MILK SHORTAGE IN SUMMER FORECAST

A milk shortage next summer looms in Salem as a result of the shortage of hay and other feed, J. E. Blinkhorn, county dairy and food inspector, announced yesterday. Poor pasturage because of the winter freeze and late spring, and the shortage and high cost of feed, he said, are resulting in poorly-fed cows and lower milk production.
Although the city is supplied by 142 dairies, the supply especially of cream ran short three days last fall, just before state fair time, necessitating transportation of milk from the Portland milkshed. Inspector Blinkhorn said he expected that the situation would be far worse this summer during the three rush periods: berry season, hop picking season, and state fair week.
The average daily consumption of milk here is 2600 to 2700 gallons.

FIVE HURT BADLY, LIQUOR EXPLOSION

PASADENA, April 5. — (AP) — Three young men and two girls were critically injured tonight by an explosion which partly wrecked an Altadena bungalow and jarred the entire neighborhood.
Deputy sheriffs reported that a barrel of whisky exploded as it was being "aged" with an electric needle by Robert La Salle, 36, who was so badly burned that he was expected to die.
Others injured were Bernard Tomple, 25; his wife, Mrs. Lucille Tomple, 29; Glen Owen, 22, and Louise Tarwater, 17.
All the victims were ordered held in technical custody when police records revealed that La Salle and Owens were at liberty under bond on liquor violation charges and that Tomple had been arrested several times on similar complaints.
