

Robin Reed Meets Jack Kennedy in Wrestling Headliner

IDAHO BATTLER HIGHLY TOUTED

Higami Unable to Come due To Injuries; Wiles to Meet Gob Frantz

Wrestling fans here will be delighted tonight to second glimpse of Fetura Higami, the amiable Japanese, he having suffered injuries which are keeping him in a Seattle hospital. Whether it was wrenching his spine under the pressure of a Boston crab a week ago, that keeps Higami away has not been revealed.

Tonight's main event will however be just as good a match as the programmed Higami-Chet Wiles affair, and perhaps better, for there is a considerable weight margin in Wiles' favor in that one, Robin Reed and Jack Kennedy are moving up to the main spot and the two-hour duration.

Kennedy is unknown here but he bears a good Irish name, comes from Boise, home of the fancy potato, and has beaten such men as Pat Finnegan and Jimmy Bond, who are known to local fans.

Wiles will be here after all, meeting Salor Frantz, with whom he once wrestled a draw in Salem, in the hour and one-half bout.

Herman Olson and Glenn Stone, always willing mixers, will clash in the 30-minute opener as previously announced.

Stayton Has Lead; Turner Drops Behind

MEHAMA, May 7.—Mehama's Mid-Willamette league baseball team turned a double trick Sunday when it defeated Turner 6 to 2. It won its first victory of the season, and toppled one of the teams that had been leading the league undefeated.

The "under dog," Mehama proved stronger at that and just as capable a field as the favored opponent. Fitzgerald of Mehama hit a home run in the second inning. The home squad scored all of the remainder of its runs in a fifth inning rally on four hits.

Mehama's victory over Turner shoved Stayton up into undisputed possession of the South Marion division leadership, Stayton defeating Jefferson 9 to 0 at Jefferson Sunday. Insofar as cool, he leaved, rain prevented the playing of all other Mid-Willamette league games.

WOODBURN BEATEN BY SELLWOOD NINE

WOODBURN, May 8.—The Woodburn team of the Portland Valley league was defeated by the Sellwood team at Sellwood, 16 to 0, Sunday. It is thought the game will be protested due to dissatisfaction with an umpire's decision.

Walt Erickson Gets Coach Job at Camas High; Record As Bearcat is Exceptional

Walter Erickson, Willamette '33, yesterday was notified that he had been elected coach of athletics at Camas, Wash., high school. He is the fourth member of this year's graduating class to secure a teaching position.

Erickson, president of the Willamette university student body and football captain last fall, also is a letterman in baseball and an honor student.

His home is at Washougal, three miles from Camas, and he was active in athletics when a student of the high school there. Dean Frank M. Erickson expressed gratification at Erickson's election yesterday and said his only regret was that his basketball team would not be eligible to compete in the Oregon tournament at Salem.

For four successive years Erickson won a halfback berth on the All-Northwest conference football team, and in his sophomore year, received an honorable mention on the All-American selection which is most generally recognized as official, the one made by leading coaches throughout the nation.

He wound up a brilliant career on the gridiron last November by intercepting a pass in the last minute of the Whitman game, thus clinching a Bearcat victory which turned a "just fair" season into an outstanding success.

Erickson has also been a notable performer in baseball, playing in a number of positions but finding his speed most advantageous in the outfield. He has been a close student of all sports, both on the field and in coaching theory classes. He is student assistant in the physical education department this year, and has had considerable practical experience in coaching, as a substitute.

Scores Fair at Trans Although Wind Deceptive

Clarence Townsend and Kehne Wald tied for the lead in the scratch competition at the Salem Transhoppers club course Sunday with 45s, and Lawrence Imlah took first place in the handicap with the same score. Dr. G. E. Prime won in the doubles with a score of 20 out of 24.

Other scores in the 16-yard shoot were: Boyer 36, Niles 42, Shedeck 37, Simon 40, Prime 44, Bowne 40, Parker 35, McKay 41. Treacherous gusts of wind hampered the marksmen.

