THOMPSON IS FIRST SENIOR TO GET JOB

To Matthew Thompson, member of class of 1933, Willamette university, goes the distinction of being the first student of the graduating group to secure a teaching position in the northwest. Thompson has been signed to be principal of the high school at Sweet Home, Linn county, for the school year 1933-34. Minnie Shrode, '32, who has attended Monmouth Normal school this year, is to be a teacher in the Sweet Home high school next year.

The university appointment bureau is busy making contacts leading to jobs for its teachers who graduated in recent years and teachers who are soon to graduate. Decrease in the number of teachers employed in many school systems this year and next is making the job of finding positions for new teachers difficult.

There are about 60 members in this year's senior class. Of that number 46 are to be eligible to become high school teachers.

Beer Not to be Sold at Oregon Fair, Decision

Max Gehlhar, state director of agriculture, announced yesterday that he would not permit sale of beer at the state fair this year. He said he did not think letting of concessions for beer's sale was wise and stated he did not wish for the fair management to handle the sale of beer as its own enterprise.

Gehlhar has recently received word that neither California nor Washington expected to have state fairs this year due to lack of funds. Oregon's fair will be financed in part from cash reserves carried over from 1932 and partially from the net returns expected to come from pari-mutuel betting.

Earl Fisher Made Head of Rotarians
Takes Office July 1; Male Chorus Quartet Sings; Auto man Speaker

Earl Fisher, state tax commissioner, and resident of Salem for many years, was elected president of Rotary club yesterday noon. He will take office July 1 and serve for one year. Others elected at the annual election were C. A. Sprague, vice-president; Eric Butler, secretary; George H. Riches, treasurer; Leif Bergsvik and Robert Hutcheon, directors. New members formally welcomed to the club were Kenneth Wilson, Irl S. McSherry and K. H. Pickens.

E. A. Danford, General Motors company zone manager for parts and service department, gave an address at the club luncheon on the care and operation of automobiles. He first recited the points which buyers look for in cars, in the order of importance: Appearance, comfort, performance, dependability, economy, safety and price.

He emphasized in the operation of motor cars the use of good grade of gasoline, and of careful attention to lubrication. Checking over of ignition and replacement of worn spark plugs not only makes for better performance but gives greater economy in operation. Good brakes properly adjusted are necessary because poor brakes are one of the most frequent causes of accidents.

AIRPORT GARDENS NOT SOUGHT AFTER

City Lots Still Available; Number of Gardens are Well Taken Care of

Though excellent garden lands on the municipal airport property are available free, and plowed, to Salem's unemployed, not a single application for a plot at the port has been received. City Engineer Hugh Rogers announced yesterday. Much of the land available, according to Rogers, was in cultivation before it was acquired by the city, and would produce good crops. He suggested it as especially suitable for potatoes and corn and discounted claims that the produce would be stolen before the unemployed growers could harvest it.

Applications for the plots may be made at the engineer's office, city hall. None of the early will be plowed up unless needy persons definitely agree to use it for gardens.

Within the city, however, a number of relief gardens have been planted on lots donated for this purpose and are being well taken care of, according to Red Cross workers. Many more lots, which formerly yielded good crops of grain, are still available in the section of the city southeast of Salem Linn mills. Applications are being taken at the U. S.-Y. M. C. A. Employment office.

Free garden seeds are being provided by the county, using R. F. C. funds.

JUDGE CONSIDERING CHILD CUSTODY CASE

Proper custody of the nine-year old son of Albert M. Steinbock and Gussie Steinbock was taken under advisement yesterday by Judge L. G. Lewelling after hearing extensive testimony by the father and the mother why each should be granted the lad's possession.

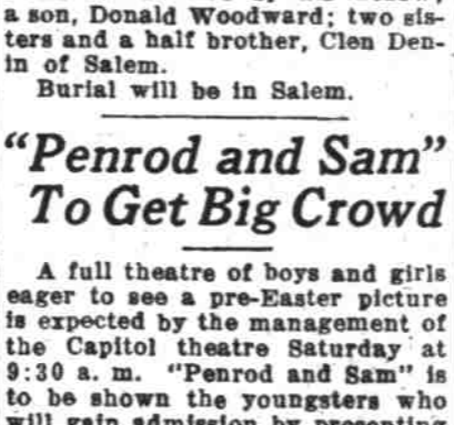

In 1929 the Steinbocks were divorced and custody of the child was granted the mother. Part of the intervening time until now the child has been with the mother, part with his father but the majority of the time with his paternal grandmother. The father has remarried and now wishes to have the custody of the child granted to him.

The lad's mother resisted the request made of the court. She came here from Los Angeles, Calif., to testify and by chance, was commissioned to bring little Gloria June Corey back to the latter's mother here.

AMENDED COMPLAINT FILED, DAVIS SUIT

An amended complaint in which Mary Davis seeks $20,700 from the estate of the late Cornelia A. Davis of Turner, was filed yesterday against S. M. Edicott, executor. Plaintiff contends she worked steadily for Mrs. Davis from 1880 to 1922 when the latter died. During all this period she was inadequately paid, the plaintiff holds, setting up $20,700 as her unpaid wage claim. The amount of charges made in the bill attached to the complaint ranges from $15 to $40 a month, the charge being increased according to the standard of wages at the various times plaintiff worked for Mrs. Davis. The Davis estate is a fairly large one. Much of the property was left in trust to the Christian church at Turner.
