

MARION JERSEY TESTS HIT HIGH

First Places in Association Work Taken by Madsen And Miller

SILVERTON, May 10.—Marion county Jersey herds won high places over all breeds in April in the Yamhill-Washington counties testing association in which there are 30 herds totaling 620 cows, according to the report of Harold Finegan, association tester who has just completed his April records.

The two herds belong to two of the younger breeders of purebred Jerseys. Winning first place in the group having herds of under 12 head was Victor Madsen of Silvertown, his herd averaging 44.5 pounds of milk. Neal Miller of St. Paul won first place for herds over 20 head, his herd averaging 43.1 pounds butterfat and 740.10 pounds milk. Miller also had second and high cow, showing an average of 77.4 pounds of butterfat and 1325 pounds of milk.

Frank Clark, another Marion county breeder, maintained the second highest average for herds over 20 cows during the first six months of testing. Clark had cows on the honor roll of three-year-olds, three-year-olds and two-year-olds. All three Marion county men had placings on the honor roll for two-year-olds. This is Madsen's first year in the association. Only a few Marion county dairy cattlemen are in the association, Marion county having no association of its own.

M. G. Gunderson, another Marion county Jersey breeder, who is a member of the association, has one cow, Dora of Oakwick, which, according to Mr. Finegan, has made an exceptionally fine record by maintaining an average of 69 pounds of butterfat and 1324 pounds of milk during the past four months.

Some of these Marion county high testing Jerseys will be shown at the Marion County Jersey Cattle club show to be held at Salem June 7. The island style of judging with two breeders and a referee, from outside of Marion county, will be initiated this year at the spring shows during Oregon Jersey Jubilee week.

DIAMOND ON AUCTION BLOCK

Although Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean, Washington society matron, hopes to raise $250,000 by the sale of her famous Hope diamond, it is probable that a very great many people would refuse to accept the ill-starred gem were it offered to them for the sum of a thin dime. For the great diamond has an evil reputation, which has followed it down the years since the time it was brought out of Central Asia in the 17th century up to the present. The gem first came into prominence when Louis XIV of France gave it to his wife as a bribe to induce her to close her eyes to his philanderings with Madame Du Barry. The curse asserted itself and France was forced to sign the humiliating Treaty of Paris that deprived the Empire of India and Canada. Lost for two centuries, the stone reappeared in England, when Lord Francis Hope presented it to his American actress bride, May Yohe, for a wedding present. When the nobleman later divorced his lady, the diamond was claimed. When last heard of May Yohe was scribbling floors in Chicago, a poverty-stricken, broken woman. Lord Hope sold the diamond to Habib Bey, an Oriental nobleman, who was drowned, and the stone became the property of Prince Kantakuzi, who was assassinated. Edward B. McLean bought the diamond in 1910 for the wife from whom he is now estranged. Eight years after it came into the family, Vinson Walsh McLean, the eldest child of the couple, was killed by an automobile on the one occasion when he eluded the small army of guardians who watched over him. Thereafter things went from bad to worse, the huge McLean fortune shrunk, marital discord arose and the McLans were legally separated.

LYONS, May 10.—Mr. and Mrs. Megel and family who are recently from Idaho, have temporarily located in the D. H. Monroe house. They hope to locate here permanently. Wilfred is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Lewis of Lyons. John Neal was a Lebanon business visitor Wednesday. Mr. Neal reported seeing a considerable amount of the farm land not sown yet on account of the wet weather which has been a vast hindrance to farmers throughout the country. The low, wet land will not likely produce much being put in so late in the season. Several farmers here are ready to plant corn as soon as the weather will permit. Mrs. R. P. Lyons was hostess for the afternoon Friday at the home of Mrs. John Trask, in honor of Mrs. Trask's birthday.
