

ANTI-REPEAL MASS MEETING IS SUNDAY

'Pussyfoot' Johnson, Thomas Gales to Speak at First Methodist Church

A mass meeting of Salem citizens will be held Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock in the first Methodist church auditorium when William E. "Pussyfoot" Johnson and Thomas W. Gales, former state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league of North Dakota, will speak in opposition to repeal of the 18th amendment.

Gales will speak first, his topic being "Bring Up the Reserves." He comes to Salem as a man who has devoted the greater part of his life to a fight against the liquor evil. At first a detective engaged in liquor law prosecutions in Montreal, Canada, he later became a minister and then an anti-saloon worker in Wisconsin and North Dakota.

"Pussyfoot" Johnson has for years been internationally prominent in campaigns against liquor. He started his work as a federal investigator under President Theodore Roosevelt in Oklahoma territory. Years later he lost an eye when a hoodlum threw a rock at him in the streets in London. Admirers in that city raised a fund to pay him for his injury and the king sent a message of sympathy. Johnson thanked the king, sent the money to a hospital for the blind and declared that his remaining eye could see the world go dry.

Johnson is now on a nationwide tour, speaking against repeal. His meetings are under the

OREGON'S SHARE OF ROAD FUNDS RAISED

Recent amendments to the federal public works bill have increased Oregon's share of funds for highway construction to approximately $11,400,000. J. M. Devers, attorney for the state highway commission, telegraphed from Washington Thursday. The bill is now before the senate.

Devers declared in his telegram that Oregon would receive $7,000,000 for state highways, $4,000,000 for forest roads and about $400,000 for roads on public lands.

As a result of changes in the original bill Devers said the administrator would take no further action on the five coast highway bridges until it was approved. The state already has made application for a direct grant of 30 per cent and loan of 70 per cent for the construction of these bridges. The total cost was estimated at $3,400,000.
