The day also brought an acceptance from this government of an invitation to participate in a four-power wheat conference in May under auspices of the league of nations. Canada, Argentina and Australia — other great producers of wheat — also have been invited.

Tomorrow at the meeting in London of the preparatory committee of the world economic conference, Norman Davis, special ambassador in Europe for President Roosevelt, is expected to propose a world tariff freeze pending opening of the conference June 12.

war veterans that "we can have an expansion of credit without deflating the dollar, going off the gold standard or issuing greenbacks. Measures now before congress so much too far to accomplish what is wanted."

"All measures," he said, "proposed by the administration that will promote the common welfare are entitled to our support, irrespective of party, though in the interest of sound legislation the opposition should subject every bill to the tests of analysis and debate."

"Personally, I would waive all objections as to details if the main purpose be constructive, and recognizing that the administration has a clear mandate from the people, I would resolve doubtful questions in its favor and be willing to subordinate by own judgment. Moreover, under present conditions, I recognize the force of the argument in favor of experimentation."

lation in school circles of being one of the most active of directors, especially in her capacity as chairman of the building and grounds committee.

RECIPE FOR MAPLE FREEZE REVEALED

A recipe for maple freeze promised to Salem housewives by Mrs. Marian Spencer, homemakers' bureau economist at the cooking school here, is herewith printed:

2 cups milk
2 teaspoons gelatin
1 cup maple syrup
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 egg yolks
1/2 pint whipping cream

Pinch of salt.

Method: Soak 1 1/2 cups of the milk. Soak gelatin in remaining 1/2 cup of milk. Beat yolks slightly and pour scalded milk over them, add soaked gelatin to hot milk and still until dissolved. Strain. Add vanilla, salt and maple syrup. Chill thoroughly and fold in beaten cream.

Dr. Hill's Movie Program Viewed By Large Crowd

A large crowd turned out last night to view the series of motion pictures shown by Dr. David Bennett Hill and to hear his accompanying talk as the feature of the Y. M. C. A. lobby program.

The pictures included one full length comedy and "movies" taken of winter sports on Mt. Hood. The program was in charge of the junior board of directors with Gus Moore, boys' work secretary, presiding.

Merchants Will Aid Purchase of Radio Receiver

Merchants of Yaw Park district are taking enthusiastically to the suggestion of several of their number that a fund be raised to install a short wave receiver in the car of Officer W. E. New, night police patrolman in that district. With not all of the businessmen yet solicited, around $200 had been subscribed last night. Sixty dollars is needed.

While the fund is being raised, it is probable a demonstrator receiver will be put in the car.

NOOSE BALKED BY INSANITY

Head twisted, a vacant stare in her eyes and her fingers winding and unwinding a handkerchief about her wretched head, Winnie Ruth Ruff, Arizona trunk slayer, is pictured in court at Florence as she listened to the testimony of experts who argued over her sanity. The woman showed no interest when the jury declared her insane, thus saving her from the scaffold and condemning her to incarceration for life in the State Hospital for the Insane. A rider to the verdict provides for the death sentence in the event she recovers her sanity.

Cooking School Acclaimed On Closing Day; New Ideas On Roasting are Explained

What is unanimously said to have been the most successful cooking school ever conducted locally came to an end yesterday when Mrs. Marian Spencer of the Safeway Stores Homemakers' bureau told an enthusiastic crowd of housewives gathered at the armory the newest developments in meat cookery and revealed a further variety of recipes of universal interest among local homemakers.

Outstanding among the features of the afternoon's demonstrations was the roasting of a fowl, be it chicken, turkey, duck or what have you, without basting. This was accomplished through the creation of a blanket artfully contrived from flour and water and draping the sides of the bird to retain moisture, and a maximum of flavor, during the roasting process.

Of probably equal interest was the roasting of standing beef ribs in an open roaster without the addition of water and, as a partner to the roast of beef, the preparation of a Yorkshire pudding which gave every evidence of proving a taste-worthy addition to anybody's roast beef dinner.

Mrs. Spencer served informal notice on local husbands that there need now be no excuse for the absence of dumplings when dumplings should be the order of the day, by demonstrating a favorite old dumpling recipe which is claimed to end failures in that favorite masculine fodder at once and for all time.

Still another recipe of considerable consequence to women who have grown weary of old-fashioned stuffing for fowl was that of a sausage stuffing made with seasoned sausage meat and bread crumbs, the final result being a novel tastiness for both the bird and its interior furnishing.

One would hardly suspect the possibility of developing anything new out of commonplace ham-and-cheese sandwich but Mrs. Spencer showed that even this is possible by demonstrating what she termed a Golden West sandwich made of the customary ingredients plus a solitary egg and a few tablespoons of milk and handling the entire group of ingredients in a new and happily astonishing manner.

How to utilize the popular complexion value of carrots in a novel and tasty salad especially welcomed by the younger generation was a recipe which drew approval from the fascinated audience, and the glorification of rice with the aid of bananas, pineapple, whipped cream and powdered sugar was another concoction which was received with enthusiasm.

