

PROSPECTIVE VALLEY NEWCOMERS MANY

Dairy, Farm, Shrub Lands in Call; Queries Coming From Many States

An unusually heavy correspondence is being received by the Salem chamber of commerce. Among the list is an army man who hopes to locate near Salem when he retires from active service, and the mayor of a Wisconsin town, who wants to invest in a small farm near here.

The list is passed on to local persons who may wish to correspond with one or more of the prospects:

John R. Gleason, Headquarters,

First Infantry, Fort Francis, E. Warren, Wyoming, writes that he intends to locate in Oregon when he retires from the army and is very much interested in acquiring some suburban property near Salem.

A. S. Martin, Tulare, California, is interested in coming here and raising log fibre flax.

Mrs. Charlotte Meadows, principal Ralston public schools, Ralston, Douglas county, Nebraska, writes they expect to come to Oregon this summer with the intention of purchasing a home site near Salem.

Miss Willa Zimwalt, 403 South Court street, Tuscola, Illinois, is looking for a farm in the Salem district.

Otto Arntzen, 2255 Stout street,

Denver, Colorado, writes he is planning to come here to spring to locate on a farm, suitable for raising fruit.

A. Roy Moore, 533 East 2nd street, Pomona, California, is interested in stock raising and diversified farming in this district.

W. T. Crawford, mayor Albany, Wisconsin, is looking for a small farm of 10 to 20 acres, improved, in the Salem district, suitable for raising chickens and vegetables. Or would be interested in buying a neat market.

M. E. Ethel, 1230 Hayes street, San Francisco, wants to buy some good farm land in this section of the Willamette valley.

Irving Cleski, 5333 East Green Lake Way, Seattle, has residence property in Seattle to trade for a farm in the section of the Willamette valley.

A. Elversane, 8216 Langley avenue, Chicago, Illinois, is interested in farming in this part of the Willamette valley.

Thos G. Nummer, 2916 Estes avenue, Chicago, Illinois, is looking for a small farm in this part of Oregon.

John L. Ohms, Box 322, New Buffalo, Michigan, is looking for a medium sized farm in this section of Oregon.

Fred W. Roehert, box 182, Maxbass, North Dakota, intends to locate on a farm in this district.

Harry C. King, 3811 Olive street, Kansas City, Missouri, writes that he wishes to buy a small business or piece of land in the vicinity of Salem.

N. E. Chicago, box 381, Toledo, Oregon, wishes to buy small acreage near Salem, suitable for raising poultry.

F. C. Christensen, Route 10, box 162, Fresno, California, wishes to buy about five acres of land, unimproved, suitable for raising berries and poultry.

A. R. Smith, 3417 Oxford street, Des Moines, Ia., is interested in farming and fruit growing this part of Willamette valley.

Elizabeth Caulkins, 49 East Morrish, Long Island, New York, intends to come here in the near future and is interested in a place with plenty of high timber and a high altitude—not interested in commercial value, but in beauty and health.

Mrs. W. S. Syla, Box 315, Mojave, California, writes he is interested in purchasing a farm in the Salem district.

Mrs. H. J. Tiemann, 612 Charter Oak street, South Pasadena, California, want to buy a small country place in the Salem district to raise chickens, fruit and vegetables. They have employment, but are tired of city life and want to move to the country.

April Term of Circuit Court In Polk Begins

DALLAS, April 20—The April term of circuit court resumed here yesterday with the first case on schedule that of Ira Drake, arrested March 4 near McCoy for driving on the highway while intoxicated. The jury returned a ver-

FROM "JOYSTICK" TO TROUT ROD

It is quite a change from zooming through the clouds to wading through a stream in search of speckled beauties, but Captain Frank Hawick, famous speed flier, seems to enjoy it. He is shown as he changed the joystick for the rod and reel at the opening of the trout season at Carmel, N. Y., where he was a guest of the Gypsy Trail Club.

diet of guilty and Judge Walker will sentence him Monday. Monday, April 24, the civil case will be tried of Rhodella Annetta Johnson against the state industrial accident commission. She is suing to collect compensation which she claims is due her as result of an injury suffered by her husband in an accident. The claim further alleges that her husband committed suicide by jumping off the Ross island bridge following a state of despondency caused by his injury.

