Easter Breakfasts Observe Gay Custom

One of the charming customs of Easter time is that of "breakfasts." This Easter has been delightfully observed by several such affairs. One of the largest and prettiest was that for which a group of popular Salem maids were hostesses at the Spa Sunday morning.

Covers were placed for Mrs. Velma May, Miss Harriett Beall, Miss Fern Harris, Miss Margaret Bell, Miss Helen Engel, Miss Doris Drager, Miss Genevieve Karst, Miss Jeanette Park, Miss Frances Park, Miss Rosemary Sawyer, Miss Ruth Sawyer, Miss Dorothy Blaisdell, Miss Bernice Croner, Miss Dorothy Dahlberg, Miss Betty Vaughn, Miss Jean Lunford, Miss Bonny Baldock, Miss Barbara Porter, Miss Louise Kramer, Miss Ellen Hughey, Miss Margaret Hauser, Miss Doris McCallister, Miss Evelyn Ross, Miss Grace Holman, and Miss Marie Stutesman.

Following the breakfast hour the group attended Easter church services. Miss Henriette White entertained at the home of her parents, Major General and Mrs. George A. White, with breakfast served at small tables. Covers were placed for Mrs. Deryl Myers, Mrs. Clifton Irwin, Mrs. Homer Smith, Jr., Mrs. Raymond Bonesteele, Miss Rovena Eyre, Miss Myra Bell, Miss Margaret Burdette, Miss Kate Corey, Miss Pat Gallagher, Miss Ruthella Hoffnell, Miss Louise Gallagher, Miss Jean Wilson, Miss Margaret Holtzel, Miss Margaret Drager, Miss Virginia Newland, Miss Margaret Wilson and for Miss White.

Miss Linda South was another Sunday morning breakfast hostess complimenting Miss Mabel Lenz, Miss Irene Stover, Miss Helene Schneider, Miss Iram Welser and Miss Helen Schultz. Candlelight, and flowers to carry out the color scheme of yellow and green made a lovely effect for the table. Miss Irma Weiser assisted Miss South.

Mrs. Carl Butte was also an Easter morning hostess serving breakfast in company to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Spaulding, Mr. and Mrs. John Brophy, Miss Leone Spaulding and Mr. and Mrs. Butte.

Jefferson—Mrs. Chas. McKee and Mrs. William Skelton were hostesses to the Past Noble Grand club at the home of the former. Miss Frances Gols name was added to the membership.

Falls City—The Friendship Circle was very delightfully entertained by Mrs. Jack Wagner at her home Thursday afternoon.

Pattern

Perk up to go places and do things in the crisp new cottons that are all the vogue this season! This frock is just perfect for on of them. It has a clever yoke treatment with drop shoulders to stimulate the cape silhouette. Snappy pleats and topstitching, which is also a smart note, is easy-to-make... and a world of style!

Pattern 2582 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 14 requires 3 1/2 yards 36-inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included with this pattern.

ECONOMIST AT COOKING SCHOOL

Mrs. Marian Spencer, home economist who will conduct a three-day cooking school at the armory, April 26, 27, 28. Mrs. Spencer is connected with the Safeway Stores Homemakers Bureau.

Safeway Home Economist Tells How Keep Cooking From Becoming a 'Bogey'

"Don't allow cooking to become a bogey! Modern ways, modern recipes will equip you to be a 'kitchenner,' instead. No longer is there need for women to stand red-faced and with a persecuted look over a 'hot stove all day.'" This is the message of Mrs. Marian Spencer, member of the Safeway Stores Homemakers' Bureau. Cooking the carter, who will conduct a modernized cooking school in Salem for three days beginning Wednesday, April 26 at the Salem armory. Mrs. Spencer, noted home economist of the west is prepared to prove her statement to western women when she offers, free of charge, results of thorough culinary research from the bureau's scientific testing kitchen. Sessions will be held for the benefit of Salem women each day at the armory from 2 until 4 p. m. with doors opening at 1 o'clock. Household questions will be answered before, during and after the class periods, and extra queries replied to by mail. Within the two hour time limit, Mrs. Wright will prepare ten varied dinner, luncheon and dessert dishes each day as evidence of her contentment that. "There is no mystery, no hard-boiling to cooking. It's merely a matter of using what material you have at hand, adaptability and the following of recipes." Mrs. Wright, national director of the Safeway Stores Homemakers' bureau, is well known to western homemakers by reason of her leadership in the Safeway Stores Homemakers' bureau and testing kitchen and from her Friday morning radio network household talks and newspaper articles. Under her direction is a cooking school staff of eight young women, all university trained home economists with practical working experience. These are in addition to the bureau's regular staff. Records of the bureau show that as many as 5,000 women have attended a single session of Mrs. Wright's cooking school. "Information, I am bringing from the test kitchen," says the noted home economics instructor "is the result of the most modern, up-to-the-minute experimentation. And there is no laxity in our tests, either." She says, "Before we place our seal of approval on a product, it must be of the best." Mrs. Wright has a kitchen mascot, the Little Red Teakettle, and it will be in evidence to the homemakers who attend the sessions. This Little Red Teakettle, it is confided, was found only after diligent search of shops on highways and byways. It is the insignia of the bureau's contention that western home life centers about the kitchen fire more than the living room hearth. It is this test kitchen, with its little red teakettle that makes possible the practical, modern culinary knowledge which will be offered homemakers at the three day cooking school. "Bring a pencil and take notes," urges Miss Spencer. And she promises tasty souvenirs to various members of the class.
