

Local News Briefs

Hop Magazine Out — The second number of The Oregon Hop Grower, new hop industry magazine for the northwest, comes out today from the press of the Mt. Angel News, Sidney Jackson, publisher. A leading article by Mrs. Nancy Ward Honeyman of Portland urges repeal of the 18th amendment by voters of Oregon at the July 21 election. Other articles deal with various topics related to the production and marketing of hops. Beginning next month, the magazine will be published bi-monthly during the harvest season. The magazine is going to 1500 individuals.

Lewis on Duty — Hubert duB. Lewis of Salem, second lieutenant in the United States army, is now on duty at Fort Lewis, Wash., at the civilian conservation corps conditioning camp according to word received locally by his friends. Lieutenant and Mrs. Lewis and daughter returned recently to Salem after spending two and one-half years in leave. Lieutenant Lewis was unexpectedly called to duty with the 14th Coast Artillery at Fort Worden and later was sent to Fort Lewis for duty with the civilian conservation corps.

Many Mayors to Meet — Letters received here Tuesday indicated that virtually all the mayors of Willamette valley cities will attend the sewage disposal conference to be held in Portland Thursday. The conference was called by Governor Meier. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss plans for the establishment of a series of sewage disposal plants with funds borrowed from the Reconstruction Finance corporation. Mayor Douglas McKay will represent Salem.

Windshar Named — Rudolph Windshar of McMinnville, brother of T. A. Windshar of this city, has been named president of the Oregon State Laundry Owners association. A. E. Weller of Salem was vice president last year and the only nominee for the new president but he declined to serve. Portland will be host to the 1934 convention; the current year's convention was held last weekend in The Dalles.

Many Sings Booked — The proposed tour of the Willamette university Philharmonic choir to the world's fair at Chicago has brought many requests for concerts by the choir along the route, according to Cameron Marshall, director, Boulder, Colo., has asked the choir to participate in Boulder chautauqua. Other cities which have asked the choir are Salina and Lawrence, Kan.; Kansas City, Mo.; Des Moines, Ia.; Springfield, Ill.

Time for Filing For Referendum Expiring June 8

The time for filing referendum petitions for the special election to be held July 21 expires June 8, state department officials have announced.

The only referendum petition thus far filed attacks the oleomargarine tax law enacted at the 1932 legislative session. Completed petitions for this referendum were filed last Friday.

Officials said that several other referendum measures probably would be submitted to the secretary of state before the time for filing expires.

Bird Tracks

Western Grosbeak

By LOWELL EDDY

As I strolled onto the campus the other day the spasmodic voices of a covey of grosbeaks welcomed me from the distance before I had an opportunity to be introduced to the happy fellows. And their cheery welcome was characteristic of their friendly, sociable attitude. The brilliant splash of white on their wings contrasted sharply with the black of their sides as the birds side-slipped to a ground. This side-slipping is a maneuver that the grosbeak always executes while landing.

Walking within a few feet of the feeding flock, I could not help thrilling at their brilliant coloring, and striking, thick, yellow bills. That bill would almost remind one of Schaefer's Durrant's prominent appendage if it were not for the serious job of seed-cracking that it has to perform. Unfortunately this bird does not nest with us in the valley but ascends into the high Cascades.

REASON BRUNK, 83, TO BE BURIED TODAY

Funeral services for Reason Brunk, 83, who died at a local hospital late Monday, will be held from the chapel of W. T. Rigdon & Son at 3 p. m. today with Rev. Guy L. Dril officiating. Interment will be in Burch cemetery, Polk county.

Mr. Brunk was born at Eola, Polk county, January 21, 1850, on the Brunk donation land claim, north of Richfield, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Brunk, having settled there the previous year. Mr. Brunk had been prominent in community affairs and one of the county's most successful farmers.

Surviving are his widow, Mary Timmons Brunk; three children, Clifford Brunk of Marshfield, Byron F. Brunk of Klamath Falls, and Mrs. Ethel Niles of Salem; two brothers, H. D. Brunk of Independence, and Thomas W. Brunk of Salem.

Lad Lassie of 'Army' Married

The Salvation Army hall here was the scene Sunday forenoon of a regulation army wedding at which Adjutant E. Parsons married Dave Beggs and Ruth Brant of Salem. The bride and groom both have lived in Salem several years and have been active "soldiers" in the Salvation Army. After the wedding, they left for Beaver town, where they were to visit relatives of Mrs. Beggs.

CHERRIANS TO TAKE PLACE IN BIG FAIR

Plans for Lebanon Event Call For Greatest Fete in 24 Years' Events

The strawberry fair to be held at Lebanon this year will be the largest and best in that community's history, according to word from the Lebanon city. The town is already taking on a holiday atmosphere for the two-day celebration which comes June 2 and 3.

