"BLACK TOM" BLAST EXPLAINED

The method employed in causing the great "Black Tom" explosion in New York, back in the days of the World War, is graphically described in a recently-published book, "The Dark Invader," by Captain Franz von Rintelen, who was, he asserts, the master mind of Germany's espionage system in America before the United States declared war on the Central Powers. Von Rintelen describes the "pencil bomb," by means of which he destroyed munition ships destined for the allies in Europe. The infernal machine no larger than a cigar, consisted of a cylinder of lead, hollow at both ends, with the compartments thus formed divided by a thin copper plate. Acids of unspecified classification were placed in each end of the cylinder and the device was planted among the cargo of the ship marked out for destruction. In a given time the acids ate through the dividing plate. When they met and mingled spontaneous combustion followed. Although von Rintelen was in a British prison camp at the time of the "Big Tom" explosion, he claims to have engineered the affair. The book is of great interest to Great Britain, not because of the story it tells, but because of the dedication. For von Rintelen has dedicated his opus "To my daughter, Marie Luise." This 22-year-old daughter of the master-espionage was mentioned in the recent cause celebre in which Lieutenant Bailie-Stewart, a British officer, was convicted of betraying his country's secrets to a foreign power. Von Rintelen, while bitterly denying his daughter had any connection with the case, admitted that facts brought forward at the court martial were "wonderful coincidences."

FEW OF TRANSIENT MEN ARE VAGRANTS

Open Door Mission Leader Says Wheel of Fortune Turned on Them

Sketching informally the activities of the Open Door Mission located at Chemeketa and North Commercial streets, Earl J. Sechrist, its leader, told members of the Salem Ad club yesterday that no more than 15 per cent of the 2000 men accommodated there last month could be termed vagrants while a number of the men were college graduates with successful working experience behind them. "The wheel of fortune has turned against these men; it is only a thin line which separates them from the men now gainfully employed," he declared. The aim of the mission is to help the unemployed man to rehabilitate himself spiritually as well as physically, he said. He cited numerous experiences where men had caught a new and worthy vision of life through the mission's help.

Sechrist pointed out that continued unemployment breeds unsocial attitudes and makes men question the values of the present system and become antagonistic to it.

He praised the work of the churches of Salem in cooperating with the mission in furnishing regular nightly programs. An open fireplace kept constantly burning, is a feature of the mission and here men gather to discuss all manner of problems, Sechrist said. Much of the support of the mission comes from its "royal" he said inasmuch as they provide wood, rustic food and do miscellaneous jobs about the headquarters.

New Views

"Do you believe the business turn has really come? Have you any personal evidences to prove it?" These questions were asked by Statesman reporters yesterday.

Albert Hettwer, Scotts Mills farmer: "It looks about 60-50 to me. I would say things look about half for the good and half for the bad. Personally, I haven't experienced any better prices."

L. T. Meredith, salesman: "I'm more hopeful than for a long time, though things aren't rushing with me. I note that some newspapers are gaining in advertising; that's a sign of business optimism."

HOPS LULL AT 52 CENT QUOTATIONS

50-Cent Contract Price is Reported, Sonoma; 54 Cent Offer Spurned

The hop market apparently struck a lull here yesterday, in spite of the fact that a bona fide offer of 52 cents was refused and another 52 cent offer was accepted with an F. O. B. clause. Street talk of a contract offer higher than the 30-cent figure was denied by one of the supposed participants.

However, the biggest contract price on the coast went through in California, when 50 cents was taken in Sonoma county on an unknown quantity. This report was confirmed, and to date this price is the highest contract figure.

Louis Lachmund reported that he yesterday refused a 52-cent offer on 250 bales of his hops.

Roberts and Linn sold around 30 bales at 52 cents F. O. B., which is said tantamount to 50 cents which growers have been receiving on the spot.

PORTLAND, Ore., May 5—(AP) Hop growers in Oregon were today refusing dealers' eager offers of 54 cents a pound for their holdings. The market was strong and unusually active and some growers and dealers declared the $1 a pound mark is now in fair view.

During late trading yesterday, the Journal said today, between 500 and 1,000 bales were sold at 50 cents. This included 125 bales of early tuggles.

The bureau of agriculture here said today there are now about 17,300 bales of all grades in growers' hands on the coast, with Oregon growers holding around 7,500, Washington 1900, and California 7,800 bales.

The latest government estimate of increased acreage for Oregon is around 2,500 acres; for California 2,500 acres, and Washington, 1,250 acres.

LAST RITES HELD FOR W. S. LEVENS

Funeral services for William C. Levens, assistant Attorney general, who died suddenly at Eugene Tuesday, were held from the Clough-Barrick mortuary Friday. Interment followed in Belcrest Memorial park.

Services at the mortuary were conducted by the Christian Science church, with the Elks ritual at the graveside. Members of the state supreme court acted as honorary pallbearers. The active pallbearers included close friends of the deceased. State and city police acted as official escort. Chief of Police Jenkins of Portland, and other prominent officers from various sections of the state attended the services. The attorney general's office was closed Friday afternoon.

Mr. Levens at one time served as state prohibition director. He had been employed as assistant attorney general since 1923. At the time of his death he was at Eugene conducting the prosecution of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Banks, charged with the slaying of Constable George Prescott of Jackson county.

Clear Your Skin of Unsightly Pimples

Every woman wants a clear, beautiful complexion—free of unsightly pimples, blotches, and roughness. These blemishes are caused by toxic products in the tissues and blood—many of them due to the lack of the proper minerals in the body. These minerals or cell-salts, as they are called, build firm tissues and cleanse the blood of foreign matter.

Give your complexion the natural loveliness it should have by drinking Cal-O-Dine—a natural mineral water which supplies all of the cell-salts and essential minerals in a natural form—easily assimilated by the blood stream.

It comes to you just as nature made it. It is not a medicine or a laxative. One half-gallon, a month's supply, will convince you of its effect on your complexion.

A bad complexion is an indication of poison in your system. Let us tell you about dosing of local people who are clearing their complexion this easy, natural way. Phone 6726, or see Mr. E. A. Unruh at 226 North High Street, Salem, Oregon, for free information—no obligation. s-5.—adv.
