Writers Section is Guest at Smith Home

Variety of themes gave the program of the Writer's section of the Salem Arts league, Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. W. D. Smith, especially interesting angles. Romance, fairy story, poetry, literary studies, and history were a few of the subjects treated. Mrs. Blanche Jones opened the program with a short romance, 'Chance Acquaintance." Dr. Mary Rowland followed with the narration of a personal experience, entitled "The Tramp." Mrs. Ruth M. Fargo read an article on the Shakespearian sonnet; Mrs. F. G. Franklin gave an appreciation of Clinton Scollard, poet, who died recently, Mrs. B. L. Steeves presented a short story called "Sweet Briar," and followed it with a poem, "Past All Understanding."

Renska Ladd Swart contributed a bit of verse and Mrs. Jessie Singleton a brief story entitled, "Beating the Egg." Dr. F. G. Franklin told of improvements being made in the filming of books, an advance for libraries and research students. Mrs. Edua Daily contributed another of her versions of a Mother Goose rhyme. This version took up the humorous and delightful modern story of the cow jumping over the moon.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Clifford motored down from Corvallis to be present. They will entertain the writer's section at its May meeting, at which time a leader for the ensuing year will be Present also were Perry Reigelman, Ernest Smith, and Mrs. W. D. Smith, who was joint-hostess with Grace Elizabeth Smith.