OREGON'S GENERAL FUND DEFICIT CUT

Oregon's general fund deficit has been reduced materially during the past month, Fred Paulus, deputy state treasurer, announced yesterday after he had repaid $724,000 of a loan of $11,024,000 obtained from the Portland banks. The state treasurer previously paid $250,000 on this loan, leaving a balance of $50,000 due the banks at the present time.

This money was borrowed last October for the purpose of tiding over a financial emergency, and was to be repaid within a period of six months. Paulus said the treasury department also had wiped out a loan of $700,000 received from the state highway commission and had repaid $270,000 on a loan of $1,000,000 obtained from the world war veterans state aid commission. The remainder of the latter loan will be repaid as fast as funds are available, Paulus indicated.

Reduction of the state deficit was made possible through receipts of personal income, intangibles and corporate excise taxes in excess of $1,000,000. Other revenues received by the state treasurer recently include $700,000 of license fees from the state insurance commission, and approximately $200,000 of inheritance taxes. An additional $1,500,000 will be received shortly after June 1, when the first-half property taxes for 1933 become due and payable.

Injured in Home Canning, Seeks $29.90 Damages

Hugh C. Hart helped his wife with some canning last January and severely injured a finger on his right hand. Yesterday he filed suit against the state accident commission asking $29.90 damages for the 23 days he was unable to do his regular work. Plaintiff alleges that the commission has twice denied his claim which he contends is fully justified.

Georgia's crop of pimento peppers took on new importance with the revelation by a food expert that they are rich in vitamin A.

RECOVERING

Still weak from the effects of an appendicitis operation, U. S. Senator James J. Davis, of Pennsylvania, is supported by his nurse as he leaves the South Side Hospital, Pittsburgh. The Senator was to have gone on trial recently in connection with the interstate shipment of lottery tickets, but the trial was postponed indefinitely owing to his illness.

CERTIFIED POTATO SEED USE ADVISED

Virus Diseases not Evident From Surface; Extra Cost Worth While

"No one on earth can look at two piles of potatoes and say with certainty which one is better than the other."

E. R. Eckman, extension specialist in farm crops, who knows the Oregon potato business from both ends, is author of that challenge. Of course, he says, some things like soft rot, scab, and rhizoctonia can be detected by looking at the "spuds," but the main danger of potato crop—the virus diseases—may lurk in the finest looking pile of potatoes to be found.

"A nice smooth potato is not likely to differ in seed value from the rough one beside it," says Jackman in urging the advantages of certified seed. "Frequently the rough one may be much better, as three of the commonest types of virus diseases tend to make the tubers smooth that do develop."

"Certified seed is that which is tagged with the official tag sealed on the bag by a representative of the state college. Growers pay for this inspection and certification, hence the little extra charge for this type of seed is fully justified and the seed is well worth the difference. One growing his own seed can do what the certified seed growers do—maintain a seed plot, learn the diseases and rogues them out.

Varieties Are Described Speaking of the various varieties of potatoes to plant for the early or mid-season crop, G. R. Hyslop, head of the farm crops department, gives these brief descriptions of the leading sorts for this state:

Bliss Triumph—An oval, pink potato with white flesh, suitable for most any section of the state, gaining special favor in Malheur county. Good flavor and cooking quality and yields better than some a trifle earlier.

Irish Cobbler—A white early potato that sets fewer tubers than some but reaches market size early. Favored in some lower elevations in eastern Oregon.

Early Ohio—Pink oval potato with white flesh favored in dry-land sections where the growing season is very short. Earliest of All or Idaho Rural—A white oval potato, very productive, setting a large number of tubers. Not necessarily "earliest of all." John D. Rockefeller once pedaled about his Forest Hills estate in Cleveland on a bicycle.
