

SUBRIE TALKS FOR EDUCATORS

No Surplus of Adequately Trained Teachers in Sight, Leader Says

MONMOUTH, April 24.—Dr. Ambrose L. Subrie of New York university, speaking Saturday morning at the seventh annual educational convention of the Oregon Normal school, said in part, that the first published series of essays on public education was written by Benjamin Rush the year George Washington was inaugurated president of the United States. It has taken a century and a-half to accomplish the dream of Rush, a dream of freer, more accessible education for every child.

The first public schools, Dr. Subrie says, were originally known as paupers' schools. Only those who could not afford private schools attended them. He quoted John Dewey, who in 1898 as 99, addressing parents of aristocratic private schools in Chicago, courageously said that what they wanted in education for their children was what every citizen of this commonwealth should desire for his children. Only comparatively recently have high schools become accessible as public institutions.

Surplus of a Kind
No other type of institution has so large a responsibility as the school of teacher training. There never has been, is not now, and is not likely to be any surplus of adequately trained teachers, Dr. Subrie believes. The surplus in too many cases consists of poorly trained teachers.

More and more, permanent life certification is being curtailed; upgrade requirements and upgrade certification being requisites of progressive teacher training in many states.

Compliments Evenden
Dr. Subrie paid a very high tribute to Dr. E. S. Evenden, alumni and ex-faculty member of the Oregon Normal school, who for several years was on the faculty of Columbia university, New York; and for the past three years has been employed in the government bureau of education at Washington D. C., preparing and compiling a new program for teacher training which Dr. Subrie believes will cause many national changes in the field of education upon its release.

Dean H. G. Shelton, University of Oregon, prefaced his talk on Social Science in upper grades, with statement representative of the university found the recently asserted statement of Dr. William Cooper concerning abandonment of the Oregon Normal school at Monmouth, to be a distinct surprise to the university.

Dean Sheldon reviewed propaganda as it is utilized in the school program, taking as his example its use in Italy and Russia where a strong militarism and pride in national war achievement is early instilled into every school child.

The address of Superintendent C. A. Rice of Portland on Financing our Educational Program; and that of Superintendent C. A. Howard on New School Legislation presented thoughtful information.

At 6:10 o'clock in the dormitory, Phi Beta Kappa, Monmouth chapter of a national education honorary, was banqueted. Forty-five members were present, Dr. A. S. Jensen having charge of the affair.

CUBAN DICTATORSHIP MENACED

While Cuban exiles in New York are making plans for the overthrow of President Gerardo Machado's dictatorship of Cuba, a sinister underground warfare is being prosecuted in the island paradise between the Machadistas, supporters of the President, and a group of societies, opposed to the government, which have combined with the common aim of acquiring control of the country. In New York, Dr. Carlos de la Torre, former professor at the University of Havana, has been elected president of a new Cuban revolutionary junta, composed of prominent exiles, among whom are Dr. Miguel M. Gomez, former Mayor of Havana; Colonel Mendez Penate, leader of the Nationalist Party; General Mario G. Menocal, former President of Cuba and leader of the last revolution against the Machado government. During the last few weeks, a reign of terror has existed in the island. Shootings and bombings are so common as to no longer be marveled at. The secret police of President Machado are accused by the revolutionaries of using American gangster methods in getting rid of their enemies. During the week before Easter no less than 56 deaths by violence are reported to have occurred in Havana. It is charged that the government is using the dreaded "ley de fuga" (law of flight) to murder political opponents. But the Cuban administration denies everything—even to the existence of a revolutionary movement.

Joseph Holman was of course the pioneer who came with the Peoria party in 1839, arriving the day the Lanes sailed at Fort Vancouver, June 1, 1840. He was the grandfather of Joe Albert, of the Ladd & Bush Trust company.

Mrs. Bennett, who owned the chickens, was the wife of Capt. Chas. Bennett, who came in the '44 covered wagon immigration. In 1846, he was elected captain of the Oregon Rangers, organized at the home of Dan Waldo of the '43 immigration, taking the name of the original company formed March 9, 1844, with T. D. Kaiser, captain. Kaiser presided at the meeting of 1846.

Captain Bennett was one of the three discoverers of gold at Sutter's mill in California, Jan. 24, 1848, the others being J. W. Marshall and Stephen Staats—all of them from Salem and vicinity. Capt. Bennett, at the head of his company, was killed in the Indian war at Walla Walla in 1855, in the skirmish in which Peopemomox, or Yellow Serpent, wily Cayuse chief, lost his life. In the mean time Capt. Bennett, with gold he had gained at Fort Sutter, had returned to Salem and erected the Bennett House, finest hotel of this time in this section—standing where the Masonic Temple now stands.

HONEY MAID BRAND GRAHAMS FAVORED

"Why not get ALL the goodness the wheat has to offer," remarked Mrs. Marian Spencer yesterday as she unpacked a big green box of Honey Maid grahams. She was getting the supplies, utensils, etc. in readiness for the opening session of the course in kitchening which is scheduled for 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the armory.

"We are getting away from the conventional in foodstuffs today, more than ever," she continued. "and here in these Honey Maid grahams we find a good example. Time was when many women considered graham crackers just a tasty delicacy... a between-meal tid-bit, you know. But the fact is, Honey Maids have all the health-building nourishment of sun-ripened wheat and we are going to show our friends in this locality a lot of possibilities for these delicious crackers in brand new recipe as well as in combination with a lot of the old stand-bys.

Mrs. Spencer remarked that she chooses Honey Maid Grahams because, like other products of the National Biscuit company, Honey Maid Grahams are baked oven-fresh in bakeries located at strategic points in the Pacific coast area so as to offer close-at-hand delivery service to enterprising grocers who handle all Uneseda Bakers' goodies.