One of the most difficult of all dishes, the omelet, was given a new interpretation by Mrs. Spencer, with the result that omelet lovers will be welcoming something different in their favorite egg dish at the first opportunity.

In drawing the course in "chickens" to a close, Mrs. Spencer expressed her pleasure in the splendid attendance that featured all three days of the gathering.

"The Safeway Stores Homemakers' bureau," she said, "is already beginning work under the direction of Julia Lee Wright on next year's cooking school. We hope that we can make it even more complete and more interesting than we have sincerely tried to make this one."

She also called attention to the fact that the bureau is ready at any time to answer any homemaking questions that may arise.

Soldiers Home Transfer to be Made Wednesday

Transfer of the Oregon state soldiers home to the federal government has been authorized for May 3, it was announced at the offices of the state board of control yesterday.

The home will become a part of the veterans hospital now nearing completion.

The transfer of the home was authorized by the last legislature and the deeds recently were signed by members of the board of control. The state will save approximately $200 annually as a result of the legislative act.

Prowler Picks Out Wrong Time To Enter Store

An unknown prowler chose an ill time for crime when he attempted to enter the J. C. Penney store, 150 North Liberty street, at 10 o'clock last night. Employees, working in the balcony office, heard someone prying on a skylight, yelled and then telephoned police.

Two prowler cars were dispatched by radio, another from headquarters and three foot patrolmen sent to surround the block. The prowler had evidently fled before the officers arrived. No traces of him was found.

Band Boys Honored By Silverton 4-Ls

SILVERTON, April 28 — The local order of the 4-L's is entertaining Saturday night for the Silverton band boys who won first in their division in the recent state contest. The boys will give several selections and other numbers are also being arranged for. The program is open to the public.

Wild turkeys raised in Missouri parks during 1932 had a value of $25,000, the fish and game department reported.

PUBLIC WORKS PLAN SHAPING UP, SAID

The federal public works program is shaping up satisfactorily except that funds for highways should be definitely earmarked for that purpose and expended as at present under the secretary of agriculture and the state highway departments, F. E. Severson, president of the association of State Highway Officials, telegraphed R. H. Baldock, state highway engineer Friday.

Severson, who also is state highway engineer of Wyoming, is now in Washington, in an effort to persuade President Roosevelt to release federal highway aid funds recently diverted from the states to the forest employment relief program.

Severson previously had telegraphed Baldock that there was some danger that federal aid road funds would be withdrawn for a period of several years.

Baldock declared that the last telegram received from Severson was encouraging and indicated that the federal aid road funds might be released through the public works program.

Silver Foxes Best Indians, Lead Tied Up

SILVERTON, April 28 — In a game enlivened when a couple of youths followed the example of their big league brethren and engaged in a brief fist encounter, Silverton high defeated Chemawa Indian school 12 to 8 here today, tying up the lead in the Willamette Valley Interscholastic league once more. Unless one of these leaders is "knocked over" by some dark horse, they will have to play off the tie at the end of the season.

Leonard Yivette, Chemawa pitcher, and Albie Rudishauser, Silverton catcher, were banished from the game for fighting, the trouble occurring because Yivette was believed by the local players to have blocked Scott who was scoring from third. Neither belligerent got in more than one blow before they were separated.

The game was a free-hitting affair, Chemawa getting 14 hits and Silverton 16, though the home team's blows were all collected by four men, Orren, Scott, Reed and Brady. Each of them hit a two-bagger, and Scott was credited with a home run.

The victory was the fifth straight for Alvin Schwab, Jones and Seltice of Chemawa hit three-baggers and Yivette and Alexander hit for two bases. Markishum and Bobb also figured in the Indians' hitting.

Fishermen Will Decide Today on Possible Strike

ASTORIA, April 28.—(AP)—Gillnet fishermen of the lower Columbia river, still contemplating a strike unless prices paid for Chinook salmon at the opening of the season today are satisfactory to them, planned to meet here tomorrow night for final decision.

A conference between packers and fishermen was called by the Columbia River Protective Fishermen's union today, but only two of the large packing firms here were represented and neither would agree to the fishermen's demand for 8 cents a pound.

COW TRAIL BEING CHANGED TO ROAD

One of the biggest jobs yet projected under the R. F. C. relief program in Marion county is being undertaken by Billy McCall, road patrolman in charge of crews southeast of Salem, according to County Commissioner Nelson. This project is the improvement of an old cow trail which will serve many people as a short cut from Turner road to Fairview home.

Two other jobs for which Mc-

Riley Bespeaks Courageous View Of Life Problems

Dr. P. O. Riley, editor of the Hubbard Enterprise, gave an epigrammatic talk to the Salem Ad club Friday, stressing a hopeful, courageous and dynamic outlook on life and its problems. He punctuated his talk with frequent anecdotes and concluded it with a poem he wrote, honoring the late Charles Berg of Portland.

The speaker classified men as "sellers" and "tellers" holding that the latter category were persons of little accomplishment because their dreams never were realized.

Stanley Keith proposed that the club conduct a program on "quality in merchandising" and the suggestion is being considered by the program committee.
