Senators Want Morgan Outline From Pecora; More Secrets out Today

WASHINGTON, May 30—(AP)—Amid debate over disclosures it already had made, the senate banking committee arranged today to receive from Ferdinand Pecora an outline of the course he expects to pursue in the resumption tomorrow of the inquiry into J. P. Morgan and company.

The debate in the senate today circled about a possible successor for Secretary Woodin, who has been disclosed as having been on a list of those sold stock by the Morgan company at the resumption price several years before he took the post as head of the treasury.

Senator Long (D-La.) told the senate selection of Lewis Douglas, director of the budget, to succeed Woodin would be like "going out of the frying pan into the fire."

Woodin Successors Talked

His remark stirred a discussion of possible successors to Woodin in which the names of James M. Cox, former presidential candidate, was mentioned, but in which there was no mention of the belief Woodin would resign.

Woodin was named on the two lists of special clients of the Morgan firm which have been put before the investigating committee.

Pecora, the committee counsel, was expected to start the inquiry out tomorrow with another such list of clients to whom stock was sold at bargain prices.

Before resuming his job of uncovering the innermost activities of the house of Morgan, however, the aggressive counsel must give a review of his evidence to the investigating committee.

Undisturbed by the committee's decision, Pecora arrived in the capital late today.

He will be without one of his strongest supporters on the committee during most of the remainder of the inquiry, as Senator Citizens (R-Mich.) is going to London as a delegate to the world economic conference.

Long Scores Douglas

Long opened the senate debate by reading a report that Douglas would succeed Woodin. He contended the budget director's family was "intricately interwoven with the Phelps-Dodge corporation," which he contended was a Morgan affiliate.

Senator Ashurst (D-Ariz.) quickly came to the defense of Douglas, asserting he was courageous, honest and unsubsceptible to influence.

"It would be astonishing news to me if Mr. Douglas had any connection with a Morgan company," Ashurst said. "But even if he were financially interested, Mr. Morgan would be impotent and powerless to influence that young man."

During Ashurst's speech, Senator Norris (R-Nebr.) interrupted to point to published reports that Cox had declined an offer of Morgan stock. This has been denied by Pecora.

ROYAL COURT SOLD TO WILLIAM WALTON

Sale of the Royal Court apartments by Adam Engel to William S. Walton was announced this week. Mr. Engel will give possession tomorrow when Mr. Walton will take charge and designate a resident manager who has not yet been chosen.

The Royal Court is the largest apartment house in the city and one of the last to be built. It was completed in 1927. There are 49 apartments. It has been popular with statesmen, a. W. Norblad resided there five years, and Governor Meier had large apartments there which he surrendered recently for smaller quarters there.

The Royal Court is located at the corner of Chemeketa and Capitol streets.

Mr. Engel plans to remain in Salem and engage in other business.

Amnesia Victim Is Still Mystery To Police Here

Police last night had failed to identify the woman who was suffering here Friday apparently suffering from amnesia. The woman is about 45 years old, well-dressed and carried a purse containing considerable money. She mentioned being on a train between Seattle and Portland. Police have communicated with Seattle officers in the hope of establishing her identity.

2000-Foot Spin Kills Two Fliers

LOS ANGELES, May 30—(AP)—Two men crashed to their deaths in a field near Arcadia today when their airplane, coming out of a loop about 2000 feet above ground, went into a tail spin. The men were Wayne Merrill, 36, veteran pilot and an instructor at Alhambra airport, and George E. O'Bannon, 35, salesman and student of Merrill's. Both were dead when persons nearby reached the plane.

WAGES CUT AGAIN

LAKE LABISH, May 30.—The onion picking season is in full swing with virtually all growers taking advantage of the warm weather. Wages, which were cut 30 per cent last year, have been cut another 10 per cent this year.

experts to carry out his program. Ralph W. Morrison of San Antonio, Texas, was named by the president as the sixth man to fill out the delegation. The president also named the following specialists: William C. Bullitt, executive officer; James P. Warburg, financial adviser; Fred K. Neilsen, legal adviser; and Herbert Feis, chief technical adviser.

