

Wildcat and Bearcat Will Clash on Diamond Here Today

HITTING TUGGLE DEEMED LIKELY

Both Squads shy of Mound Talent at Present; no Titles at Stake

Willamette university's baseball team will close its Northwest conference season this afternoon, meeting Linfield at 3:30 p. m. on Olinger field. This should be an exceedingly close contest, for these teams tied at 5-5 in a game early this month which was rained out, and Linfield nosed out a victory several days ago at McMinnville.

It also may turn into a hitting duel, for both of Linfield's regular pitchers worked today, as against Pacific Wednesday, losing though they held the Badgers to few hits; and the Bearcat squad is rather short of mound talent in top condition at present. Burch also worked Wednesday and Tweed has been suffering from a sore arm.

Tweed is scheduled to start, but if he falters Pemberton will probably take his place. Pemberton made a better showing against the Wildcats in the game at McMinnville, than either of the regulars.

Both teams are out of the conference race, Willamette finding itself in that situation for the first time in four years. Pacific will make the trip to Walla Walla to play Whitman. The Bearcats will play a post-season game with Oregon at Eugene next Wednesday.

Stayton Nine 'B' Champion In South End

STAYTON, May 25—A happy and elated group returned from their encounter with Aumsville on the diamond there Tuesday afternoon, for that game made Stayton the champions in the B league, composed of the smaller high schools of the county.

At the first half of the ninth the score was 7 to 7, but the locals managed to score four runs, making a final score of 11 to 7. They will go to Chemawa Friday, which is neutral territory to meet Gervais, champions of the north half of the county to determine the county championship.

Stayton had played a game with Aumsville, but it was canceled because of irregularity in the Aumsville lineup. The game here Tuesday was the official game.

New Stars of the Red Sox

By BURNLEY

FERRELL, A CRACK MASKMAN, HAS STRENGTHENED THE RED SOX BEHIND THE BAT!

WELL, it looks as if the Boston Red Sox are not going to be doormats for the rest of the American League any longer. Tom Yawkey, wealthy sportsman who bought the Boston franchise last winter, is apparently determined to make the Red Sox into a winning club, and this year he has already purchased a number of top notch ball players, just to show that he's not fooling.

Yawkey and Eddie Collins, his general manager, put over a ten-strike when they acquired "Rick" Ferrell, brilliant backstop, and Lloyd Brown, an experienced and capable southpaw, from the St. Louis Browns, for a reported price of $50,000.

Ferrell, who is the brother of Wes Ferrell, famous Cleveland moundsman, is a high-grade receiver who, in Eddie Collins' opinion, is second only to Bill Dickey of the Yanks among American League catchers. He is a good hitter, too, having batted for 215 last year and 300 in 1931.

Lefty Lloyd Brown is a smart southpaw with lots of stuff, though he is none too strong and needs plenty of rest between starts. He figures to win plenty of games for Marty McManus' gang if handled right.

Not content with having forked over half a hundred grand for these two stars, Yawkey went ahead and purchased George Pippas, Bill Werber and "Dusty" Cooke from the Yanks, and this time the price tag was reputed to be $75,000—which is a lot of dough, any way you look at it.

Pippas has been one of the Yankee mound aces for some years, and when he is right he is a mighty good hurler. Wildness has been his trouble in the past, but at any rate he is probably a better pitcher than any man on the Boston staff at present.

Werber is a very promising young infielder who looked so good with the Yanks this spring that it seemed for a time as if he would take the shortstop job away from Crosetti. For some unknown reason, however, McCarthy soured on him, and now he is getting his big chance with the revamped Red Sox.

Cooke, a speedy outfielder and a splendid hitter, was acquired from Newark. Dusty has been troubled with a lame arm for the past year or so, but this spring the bum wing appeared to have come around all right. If his arm doesn't go haywire again, he should be a big help to the Red Sox.

Bits for Breakfast

The vessels originally in the exploring squadron under Capt. Wilkes were the Vincennes, sloop of war, 780 tons, his flagship; the Peacock, sloop of war, 650 tons; ship Relief; tender Sea Gull, and tender Flying Fish. The ship Relief was sent home from Callao; the Sea Gull was lost in May, 1839. Before the squadron had reached the Oregon coast it had been reduced to the ships Vincennes and Peacock, the tender Flying Fish, and the tender Flying Fish.

Capt. Wilkes was to make a greater name for himself in American history 20 years after his explorations in the Oregon country. He remained in the U. S. navy. In 1861, Wilkes was placed in command of the sloop of war San Jacinto. His duty was the pursuit of the Confederate war vessel Sumter. Most persons with even a smattering of history recall his encounter with the British mail steamer Trent on Nov. 15, 1861. Trent was carrying the capture of John S. Edgerly, Louisiana and James M. Mason of Virginia, with their secretaries, on that vessel; of his being lionized, on that account, in Washington, New York and Boston—and of the international controversy that followed.

According to police there had been bitter feeling between Trapani and the Passarellis for several years. This morning Mr. and Mrs. Passarelli stood in their front yard talking with Montano, owner of several houses across the street.

Suddenly Trapani emerged from his house next door, yelling and waving a heavy calibre gun. He opened fire and Mrs. Passarelli fell dead. Montano suggested a short distance down the street and dropped to the sidewalk, fatally wounded. One bullet grazed Passarelli's head. Trapani ran back in his house, reloading his gun, and as he reached his porch, put the gun to his head and pulled the trigger, killing himself instantly.

NEIGHBOR QUARREL IS FATAL TO THREE

SAN JOSE, Calif., May 25—(AP)—A neighborhood quarrel of several years' standing ended here today with three persons shot to death and another slightly wounded.

