MAULER CAN STILL TAKE IT

There's still a lot of wallop left in the Old Massa, Jack Dempsey, former champion of the world, who is shown in a spirited exhibition bout with Max Schmeling, also an ex-champ, at the latter's training camp at Swannanoa, N. J. Schmeling and Max Baer are to meet shortly under Dempsey's promotional banner.

LAW ALUMNI PLAN BANQUET SATURDAY

Anticipating the 50th anniversary of the Willamette university college of law which is to be celebrated next fall, alumni of the school will banquet here next Saturday night at the Masonic temple. Prominent judges, alumni of the school, as well as practicing attorneys, former deans of the school and other men who have participated in its growth, will be present at the banquet.

Among the guests of special honor will be Judge William M. Ramsey of McMinnville, first dean of the school when it was organized in 1883. Other deans will be Judge John W. Reynolds, Portland, Senator C. L. McNary, Attorney General I. H. Van Winkle and Roy R. Hewitt, the latter two of Salem. Roy Lockenour, present dean of the school, is in charge of arrangements for the banquet.

John F. Shields of Portland will be toastmaster. Graduates of the school who are now circuit judges will be speakers and will include James W. Crawford, Portland; L. G. Lewelling, Albany; George B. Simpson, Vancouver, Wash.; Arlie G. Walker, McMinnville.

HOMINESS OF DWELLING APPEALS

manager of the U. S. - Y. M. C. A. employment bureau, estimated yesterday.

The lists, however, are being thoroughly combed over to eliminate dead wood. Two employment and two Red Cross workers spent yesterday evening working over the list and will continue the task this morning. They are Dotson, Rex Ryan of the employment office, Gladys Scott of the county engineer's office and Tress Howard of the Red Cross.

Hominess appeals in this conventional exterior. The front porch stands with wide open arms and the kitchen chimney peeps above the roofline to spy the approaching guest. The wide front windows herald a cheerful living room. The white painted siding glimmers happily and flowering plants and shrubbery abound. It is left to the well proportioned fireplace chimney to lead a touch of dignity, which it accomplishes admirably. The floor plan calls for a large combination living and dining room, or the two may be separated, or the dining room may be made smaller, or all of the space may be used for the living room and the dining room made to accommodate diners. There are two large airy bedrooms downstairs, and two large rooms upstairs. Plenty of closet space throughout, large well equipped kitchen and large bathroom with standard appointments. Inquire about Plan No. 574, Universal House Plan Series, at The Statesman office.

2 MARKS ACCEPTED AS MEET RECORDS

PULLMAN, Wash., June 3. — (AP) — Two of four marks set at the northern division conference track and field meet here last Saturday were accepted as records by the records committee here today.

Warren DeMaris' javelin throw of 265 feet, 9 inches, was allowed as a new conference record along with the shot put mark of 49 feet, 7 3/4 inches set by Hal Dunker, Washington State college. DeMaris is a sophomore at the University of Oregon.

Because of a brisk wind, the marks of Paul Starr, Oregon sprinter, and Dan Bracken, University of Washington hurdler, were not accepted. Starr ran the 220-yard dash in 21 seconds flat, six tenths of a second better than the record set by Wesley Foster, Washington State, in 1928. Bracken ran the 220-yard hurdles in 23.2 seconds, equaling the conference record set by Steve Anderson, University of Washington, in 1929.

HOW DOES YOUR GARDEN GROW?

LOWER fashions like all other fashions, constantly change. I notice that eastern gardeners are no longer advocating the pink and blue gardens which were so popular years back. Do you remember how we were all to plant the Newport pink Sweet William, the Newport pink double hollyhock, the delicate perennial phloxes with ageratum, the sky blue delphinium celestium and the formosum? This year, we are told by gardeners, that the colorful old-fashioned garden is coming back. We must plant all of the rich colors of the Sweet Williams and the annual Phlox which resemble the old fashioned patch work quilt which is also again popular. We must plant the mauve and royal blue, the plum and violet shaded delphiniums. Two of the best known delphinium growers are right here on the Pacific coast so we should have no difficulty in securing delphiniums we desire.

Some one wrote not long ago asking in which could secure hollyhock plants at less than 20 cents a piece. I found a lovely place recently where hollyhock plants could be secured at 40 cents a dozen. The yellow hollyhocks as a background with blue delphiniums in front make a nice combination.

On Memorial day I visited gardens and found several lovely things in bloom—although everything is so far behind last Memorial day. Roses are just coming out. I found several Edwourd Herriots in bloom, the Constance is also out here and there I found a Red and a Pink Radiance in bloom and the Padre was well-flowered out. It is well to remember the roses that come into bloom early. We may have another late year, you know.

Walker Wins Club Tourney First Flight

Clark Walker defeated Ivan Merchant 8 and 5 in the first flight final match of the spring handicap tournament at the Salem Golf club Saturday.

A number of flight finals in the club tourney and also in the Elks' tournament are to be played today, but the championship flight final in the club contest must be delayed as Bob Taylor, scheduled to meet Walter Cline for the title, is one of several prominent Oregon golfers invited to participate in special matches on the Laurelwood course at Eugene today.

The Salem club team is keeping in condition preparatory to meeting Oregon City in a return match here next Sunday.

The major event today is the start of the qualifying round for the Bobby Jones handicap tournament. Not all of the details for this competition have been arranged, but qualifying scores will be accepted beginning today and the round is scheduled to close Saturday. All golfers, whether club members or not, are invited to participate.

Evangelist Will End Services at Tabernacle Here

The Evangelistic tabernacle was crowded to capacity Friday night as Evangelist R. D. E. Smith spoke on the subject: "The Last Great Earthquake." The lecture which was illustrated with slides views of the Long Beach, Cal., earthquake destruction.

The evangelist pointed out that most of the destruction was caused from faulty and poor construction and in a very able manner brought home the moral of making one's character honest and genuine. Some of the pictures illustrated incidents of pathos and heroism which took place in the stricken areas.

With the two services today at 3 and 7:45 p. m., the evangelist will close his campaign in this city. Rev. C. G. Weston is pastor at Evangelistic tabernacle which is located on Ferry street at 13th.

Relief Lists of County Remain At 1900 Figure

Sparkling Pool of Water Will Enhance Any Garden

A garden is not complete without water in some pronounced form. It may be a rippling brook, but rarely is such a boon available for the average city garden. A pool of any size too, is a luxury, but there are splendid possibilities in the medium sized pools which offer an accessible addition to most any garden.

Completed they look formidable to possess to the amateur gardener, but a little investigation will prove that to have one is quite possible. Easily available information may be had by addressing the Universal plan in care of The Statesman.
