Edith Mae Jenks Graduates With Honors

A Salem lass who has "made good" in the university world is Edith Mae Jenks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Jenks. Miss Jenks was graduated from the University of Washington Monday, receiving her bachelor of science degree. She majored in biology and was one of the few undergraduates elected this spring to Phi Sigma, national honorary fraternity in biologic research.

Mr. and Mrs. Jenks attended her commencement in Seattle Monday, returning home, while she went on to Wenatchee, where for several days she is the guest of her uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. Harry Winstanley. Mr. Jenks and son, Wynn, will drive to The Dalles on business next week and later to Wenatchee where they will meet Miss Jenks and return home together.

Miss Jenks was graduated from Salem high school in 1929. She attended Linfield college two years and has spent the last two years at the University of Washington.

Mrs. Walter Denton Presents Pupils

Piano students of Mrs. Walter Denton were presented in a pleasing and interesting recital Monday night at the home of Mrs. Milton Meyers.

Playing during the evening were Dan Fry III, Jackie Lachelle, David Smith, Jr., Emma Miller, Marylee Fry, Margaret Ewing, Doris Gutekunst, Helen Ostrin, Roy Ostrin, George Gutekunst, Margaret Clare, Martha Cox, Marjorie Knox, Merle Lange, and Antoinette Lambert.

Members of Salem Rebekah lodge will attend the meeting of the Silverton lodge as guests to-night and not the Mill City lodge as was previously announced through error.