In announcing this list the president said the membership still was incomplete.

He is expected to obtain a republican to serve on the delegation. President Roosevelt was understood to be seeking another, possibly Representative James W. Wadsworth of New York.

Have Not Discouraged; Trade of Tariffs Aim

Discouraged by a feeling voiced elsewhere in the capital that little more than an agreement for the stabilization of foreign exchanges would be achieved at London, Secretary Hull was looking forward also to reciprocal tariff adjustments that might remove present obstacles to world commerce.

The secretary believes a stabilization of exchanges without tariff agreements would be of little use and has said that unless exchange stabilization was accompanied by tariff agreements changes would quickly snap back to their present dislocated position.

In connection with the tariff negotiations at the London conference President Roosevelt apparently plans to send to congress within a week a message asking that he be given authority to raise or lower import duties. To what extent he would seek this authority remained to be disclosed but the assumption has been that Mr. Roosevelt would seek the power to raise as well as lower tariffs by a maximum of 50 per cent of their present level.

Administration Wants Full Power on Arms Embargo

Keeping close watch developments pertaining to the London conference and the Geneva arms reduction parley as well, the administration meanwhile also is planning an effort to remove restrictions placed by the senate foreign relations committee upon the arms embargo resolution which Mr. Roosevelt requested.

The house approved a resolution giving the president authority to declare an embargo on munitions to any country after obtaining satisfactory concurrence from other nations.

The senate committee Saturday attached an amendment compelling the president, if he declares such an embargo, to make it applicable impartially to all nations involved in the dispute which evoked the declaration.

Car Crashed Like Paper Box by Impact

Billman was fatally injured when his car crashed into the retaining wall on the northeast turn, skidded to the top and hung there, the front wheels remaining on the track and the rear wheels hanging over the wall. With the first terrific impact, the side of the car which Billman was driving was crushed like a paper box. Billman's left arm was mangled. He was rushed to the emergency hospital, where physicians amputated his arm in an attempt to mical band struck up the Star Spangled Banner as the flag was hoisted to full staff.

City, Army Leaders in Reviewing Stand

Resuming the march, the line filed past Mayor Douglas McKay, Brigadier General Rilea and Commanding General Stols, commander of Sedwick post, G. A. R., and then to his terminus at the armory. Col. Carl Abrams was grand marshal of the day.

In the parade marched units of the national guard, veterans of the Spanish-American war, members of the American Legion, a color platoon of the boy scouts, Automobiles carried G. A. R. members and ladies' patriotic orders such as the W. R. C., American war mothers, daughters of veterans.

The formal program at the armory was well attended and received close attention. After the singing of America by the audience, led by Mrs. P. L. Walters, Glenn Adams, department chaplain Sons of Union veterans, gave the invocation. William Bush sang baritone solos, accompanied by his brother Jack. Lincoln's Gettysburg address was recited by Delbert Anderson. Violin numbers were played by Frank E. O'Hara. L. C. McShane read General Logan's orders of 1863 instituting the day. The American Legion auxiliary trio sang two very pleasing numbers.

Ir. S. McSherry, past commander of the American Legion, presented Mrs. Gene Thompson of Illinois, national president of the auxiliary to the Sons of Veterans. Mrs. Florence Shipp, department president, W. R. C., and Mrs. Glenn Adams, department president of the auxiliary to Sons of Union veterans.

The address of the day was delivered by Justice James U. Campbell of the state supreme court, himself a veteran of the Spanish war. He paid a brief tribute to the members of the G. A. R.

"Had the southern confederacy been successful in 1861-65 that would not have been the only division in this country. We would have had other divisions west and north and with them enmities and hates and tariffs, the same as Europe where people are ready to leap to arms. Now there is one flag over 140 millions of people. It was these men who made it possible for that flag to wave without one star being blotted out."

"This is a day of tender memories. It means something to everyone with loved ones laid away in lonely cemeteries."

Turning to the subject of war

Meyer intends to quit racing for the year and go back to his home in Huntington Park, Cal., with the $12,000 he won as first prize.