SALEM'S DIVOT SQUAD WINNER

Local Club Defeats Oregon City 43 1/2-28 1/2; Strong In Lower Ranks

The Salem Golf club 24-man team exhibited the expected enhancement in point-getting power when it defeated Oregon City Country club 43 1/2 to 28 1/2 on the Oregon City course Sunday. Despite a high wind which provided some of the less fortunate divoters with an alibi, the scores made by most of the Salem players were excellent.

Strength in the lower rankings was the factor which brought the Salem club such an overwhelming victory for Oregon City had an edge in the upper half of the list.

The Salem players reported that they were royally entertained, and enjoyed the day's play greatly. Bill Elmsig, Curtis Cross, Guy Smith and Graham Sharkey later in the day made a good catch of salmon in the river, though Sharkey and Cross admitted that Elmsig and Smith were the "technical men" in the group.

Pitching Takes the Spotlight

By BURNLEY

THE BATTERS HAVE BEEN ALMOST ENTIRELY OVERSHADOWED BY THE HURLERS THIS SPRING!

THE amazing predominance of low-hit games and pitching duels this spring has caused so much discussion in baseball circles. Has the ball been changed, or was the cold weather to blame? I certainly think that the ball in both leagues is very noticeably less lively than it used to be. The Jack-rabbit seems to be dead.

The question remains whether this is a good thing for the game. A lot of people seem to think that the rabbit ball made a farce out of baseball, and that the fans had grown tired of slugging sprees and countless home runs. According to these critics, the thrill of the long hit and the home run is eliminated by their too frequent occurrence.

These critics say that when too many circuit smashes are hit, the home run becomes cheapened and loses its big appeal. Then, too, the speedy, scientific type of game produced by the less lively ball is said to have more interest to the fans

CURT COMMENTS

Golf is seldom a monotonous game, but if it ever does seem that way, we recommend that you pick out a nice windy day. Starting out with the wind at your back, you can feel just like Walter Hagen as your mediocre drive sails and sails, far past the 200-yard mark which may ordinarily represent your ultimate throw. Encouraged thereby, your approach shots will click nicely, and you won't mind if they sail a few yards too far.

Provided the first three or four holes are laid out in the same general direction, you'll continue to bang out great drives and match them with slick approaches; and then, maybe, you come to a tricky short hole. Your confidence is still helping out and your iron shot lofts beautifully; and then just in front of the green a mysterious gust of wind will grab it and shut it off into a trap.

And right on top of that blow to your pride, you come up to the next tee and face directly into the wind, and you smack a tremendous drive, just right except that it is a little high—and then have to duck to keep it from blowing right back into your face. That ball will rise and rise, fighting the wind, and go nowhere.

So you walk the few steps up to it, and knowing now what you are up against, you whack away mightily at that pesky pellet—and we don't have to tell you what happens then. It takes you five good shots to reach the five-par green, and your morale being what it is right then, you take three putts. Goodbye score.

If we took the trouble to record the results of every ball game that was scheduled for Sunday and Monday, nine-tenths of them would be the same story and rate the same headline. The Senators and the Elks didn't play Sunday, the Bearcats didn't play Monday. There is little hope for any of the three games scheduled for today. It's a good time to be a philosopher.

The Senators and the Elks, by the way, have scheduled a game for Friday afternoon at 5:15 which will provide a good opportunity for local fans to see the two teams which will represent Salem this summer. The Elks have drafted Harry Scroggins to pitch for them.

Ward's Riverside Tires

LAST year I made a great discovery! I learned that Riverside Tires are made by the same company that makes one of America's 4 leading brands. They're exactly the same—same materials, same workmen, same specifications. They differ in trademark and price—Ward's price is 20% lower. What's more, Riversides are guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction.

When I heard that, I put them on my Packard and I've been using them ever since. That saving of 20% will buy a lot of things I need. No tire salesman will ever get me to pay extra for other tires again. I'm married to Riversides.