A large number of entertainment features are planned for visitors including boxing bouts each day of the fair, a high school baseball tournament and a walkathon contest. Seven bands and two drum corps will be present, including the Lebanon and Corvallis corps and bands from Brownsville, Sweet Home, Crawfordville, Corvallis, Albany and Lebanon.

Cake to Feed 6500 — A strawberry shortcake — the largest in the world — will be cut the first day of the fair and will provide shortcake for 6500 persons.

LaVon Richardson of Lebanon is to be queen and her maids of honor will come from the various communities of Lebanon county. Queen LaVon will be crowned by King Bing Deckebach of the Cherrians of Salem.

Some novel exhibits have been arranged for this year. The North Pacific Nut Growers association will have a display, a new feature of the show. The Oregon State college experiment station will display irrigation projects and will explain diseases and their prevention as they effect strawberry plants. A stamp exhibit is planned while women of the Lebanon civic club hope to make their flower exhibit surpass that of any former year.

Speakers invited to the fair include Governor Julius L. Meier, Major-General William Willard Marks, Bert E. Haney and Carl Donagh.

WIDENING OF ROAD TO NORTH FIRST UP

Completion of the Brooks-Aurora and Aurora-New Era sections of Pacific highway improvement will be among the first projects finished from federal funds to be received next year, R. H. Baldock, state highway engineer, said yesterday. Baldock expects that at least $6,000,000 of federal aid will be available in 1933-1934. J. M. Devers, attorney for the highway commission, is working to obtain $6,750,000 if possible. Baldock said yesterday his plans were ready for immediate call for bids on several projects as soon as the federal aid bill passed congress. Programs laid out by Baldock range from $3,000,000 to $20,000,000 in extent. In addition he is prepared to handle the construction of five bridges on the Oregon Coast highway at a cost of $4,000,000 if congress provides funds.

LEGION HEAD MAY OPEN BALL MATCH

Tomorrow is the deadline on making reservations for the banquet to be given at the Marion hotel at 6:30 o'clock Saturday night in honor of Louis A. Johnson of Clarksburg, W. Va., national commander of the American Legion, according to Carl Gabrielson, banquet chairman. Arrangements have been made for seating 265 persons, with out-of-town guests given preference. Indications are increasing that many outside delegations will be here for the event.

Latest word is that Commander Johnson will arrive here at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, just in time to officiate at the opening of the American Legion Junior baseball season at which Salem and Woodburn teams will play on Olinger field. After the game, he will confer briefly with state department officers.

The banquet program includes introduction of state officers of the American Legion, auxiliary and 40 at 8 and all visiting post commanders and state officers. At 8 o'clock at the program in the armory, following a short street parade, Commander Johnson will deliver his official address. The evening will end with dancing at Crystal Gardens, sponsored by the Legion.

Henry Ford Dearborn, Mich.

May 22, 1933

I suppose that I may claim to be the first Ford Dealer. I not only made cars, but sold them and frequently delivered them myself.

The "drive away" is not new; often I have driven cars from Detroit to towns in Ohio or Indiana or Michigan to make delivery.

There were no good roads in those days, and the people where I drove had never seen a motor car before.

My first really enthusiastic customers were Country Doctors. They were the first to realize the value of dependable transportation to a widely scattered practice.

Even today I occasionally hear from some of those first Ford users.

We had to teach local mechanics how to care for the cars. That is how Ford Service began, which is now found everywhere in the world.

We believed from the beginning that a sale does not complete our transaction with our customer — it creates upon us an obligation to see that our customer's car gives him service. Ford Dealers know their duty to the public in this respect.

I can say of Ford Dealers generally that they have been and are men of character and standing in their communities. Most of them have been with us many years, which indicates that we agree on basic business principles. The Company provides that the methods used to sell the Ford car are consistent with the self-respect of the Dealers who handle it.

The present Ford V-8 is the peak of our 30 years experience.

We have never made a better car. Its eight-cylinder engine is powerful and smooth running. The car is admittedly very good looking and has comfortable riding qualities. It is economical in operation because of advanced engine design and low car weight. It is the fastest, roomiest and most powerful car we have ever built.

FUTURE FARMER TO VISIT WASHINGTON

Harold Schaad, Newberg, official representative from the Oregon Association of Future Farmers of America, left Portland Saturday night to attend the Future Farmers of America pilgrimage at Washington, D. C. June 12, 13 and 14. High school boys enrolled in vocational agriculture from the 48 states — the Hawaiian Islands and Porto Rico will attend.

A special exhibit of principal farm products in the state will be displayed with similar exhibits from other states. Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, and other prominent men will greet the Future Farmers.

While in Washington, these boys will have an opportunity to visit historical spots, government buildings, homes of famous Americans, and participate in ceremonies honoring Thomas Jefferson and George Washington, two of America's first scientific farmers. Harold will also visit the world's fair.
