Bearcats Best Wolves 7 to 6 in Lively Ten-Inning Game

Circuit Clouts, Wild Plays Play Large Role: Burch Provides Fortitude

By RALPH CURTIS Horseshoes as thick as eggs at an Easter hunt were concealed, figuratively speaking, all over Olinger field Wednesday afternoon and they were unearthed indiscriminately by Bearcats and Wolves, with the result that they battled through 10 queer innings, Willamette coming through with the punch to win, 7 to 6, over Oregon Normal. The first two wolves to face

Don Burch, Bearcat freshman hurler, circled the bases on nonstop flights, but that wasn't his fault. One outfielder let Kitchen's long drive slip through his fingers and another came in too fast on Wright's hit and it bounded past for a home run. The play on Kitchen was scored as an error. That should have been enough to unnerve any freshman, but Burch stuck with the job. A neat double play cut short that rally. Burch was, in truth, a bit nervous in the second inning; the Wolves loaded the sacks twice, the first time with nobody out, but Burch himself started the double play that stopped the attack and then fanned Wright to close the inning, after the paths had been saturated again.

In the fifth the Wolves got two more, on two clean hits and two exceedingly scratchy ones. Bearcats Hitless

First Four Innings Up to this time Treadway Charles, on the mound for the teachers, had held Willamette hitless; but in the fifth Moye broke the ice with a line drive single. With two out, McCann was safe on an error, so that the six runs which followed were unearned. Moye scored on that bobble after advancing on a wild pitch. Pemberton pinch hit for Moore and lifted a twisting drive over htird base. Manning smashed one through the box to score Mc-Cann. Erickson walked. Oravec was safe on a bobble, Pemberton scoring. Gribble took one in the ribs and everybody perambulated, Manning walking home. Commons cracked out a hit to right field, scoring Erickson and Oravec.

The Bearcats had the game all sewed away in the ninth, two runs to the good, when a bobble on an easy play kept the Wolves in the race and permitted Kitchen to score. Gretsch, safe on that error, scored on Kelsey's hit to tie the count. Harp, running for Charles, could have scored the winning run on a wild pitch, but stayed rooted to third.

The Wolves loaded the bases again in the 10th, but Burch fanned Wright and stabbed a hard drive that Koch dropped at his Oravec, Commons

GRAND FINALE OF TITLE BOUT

Here is the start of the body slam that put an end, for the time being, to the championship aspirations of Nick Lutze, who matched his brain, brawn and endurance against Champion Jim Browning, at New York, for the title. The battle lasted for one hour before the champion glued his opponent to the mat.

The adults of the First Presbyterian Sunday school gave a dinner at the church Tuesday night for the winning teams in the junjor and senior church basketball leagues, inviting also the runnerup team in the senior league. Speakers for the evening were

FOUR-STAR

Not only is Joseph Vavra, sophomore at Syracuse (N. Y.) University, a star of diamond and grid, but he shines just as brilliantly on the basketball court and boxing at 220 pounds, is the first athlete at Syracuse to win four major letters. He may acquire a fifth next season, as he is now taking up shot-putting.

Larry Wolfe, as most everybody knows, has in his time put over a few "fast ones" on opposing coaches-all of them, we must hasten to add for fear Larry will suspect we don't like him, perfectly legitimate-but he met his match in Spec Keene Wednesday.

But in the ninth things were getting ticklish. Spec, counting noses, realized that if Charles' substitute scored it would put O. N. S. ahead. So instead of allowing a sprint-10-Inning Battle er to take Charles' place, he picked out Harp, Wolfe's rotund catcher. Spec had a right to do BOSTON, April 19. — (AP) — that because a substitute runner Walter Beck, rookie right handed is subject to the opposing team's Harp proceeded to steal second base because there was a man on third and McCann didn't throw; that was, if we err not, one of the two or more occasions when Harp thumbed his nose at the Willamette bench. He got on around to third on Kelsey's hit. Then occurred a wild pitch, the ball going back to the grandstand among a group of spectators: but Harp remained flat-footed on third base. He probably would have won the game for the Wolves if he had run.

Walt Erickson and Pete Gretsch, who used to be backfield mates on the Bearcat football team, staged a little fly-chasing duel, and it may have been because he had more opportunities. but Walt came out ahead, grabbing five of which at least three were spectacular; one a shoecontinuing without interruption string affair and two on long pending the decision of Judge L. sprints toward the railroad tracks. Pete smeared two, one of which looked like a homer, and also knocked down a ball that was rolling for similar results.

The caddles out at the Salem Golf club have been putting their spare time to good use, leveling off a baseball diamond southwest of the clubhouse; and tonight it will be more or less formally dedicat-ed, with a kitball game between the caddles, led by John Variey, and the members, un-der the captaincy of Don Hendrie. The game will start about 5:30.

Members who will play include Ted DeTennencourt, Gra-ham Sharkey, Walt Cline, Frank McFarland, Fred Anunsen, Bill Stacy, Bert Victor, Frank Lynch, Walter Robinson, Bob McFarland, Tom Wolgamott, Earl Burch and Hendrie, but the captain declares some more players are needed and members are invited to be on hand in play-ng togs. The caddies' team which will later participate in the city league, will line up to-day as follows: Maurice Groves c, Ivan Kafoury p, Joe Her-berger 1b, Millard Groves 2b, John Varley ss, Walt Herberger 8b, Bob Utter cf, Laurie Blaisdell lf, Paul Shafer rf.