The dead were Mrs. Jolito Passarelli, 60; Luca Montano, 62, and Luca Trapani, 64. Gaetano Passarelli, husband of the dead woman, was slightly wounded.

Salem High Pounds Out Win 12-8 Over Albany; Season's Record Even With All Foes

Salem high school's baseball team wound up its season Thursday afternoon with a rather unusual record—that of having neither won nor lost a two-game series with any high school opponent. Series with Chemawa, Silverton, Albany, Canby and Hubbard were divided. The only team which defeated Salem high and was not beaten in return, was the Oregon State Rook squad. To balance that, the red and black won from the Willamette reserves in the one game played.

The season for Coach Hollis Huntington's team was closed satisfactorily with a victory over Albany high at Albany Thursday afternoon, 12 to 8. The game was featured by a pair of home runs, pounded out by Ike Winfermute and Mike Miller. Wintermute's sailed out of the Linn county fairgrounds, the ball alighting in the street beyond center field and bounding onto a lawn on the far side. Both came in the sixth inning, with a putout intervening.

With Ellis Mason on the mound, Salem held Albany to five hits and two runs up to the eighth. In that frame Mason weakened slightly and let two come in, and Albany staged a four-run rally in the ninth. The Salem was not in danger even at that, for Huntington's crew had scored in the first inning, took advantage of Olson's wildness to tally four more in the third, made another in the fifth and the two on circuit clouts in the sixth, and four of the boys hit in succession in the ninth for four more.

Vern DeJardin was the slugging star of the day, hitting four times out of five trips, but Mason got on the paths by devious methods, an equal number of times. Kellblock was the Albany man who gave Mason the most trouble.

TO MEET LEGION NINE CENTRAL HOWELL, May 25—The Central Howell baseball team, Alec Slicker, manager, will play the Silverton American Legion team at Central Howell Sunday.

The historic incident became known as the "Siddell and Mason affair," and Wilkes received not only acclaim but reward in promotion for his timely coup; though he was wise enough to know he was causing his government to fly in the face of world opinion. He boldly took the risk, that under different auspices might have brought him great blame instead of loud acclaim.

BURGLAR BIG HELP TO GLASS MARKET

Not until he had broken four windows was a burglar able to enter the stock room of the Roy Smith service station, 1030 North Commercial street, some time Wednesday night, and to take candy and cigarettes valued at $20.

The station was robbed two months ago and a considerable quantity of loot was taken.

The burglar evidently was a slender young man for he went through a window space not more than 14 inches square. Apparently he first tried to enter the station by the front office door, falling when he could not open the lock after breaking the window panel. He then broke a window in the double doors of the equipment room. When he failed to make an entrance here, he broke out the west window of the station, then broke another window inside the station in order to reach the place where the goods were kept. He took 220 candy bars, a quantity of chewing gum and eight cartons of cigarettes.

Police were without further clues to the burglar last night.

Road Opened to Breitenbush, is Word Thursday

The road from Salem to Breitenbush hot springs is now open to automobile traffic, Mark Skiff, owner of the resort stated last night. It has been 22 years since the road has been opened so late in the season Skiff said.

He also reported that a crew of 40 men are at work at the government camp at Humburg getting ready to take care of 250 men who are expected soon from the list of reformation recruits.

LARGER FUND FOR HIGHWAYS LIKELY

Will be Over six Millions Is Latest Report From Devers at Capital

Favorable action on the public works bill now pending in congress will mean that the Oregon state highway commission will receive a direct federal grant of approximately $6,720,000 for road and bridge construction instead of $5,768,900 as estimated at the time the bill was introduced.

This information was contained in a telegram received at the state highway department yesterday from J. M. Devers, attorney for the highway commission. Devers was sent to Washington recently to assist the Oregon delegation in outthanking its rival program.

Another section of the public works bill authorizes the president to loan 100 percent of the cost of any project contemplated. In case the president does not desire to grant such a loan he has the alternative of making a direct grant of 30 percent and loaning the additional 70 percent of the cost of a project.

Highway officials here declared that the amount of money available under this section of the bill apparently would be limited only by the amount of the total appropriation and the cost of the projects proposed for construction.

Devers telegraphed today that he was preparing an application on behalf of the state of Oregon based on a direct grant of 30 percent and a loan of 70 percent. It was pointed out that this procedure would save the state highway commission approximately $1,125,000 in the construction of several bridges estimated to cost $3,400,000.

FASHION SHOW AT S.H.S. IS SUCCESS

Claimed by many to have been the "best yet," the sixth annual fashion show and tea was held in the high school auditorium Wednesday afternoon. This annual show is held in honor of the mothers of the high school girls. The program motif was a scrapbook idea, this plan being carried out in the decorations and attire of the participants.

The Julia Creech award, given to the outstanding girl in the home economics department, was won by Lucille Hackett, president of the H. E. club. Honor pins were presented by Mrs. Eula S. Creech, home economics instructor, to Mary Lois Driggs, Dorothea Corey, Geneva Barnes, Iris Jorgensen, Alice Dahlen, Mona Vosberg and Frances Jensen. Ruth Morris, Dorothy Beckley, Helen Marcy, June Edwards and Rosemary Sawyer received honorable mention and Roberta Patton and Esperance Page also received special mention.

A showing of graduation dresses and "makeovers" was particularly outstanding. The dresses were worn by the girls that designed them.

Iris Jorgensen, Dorothy Beckley, Dorothea Corey, Anna Sheridan, Lucille Hackett, Mae Tucker and Helen Worth composed the committee in charge of the afternoon's program.
