

CITY MANAGER PLAN BROACHED

Popular Authorization for Two Federal Loans may Be on Ballot

ent assessments made and collected and the fiscal affairs of the city handled in orderly fashion.

The city manager plan sponsored by the mayor has many similarities to city manager forms of government now operating in other Oregon municipalities.

The two proposed charter amendments to make possible loans from the federal government authorize the city to borrow the money either on notes secured by the property to be built or on general obligation bonds, in the case of the sewage disposal plant the bonds running 40 years and in the municipal dock 25 years. A clause in the sewage disposal charter amendment would permit the city to assess a charge to each sewer connection for the upkeep of the sewage plant and to consolidate the operation of the sewage disposal plant with a city water plant, when and if the latter is acquired by Salem.

The application for R. F. C. funds to acquire and add to the present water system carries a provision that the purchase price for the plant here shall follow the latest engineers' estimate of worth, which approximates $695,000.

Alderman Hughes and Vandevort clashed over the proposed retention of J. G. Kelly, engineer, at $200 a month to secure data on the Marion lake water power project. Alderman Watson Townsend moved the action of the council last Monday, authorizing the hiring of Kelly by the utility committee, he rescinded. Hughes objected and said he resented implications by Vandevort that the committee was a "one-man" affair. Vandevort countered by saying that he was against Kelly's being hired but willing to abide by the wishes of the council. Townsend's motion lost when a majority of the councilmen present agreed to let the matter rest until the committee reported next Monday night.

settled definitely, but the committee agreed to accept the arrangements offered by Max Gehler, head of the state agriculture department, whereby the legion would dovetail its one-day celebration of the Fourth into the three-day rodeo program to be staged by Ed Wright, who put on a similar show at the 1932 state fair.

The legion will stage a free program of sports for the young people on the morning of the Fourth, and that night will offer a special attraction which is not ready to be announced, along with a fireworks display and a dance. Throughout the three days of the rodeo the legion will have charge of all concessions on the grounds.

The rodeo management will make its charge at the main gates of the fairgrounds on the first two days, but on the Fourth admission to the grounds will be free and the charge will be for the rodeo field only, and for some of the night attractions.

FISHER DISCUSSES SALES TAX POLICY
"The one and only purpose of the sales tax is to relieve the burden on real property," Earl L. Fisher of the state tax commission, told audience at the Women's Greater Oregon association meeting held at the chamber of commerce last night. "Local dependence on property taxes is headed for collapse," he declared. Stating that $80,000,000 will be needed for local government in the state the next two years, Fisher asserted that with property earnings reduced, it would be almost impossible for property to pay this tax. He pointed out that at present only 44 per cent of the tax due on the first-half of the 1932 tax rolls has been collected, and that 38 per cent of the 1931 property tax rolls was unpaid at the end of 1932.

If the sales tax law is voted in by the people at the special election July 21, it will go into effect immediately and remain in force until June 30, 1935. Fisher said it would raise an estimated $6,000,000.

TWO VESSELS HAUL FREIGHT ON RIVER
An upward surge in paper and wool shipments out of Salem has enabled Salem Navigation company to put both its river steamers, Northwestern and Stranger, into operation, on a boat-a-day schedule. Manager Arnold S. Johnson, reported yesterday. Until a week ago, only the Northwestern was making the Salem-Portland run.

High water is preventing top cargoes. The Stranger, which moved away from Portland with 150 tons of wool, paper products and miscellaneous goods Saturday,

Charities Asking For 'Pound' Gifts
An almost superhuman effort is being made by the Associated Charities to keep the unemployed men busy—those who come to the Charities for work. But there is not food enough to feed the men who want to work and so an old-fashioned "pound" party is being planned by Mrs. J. H. Ross, supervisor at the Charities. Any one having a pound of some sort of food stuff that he can spare is asked to bring or send it to the Charities. If any one has more, he does not need to stop with one pound, and the party is on right now. Send the donation any time and it will be accepted.

LOGGING OPERATION WILL BE RESUMED
DETROIT, June 12.—Preparations were made the last week for the operations of logging above Camp 17 on French creek. Crew of construction workers is coming up to clear the railroad track of trees and for repairs. They expect to be able to log in another two weeks or so. Fallers and buckers started to work Monday morning.
Heavy rains have slackened the progress of road work at Guthrie MacDougalls road camp at Pamela creek, 13 miles above Detroit. The main road has been in poor shape since the heavy rains which makes traveling back and forth to work quite uncomfortable.

HOT WATER AT LOW COST
now at constant as cold water
Cold Water on tap is a convenience you'd not think of doing without. Now you can also have hot water on tap 24 hours of the day! Because the Portland General Electric Company's new low water heating rate and "time controlled service" makes it possible for you to have a constant supply of hot water at a cost far lower than any other method delivering equal service! Moreover, this system is strictly automatic—you can literally forget that you have a water heating system in the house.
Installation prices are lower now than ever before, and you can buy on convenient terms. Ask what it will cost to install and maintain this new system in your home—the facts will surprise you! No obligation, just call at a Pepeco Electric Store or ask any electric dealer.
