Loaded for Baer

Schmeling

THE BLACK BROWED BOMBER-- GUNNING FOR MAX BAER!

SCHMELING IS NO IRON MAN-- IF BAER CLIPS HIM HE MAY GO DOWN--

THAT RIGHT HAND-- Moxie's best bet!

THAT dark-browed bomber from Berlin, Max Schmeling, on Thursday night at Yankee Stadium in New York, will enter the ring heavily favored to defeat Maxie Baer of California. In spite of all the attempts to ballyhoo the California playboy as being a devastating ring killer, eastern fight followers continue to be a bit leary of Baer. They can't forget the bum fights that he put up in New York a couple of years ago when he was licked by Loughran and Schaaf.

Of course, Baer has improved greatly since that time. When I saw him work out at Atlantic City within the last week he looked like a different fighter from the Baer of a year or two ago. He handles himself like a real boxer now, moving around with plenty of speed and even displaying some fancy footwork, dancing in and out just like the clever boys do.

There's no denying that the grinning giant from California has improved; but has he improved enough to best as good a heavyweight as Max Schmeling? Somehow, I don't think so. I like Baer personally, and I'd like to see him win Thursday night, but what I'm afraid of is that when he gets in there with the German he'll forget all the stuff they've taught him, and revert to the old, wild-swinging Baer we know so well.

Schmeling is a pretty fair boxer, and a rather cautious guy at that; so it isn't likely that Baer will tag him with many of those long, wild hooks. But if Baer remembers to shorten his punches, like they've been trying to teach him in his training workouts, he'll give the Teuton quite a rough trip.

Schmeling has looked about the same in his workouts for this fight as he looked in the past. The plodding Moxie never looks particularly hot in training. I've seen many a sparring partner cuff his ears off in a workout. But in a real fight with the small gloves it would be a different story, of course. The German looks to be in good shape—you can always count on a methodical guy

Luckies Please!

I like mine "Toasted"

I have my preferences. When it comes to cigarettes I like mine "Toasted". Not that I understand "Toasting", I simply enjoy what "Toasting" does! I like the fine quality of Luckies — their mellow-mildness. And their purity means a lot to me. For, after all, my cigarette and my lips come in such close personal contact. I've reached for a Lucky ever since I've reached smoking age, and if my womanly reasons count for anything, it's always "Luckies Please!"