Fire Department Not to Send Men To June School

Salem fire department probably will not send any representatives to the Oregon Firemen's school, to be held at Corvallis June 7, 8 and 9, according to Chief Harry Hutten. The local fire force has been reduced in manpower to such an extent that it cannot spare any men at that time and the chief himself plans to stay in the city in case he is needed, he explained yesterday.

The firemen's school, conducted by the Oregon Fire Chiefs' association with the cooperation of Oregon State college and the state board for vocational organization, will offer study and practice courses in drills, first aid, fire fighting methods, record keeping and fire prevention. On June 7 a contest will be held for the Sanderson first aid trophy.

MEMORIAL DAY QUIET

Memorial day passed quietly in Salem as far as the police were concerned. The only activity reported by the city force was the arrest last night of two men on charges of drunkenness. They were John Casida of Salem, and Charles Houghton, transient.

the balance of the 1861 prisoners into locked cells and gave out a list of the missing. They reported quiet prevailed in the prison.

The break was made quickly and apparently had been well planned. It came as Warden Prather was finishing a two year term as head of the prison. Lacey Simpson of Canton recently was appointed to succeed Prather of June 1.

Pat Wire Around Neck Of Warden; Get Keys

Eight convicts drew revolvers and pistols while the Decoration day baseball game was being played, quickly grouped themselves around Prather and placed a wire around his neck, and proceeded to commandeer keys to one of the guard posts on the wall.

They went up a stairway to the post, No. 3, lowered a ladder on the other side and made their dash. The retreat was covered by the warden and his guards.

Turning backwards they ran, several of the prisoners fired a volley into the group of watching guards, wounding John Stewart, a guard, in the arm.

The dash led to the prison garage, where Alex Davis, negro trusty, was washing a sedan belonging to W. W. Woodson, prison farm superintendent. Virginia Woodson, 15, his daughter, was preparing to drive the car away. Davis grabbed the girl from the wheel and ran away from the car toward the Woodson home. The prisoners fired several shots in their direction.

Warden Orders Halt

The guard at No. 3 post, Albert Courtney, was reported to have fired a shot into the group. The prisoners, who held the wire around the warden's neck, ordered Prather to tell the guard to stop shooting.

The ladder used by the prisoners in getting over the wall was obtained by prisoner Harvey Bailey. Bailey has been known as the "gold course" bandit, because he was arrested last fall while playing golf in Kansas City with Francis L. Keating and Thomas Holden, who escaped from the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, where they were serving sentences for the $132,000 Evergreen Park, Ill., mail robbery. At his trial Bailey was identified as a participant in the $2,000,000 looting of the Lincoln, Neb., Bank and Trust company.

The fleeing convicts eluded hundreds of officers thrown into the manhunt. They went in and Justice Campbell scoured those who used it to make profit for themselves.

"The minute you take a profit out of war, fighting will cease. Man power has always been drafted, but material wealth has never been drafted. When it is drafted the same as your boy then you will have gone a long way to create a peaceful world."

Judge Campbell discussed the interest burden on the billions of national debt:

"The great expense is our overhead,—interest on the bonds we paid to make millionaires out of beef packers and munition makers. Until we get over this economic system we will not have a prolonged era of prosperity. We will have to make a change some way or the burden will grow too big."

Comrade Gideon Stols, commander of Sedwick post, served as presiding officer. The singing of Star Spangled Banner led by the auxiliary trio and the benediction concluded the program and ended the observance which was planned and carried out by the association of patriotic organizations of Salem.

STRAY BULLET HITS STAGE'S PASSENGER

AUMSVILLE, May 30.—An unusual accident occurred today when a stray bullet struck the windshield of the Hammond stage, splintering the glass, a piece of which fell and struck Jack Corser, a passenger, cutting a deep gash in his knee.

The accident happened about 5:30 p. m., while the stage was bound for Aumsville from Salem, and at the time was near the Lee Sutton farm. Corser was riding in the front seat and was the only occupant to receive injury.

The origin of the bullet's flight was not determined.
